DEWEY'S DRIVE OPENS IN TALKS BY GOVERNORS

Green, Warren, and Baldwin on Air.

Gov. Dewey's campaign for the Presidency got under way last night with a speech in Chicago by Gov. Green of Illinois and with speeches by Gov. Warren of California in Sacramento and Gov. Baldwin of Connecticut in Bridgeport, all broadcast nationally.

The talks were the first in a series of broadcasts in which Republican governors will campaign for Dewey.

Gov. Green praised the Republican national convention as a free expression of the will and choice of Republicans of the nation and asserted the Democratic convention by contrast was dictated by the fourth term candidate whose orders were carried into execution by the bosses of the big city New Deal machines.

Hillman Group Assailed.

Gov. Warren warned that "Sidney Hillman and his committees" are planning "lavish and uncontroled campaign expenditures," and Gov. Baldwin asserted the political bosses have staked all they have to beat Dewey because with them "it's a matter of political life or political death."

Gov. Green said the issues of the campaign are illustrated by the organizations conducting it.

"The New Deal edicts from on high are being executed by the ruthless hands of corrupt political bosses," the Illinois governor asserted. "The Republican program drafted in consultation with the people is submitted to the voters thru the regularly constituted state and local Republican organizations. I leave it to your judgment: Which is the American way?"

Green said discussion of campaign issues should begin with a comparison of the national conventions of the two parties.

Cites Wallace "Spectacle."

"We in Chicago, where the conventions were held, will never forget them," he said. "Every detail of the proceedings which nominated the fourth term candidate was dictated by the New Deal high command.

"The sorriest spectacle of all came with the nomination of the New Deal candidate for Vice President when the delegates, who the night before had shouted in frenzy for Henry Wallace, obeyed the orders of Hannegan [Democratic National Chairman Robert Hannegan] and of Sidney Hillman and voted for Truman."

Green said the "amazing unity" of the Republican convention was demonstrated by the unanimous choice for Vice President of Gov. Dewey's rival for the Presidential nomination, Gov. Bricker.

Contrast in Campaigns.

"There is a similar contrast in the conduct of the campaigns as we have seen them thus far," he said. "The fourth term candidate will make his own issues in his occasional radio speeches by whatever name he may call them. Hannegan and Hillman and the rest of the bosses will raise the fund, organize the workers and carry out the orders."

Gov. Warren attacked the idea that Sidney Hillman and his groups represent the American workers for

Make Chicago Industry Kick in to CIO Fund

BY ROY GIBBONS.

Sidney Hillman's CIO political action committee has started to "crack down" on Chicago employers for contributions to the multimillion dollar campaign slush fund the committee is seeking to raise by assessments on the pay checks of America's workers to win a fourth term for President Roosevelt, it was learned yesterday.

The first attempt at obtaining such employer "donations" was made at a secret meeting held in the Palmer House Aug. 11.

The meeting, which was preceded by a luncheon of broiled chicken, was called by Sam Levin, Hillman's chief lieutenant in Chicago, who frankly admits giving the luncheon.

Insists Gifts Are Voluntary.

Levin said that none of the manufacturers had been "compelled" to contribute to the fund and that all the donations were "voluntary." The money was given to the National Citizens' Political Action committee, he pointed out, and not to the PAC, parent organization which is forbidden by law to solicit campaign funds from employers.

Levin, who is a member of the school board and manager of the Chicago joint board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America which Hillman leads as national president, made the reservations for the gathering and paid the luncheon bill.

He originally ordered places set for 16, but only 13 manufacturers showed up.

Eases His Guests' Minds.

Some of the "guests," wondering why they had been invited, began asking the purpose of the gathering.

To these Levin is reported to have said:

"Just to ease your minds, we are not going to ask for two weeks' vacation [a week's vacation with pay had just been negotiated] nor any increase in wages."

When the luncheon was finished, Levin is said to have taken the floor and in what one witness characterized as a "halting and trembling manner that was half apologetic," described himself to be "an amateur" at what he was about to "ask and do."

For "That Far-Sighted Man."

"We want to keep that far-sighted man in the White House, and we need your help," Levin is reported to have said.

The amount of the contribution each manufacturer then was asked to give, Levin is reported to have said he would leave to the "honor" of the giver.

Two contributions of $500 each are said to have been pledged by two manufacturers who insisted on a roll call. Some pledged $300 and several pledged $200, it is said. But when one of the "guests" said he would give $100, Levin is reported to have said:

Demands Payment Next Day.

Levin is said to have told the manufacturers that he wanted to get the money as soon as possible and urged them to have it in his hands so he could take it to CIO headquarters in New York the next day.

Some of the manufacturers are reported to have talked among themselves later and agreed Levin had "cracked down" on them.

The "paying guests" who objected are said to have asserted they "kicked in" to the fund to avoid possible reprisal at the hands of the CIO, which controls most of the workers in the garment industry here.

BAG GERMAN JET PLANE; FIND IT'S PROPELLERLESS

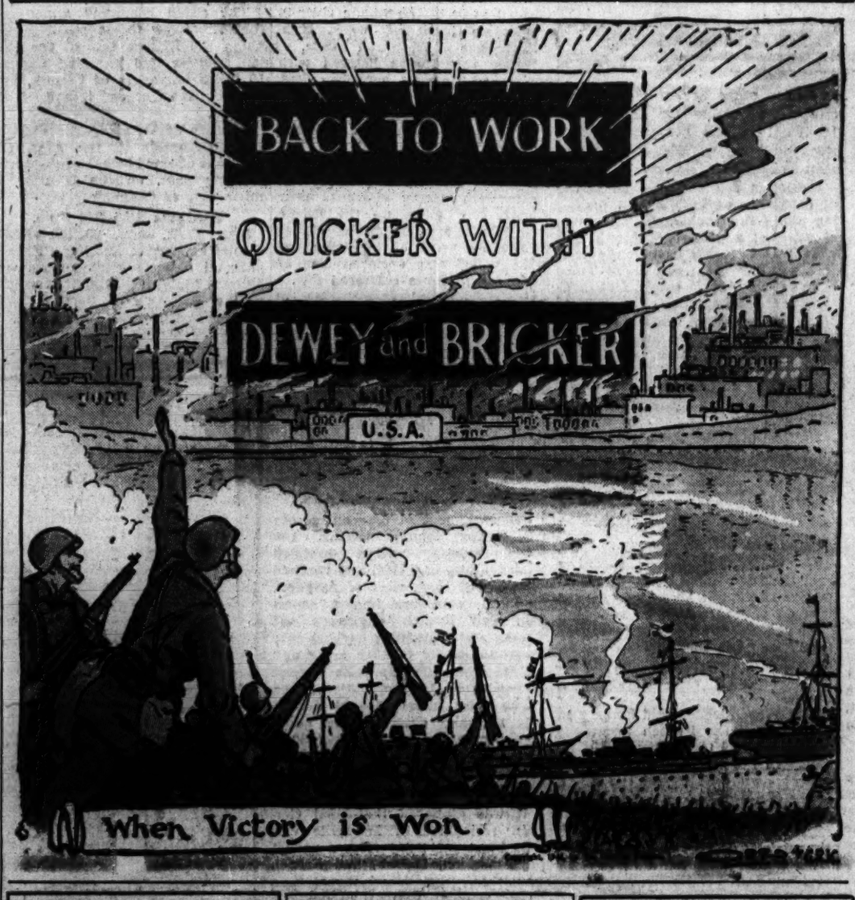
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 29. — The new German fighter, the jet propelled twin engine Messerschmitt 262, has no propellers, it was learned tonight after one had been shot down by Maj. J. Myers and Lt. M. O. Cory, American Thunderbolt pilots.

The ME-262 is powered by two jet engines and is described as very fast on level flight and, particularly, at high altitudes. The lack of propellers enables it to use a short undercarriage and be fully streamlined.

One suggestion here was that the new jet plane is intended primarily as a weapon against high flying Fortresses.

A SLOGAN TO CHEER THEIR RETURN



AURORA BOY, 12, IS FOUND HANGED AFTER MOTHER SPANKS HIM

Spanked by his mother for taking 20 cents from a box of change on her dresser, Raymond Limpack, 12, of 411 Mountain st., Aurora, was found dead in the basement of his home half an hour later yesterday, a clothes line looped several times about his neck.

His mother, Mrs. Susan Limpack, told a coroner's jury later in the morning that Raymond did not appear particularly depressed after the spanking.

The body was discovered by the boy's cousin, Richard Keup, 10, of 751 N. Root st., Aurora, who appeared at the Limpack home shortly afterward to play with Raymond.

The coroner's jury decided that death resulted from strangulation, but was unable to determine whether strangulation was accidental or deliberate.

FOUR POISONED BY COFFEE LEFT BY GUN SUICIDE

Four persons, including his wife and two sons, were made ill by poisoned coffee that Charles W. Gitersonke, 46, a Peotone grocer left in his home in the Will county village before he shot himself to death early Sunday, it was learned yesterday.

Analysis of the coffee, made in the coroner's office here yesterday, showed that it contained enough poison "to kill 50 persons," Dr. William D. McNally, coroner's toxicologist, reported.

The victims became ill on Sunday, but responded to treatment. They are Gitersonke's wife, Anna, his sons, Warren, 15, and Joseph, 13, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Edward Gitersonke, of Homewood.

Mrs. Anna Gitersonke said that her husband had been ill and had brooded for several months. He shot himself twice with a shotgun outside his home early Sunday.

Yanks Salute Memorials of '18; Speed On

CHATEAU-THIERRY, France, Aug. 29 (AP).—American troops fighting over the rolling green battlefields where doughboys and marines immortalized themselves in 1918, occupied Chateau-Thierry and Belleau Wood in a smash which swept across the valley of the Marne to the approaches of Reims today.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's forces encountered only minor resistance from the Germans.

Belleau Wood, scene of heavy fighting in the decisive battles in the summer of 1918, is five miles northwest of Chateau-Thierry.

The magnificent 24 columned American Aisne-Marne memorial overlooking Chateau-Thierry and the American cemetery at Belleau Wood have not been molested by the Germans. Their grounds have been beautifully kept up thruout the war by French caretakers. There are nine fresh graves. There lie American prisoners of war killed during the strafing of a train on which they were being taken to Germany.

Shaft Wrecked in 1940.

In the town of Chateau-Thierry the twin-columned monument to the United States 3d division had been wrecked in fighting between the Germans and French in 1940.

The stone memorial church in Chateau-Thierry built with American funds had been hit but damage was slight. A shell struck the tower just above the front entrance during fighting in the town square yesterday.

Residents said the 3d division statue which stood on the west bank of the Marne was damaged first when a nearby bridge was blown up in 1940 and then by crossfire of French and German antitank guns.

The pyramid-shaped column nearest the river had been toppled and great chunks blasted from the other column.

"Even after it was wrecked we placed flowers there on your day of independence and every Nov. 11," a Frenchwoman said. "The Germans took them away as fast as we placed them there and we kept putting them back."

Troops Salute Smartly.

There was a big bunch of pink gladioli and purple peonies at the statue today, and our troops streaming toward Reims saluted smartly as they passed.

Approaching Chateau-Thierry, these lads rolled thru a country still interlaced with trenches where another generation of Americans fought and turned the tide of battle in World War I. The trenches and deeply cut gun emplacements are now overgrown with weeds and brush.

The trenches in which doughboys and poilus died by the thousands in the first World war served to emphasize the contrast between the fighting then and now. Today there are only a few foxholes dug along the way by the troops who came in behind the armor for the cleanup.

The sluggish Marne and its banks are overgrown with bullrushes and it is not the barrier it was in centuries past. Our columns easily negotiated its narrow banks.

MYSTERIOUS BLAST ROCKS SOUTHEAST COAST OF BRITAIN

FOLKESTONE, England, Aug. 30 [Wednesday]—(AP).—This southeast coast town shook and the earth rumbled for several seconds just before midnight last night. Speculation immediately ranged from a prosaic demolition of a munitions dump in France to the possibility that the Germans were testing their long threatened "vengeance weapon No. 2."

Various reports said the shock rocked the whole southeast coast and was the heaviest felt during the war.

People of Folkestone, who are used to such noises as air bombings, shelling, and mine explosions at sea, said the sound seemed different and appeared to originate a long distance away. There was no blast and no one reported seeing any flash of light. Visibility over the channel was not especially good.

REPORT HITLER SHIFTS TROOPS ON BALKAN LINE

Axis Army Occupies Puppet Slovakia.

LONDON, Aug. 29 (AP).—The Hungarian government of pro-Nazi Doeme Sztojay fell today amid reports that Nazi troops were withdrawing from Bulgaria to bolster the Hungarian frontier defenses against the approaching Red army.

Regent Adm. Nicholas Horthy accepted the resignation of Sztojay's cabinet and appointed Col. Gen. Vitez Geza Lakatos as new premier, according to the German news agency, Trans-Ocean.

Regent Adm. Horthy.

At the same time Hitler troops occupied Slovakia, a puppet country, because of recent parachutist and guerrilla activity there. Occupation of Nazi-created Slovakia was disclosed in a broadcast by Gen. Ferdinand Catlos, commander of Slovakia's forces. The nation had been under martial law since Aug. 12.

Red Notice to Bulgaria.

Officially denying reports that it had accepted Bulgaria's declaration of neutrality Moscow served notice that Sofia must surrender to and take terms from the United States and Britain—with whom she is at war.

"Soviet leading circles consider the neutrality proclaimed by the Bulgarian government entirely insufficient," a Moscow foreign office statement said.

"Moscow is getting into line with us and notifying Bulgaria to make terms with us," said a British spokesman.

[A dispatch from Cairo last night said four Bulgarian plenipotentiaries empowered to sign an armistice with the allies are expected in Cairo today. This report said the armistice terms will order that Bulgaria disarm all Nazis in her territory, help the allies in the war, and evacuate Greek and Yugoslav territories she took after the German conquest of the Balkans.]

Give Up Seized Lands.

The Bulgarian radio said Bulgar troops were being withdrawn from seized occupied territories.

With the Red army only 29 miles from the Bulgarian border, German and Russian reports said Nazi soldiers were being evacuated from Bulgaria and massed against the Russians, who already have crossed the Carpathian frontier of Hungarian Transylvania.

Qualified observers in London saw the Hungarian reshuffle as producing a Hungarian "Mannerheim" cabinet, studded with generals and strong men.

Nazi "Bribes" to Hungary.

The Sztojay cabinet was formed in March after the Germans formally occupied Hungary. Sztojay had been minister to Berlin. Immediately after his government was formed the Germans poured in additional troops.

Before the March occupation Hungary had been bribed with slices of Ruthenia and Yugoslavia and the province of Transylvania, taken from Romania by the Nazis' Vienna award of 1940.

The British radio reported Romanian representatives were expected to go to Moscow "shortly" to sign a formal armistice with the soviet.

Peace Move by Finns Seen.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 29 (AP).—The impression grew in Stockholm today that Baron Carl Gustav Mannerheim, president of Finland, was about ready to take up direct contact with Russia for an armistice. His government sent a message yesterday to Moscow. The message was regarded as certainly dealing with the peace question.

Finland's peace envoy to Russia, Juho Paasikivi, was called back to Helsinki yesterday from a vacation. There were reliable reports that he was asked to return to the capital for appointment as a cabinet member without portfolio, which would give him a better status if sent on a peace mission to Moscow.

HINTS FOE WILL QUIT IF ALLIES RELAX DEMANDS

LONDON, Aug. 29 (AP).—In a gloomy review of the Nazi war picture, Lt. Gen. Kurt Dittmar implied tonight that Germany would be willing to cease fighting if the allies would relax their war aim. He addressed the German people by radio.

The high command propagandist acknowledged German reverses in France and deplored developments in Romania, but said that nevertheless Germany "has to continue as long as our enemies stick to their war aims," and "as long as reason and better understanding have not replaced this determination" to destroy Germany.

Allied Superiority Succeeds.

"If this determination did not exist," he said, "if the world we face had been ready, honestly, to recognize the living rights of a great, capable, and hard working nation, no reason could have been seen why this misery had to fill the world once more for half a decade, and will continue to fill it."

Drawing a parallel between allied successes in 1944 and the German victories of 1940, Dittmar said that "equipment led to success—and the numerical superiority is today on the enemy side."

Praises German Army.

He added, however, that "it is high praise of the individual German fighter and of the German leadership, if we note that—and this distinguishes it from the much shorter period of fighting in 1940—the British and Americans are still on a bloody and tiresome road, whose end cannot be gauged yet."

Dittmar said it is now a "question of self-preservation or annihilation," adding, "In two months we have lost a considerable proportion of the fruits we harvested earlier and thought we could hold for good as a foundation for our economic and military position."

[Berlin denied officially yesterday that the Balkan crackup had moved the Nazis to efforts to get an armistice.]

Yanks March to Cheers of Paris Crowds

PARIS, France, Aug. 29 (AP).—Past the Arc de Triomphe and down thru the avenues where their fathers had walked a generation ago, the men of a great American infantry division marched today.

This was Paris' first real commemoration of her new freedom. There were cheers and laughter, but it was a solemn moment when Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley and Lt. Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig laid a wreath on the tomb of France's unknown soldier of World War I.

Hundreds of thousands of persons stood along the line of march down the Champs Elysees, the Place Vendome, at the Obelisk, Place de la Concord, and in the Rue de Rivoli.

At the Obelisk, Gen. Bradley, Gen. Charles de Gaulle, Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery, and Brig. Gen. Jacques Leclerc reviewed the great parade.

Armored Cars Are First.

First came armored cars, four abreast, and then long files of foot soldiers marching with the beat of the drums.

It was a gray day with rain and just enough breeze to faintly ruffle the American, French, and British flags which hung in massed thousands.

Along the line of march were mingled and mixed cries and shouts —everything from "God bless you" to "any gum Yank?"

But Paris is not in such a riotous mood as yesterday.

For this was not a march along Fifth avenue by soldiers finished with battle. This division marched in battle array. It marched thru Paris toward another rendezvous with action—out of this city and back into the line of attack.

Strange Panorama.

It was a strange panorama. Here a girl with a curse, threw a picture of Hitler underneath our armored cars, and there a bearded priest stood solemnly with uplifted hands, not bothering to brush away tears that moved down his cheeks.

The music itself was a medley of all that is familiar in the allied world—the Marseillaise, Star Spangled Banner, God Save the King, Dixie—and Marching Thru Georgia.

U. S. ARMY WINS BELLEAU WOOD AND SOISSONS

Belgians Urged to Seize Arms.

(Maps on back page.)

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE Aug. 30 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The Germans in northern France were in headlong flight today before American armored columns that roared into Soissons, only 55 miles from Belgium, and clattered past the vine yards of Champagne to Chalons, within 96 miles of the German border.

The United States 3d army, in a dash of more than 25 miles across American battlefields of the first World war, had captured Chateau-Thierry and Belleau Wood and was driving on northward toward the forest of Ardennes.

Peril Nazi Flank.

The Americans dislocated any German plans for a stand along the Aisne river and threatened the entire German flank as well as the most feasible route for withdrawal of the Nazi 15th army that guards the flying bomb sites of the Pas de Calais coast.

The British 2d army was thrusting to those secret weapon bases with the motto "one more kilometer, one less bomb." The westernmost British elements had driven to Entrapagny, 18 miles beyond their original Seine river bridgehead at Vernon.

As the allies neared Belgium patriots in that occupied country got a preliminary call to arms from the independence front. All able bodied patriots were ordered to join the resistance army, to steal arms from the Germans and to prepare for an all-out battle for liberation.

Meet Minor Resistance.

Covering miles for each bloody yard their fathers won in 1918, the Americans under Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., encountered only minor resistance.

Northeast of Paris United States troops drove to the approaches of the World war siege city of Rheims.

East of the capital they were, by German account, fighting in the streets of Chalons.

Further Gains Across Marne.

Supreme headquarters had no confirmation at midnight of a report that either Chalons or Vitry to the south had been completely occupied, but Gen. Patton's men were disclosed to have made further gains across the Marne just below Chalons.

Latest reports reaching the supreme command said the easternmost of Patton's operations had carried units of his 3d army four miles and six miles southeast of Chalons to Lepine and Marson, respectively.

Well to the south still another column made a farther eastern advance from Troyes about 15 miles to Piney, on the route to the River Aube.

In taking Soissons the Americans reached the south bank of the Aisne river and promised momentarily to break across the Aisne-Somme line. The Americans also were on the south bank of the Aisne at Fismes, 16 miles east of Soissons. Belleau Wood is five miles northwest of Chateau-Thierry.

Reverse of 1940 Invasion.

This spectacular thrust toward the Ardennes forest and Sedan was putting in reverse invasion marches which the Germans made southward in 1870, in 1914, and in 1940.

The 25 mile drive which Patton's men made northward from Chateau-Thierry to Soissons in one day seemed almost miraculous compared with the French drive which captured the town in the great second battle of the Marne in 1918. Then the French required from July 18 to Aug. 2—16 days—to move into Soissons from their nearest positions just three miles to the west.

Memorial to U. S. Marines.

Belleau Wood is a permanent memorial to American marines and infantrymen who died there in June of 1918.

North of a line from Dieppe to Sedan—where the Germans made their first massive breakthru in 1940 and for which Gen. Patton may now be striking—United States 8th

There were signs that American, Canadian, and British troops were now ready to strike out beyond the Seine northwest of Paris in an effort to conquer the defenders of the flying bomb sites along the channel.

Two British armored columns broke out of the Seine bridgehead at Vernon soon after daybreak, one driving forward 12 miles to Etre Pagny and Hacqueville and the other punching five miles forward to Bray-et-Lu on the Epte river. The first column reached the Paris-Rouen road, 14 miles beyond the river. The British have encountered a German armored division from Norway.

Two Bridgeheads Joined.

Simultaneously two British bridgeheads across the Seine east of Louviers and at Vernon were so enlarged that they were virtually joined together and in effect became a single bridgehead.

The bridgehead east of Louviers was almost doubled in size during the day with the capture of Orgeville and Acouis, and forward elements struck to the southeast and entered the river town of Les Andeleys tonight.

The American and British bridgeheads below Paris have been consolidated into one huge reservoir of men and material extending some 30 miles along the north bank of the Seine and already thrusting forward 11 miles to a point just north of the Paris-Rouen highway.

Canadians advancing from their Pont de l'Arche-Elbeuf holdings sent advance elements into Ingelemare, a hamlet on the east bank of the Seine only three miles south of Rouen.

West from Elbeuf, the Canadians, Dutch, and Belgians penned the Germans remaining below the Seine finally and conclusively into three deep loops of the river.

"Fighting to Free Homes."

WITH BRITISH TROOPS EAST OF THE SEINE, Aug. 29 (AP).—A British general issued a special order of the day to his troops today saying that the drive to wipe out the German flying bomb bases in northern France was about to start and "for the first time in this war we are fighting directly to free our homes, our wives, and our children from German attacks."

The drive eastward across the Seine got off to a whirlwind start. Hundreds of British tanks, driving thru a pelting rainstorm, crashed thru flimsy German defenses for many miles, despite muddy roads.

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

Tuesday's German war bulletin as broadcast by Berlin and recorded in New York by the Associated Press said:

"On the lower Seine, the bulk of our troops has been withdrawn to the northern bank. The enemy, who tried to follow in our wake, was checked by defensive fire. Enemy thrusts from bridgeheads northwest of Paris were brought to a standstill.

"Our fortified points in Paris, after heavy fighting lasting for days, have succumbed to enemy superiority. East of Paris the enemy on a wide front has now turned toward the north in order to drive a wedge into our southern flanks thru Chalons and Chateau-Thierry. On the Marne heavy fighting has connected with enemy vanguards."

BATTERED NAZIS FLEE AS YANKS DRIVE UP RHONE

Thousands Captured in South France Rout.

ROME, Aug. 29 (AP).—The battle for southern France and destruction of the German 19th army neared completion tonight as thousands of Nazis trudged to allied prison camps and disorganized enemy remnants fled up the Rhone valley, scattering equipment behind them.

Most of the army to which Adolf Hitler entrusted the defense of southern France has been wiped out in a fortnight's whirlwind campaign by Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's American and French 7th army.

Planes Rip Fleeing Foe.

American troops slashed relentlessly at the fleeing enemy above Montelimar in the Rhone valley, 100 miles north of Marseille, where a flying Yank column reached the eastern bank of the Rhone river in a surprise thrust last week. Montelimar was in American hands.

Valley roads were littered with abandoned German vehicles, guns, and supplies. The few vehicles still in use by the shattered Nazi columns were under almost constant allied aerial attack.

Allied headquarters said American tanks and infantry were locked in battle with enemy elements near Sauzet, four miles up the Rhone from Montelimar. From Montelimar to the sea west of Marseille the great valley was declared free of Nazis except for a scattered few.

[A German broadcast told of "fierce fighting" between Montelimar and Valence, 27 miles to the north, but said Nazi forces were withdrawing "in accordance with plan." The enemy radio confirmed that American troops under Brig. Gen. Frederic Butler had driven north from Grenoble to the Swiss border near Annemasse, five miles east of Geneva.]

French Gain Toward Spain.

French troops, fanning out across the lower Rhone toward the French-Spanish border, occupied Nimes, a city of 93,758, and reached the area of Uzes, west of Avignon. Civilian volunteers helped American and French engineers get Toulon and Marseilles harbors into shape to supply the 7th army and handle emergency supplies urgently needed by the population.

Ships Help Win Marseille.

It was disclosed that final German resistance in Marseille was wiped out yesterday after a powerful American, British, and French naval force slammed more than 2,700 rounds into the hold-out Nazis.

Some 7,000 enemy troops surrendered and were sent to allied stockades.

The allied command announced that American forces pushing east along the Riviera toward the Italian frontier had occupied Cagnes, 10 miles northeast of Cannes, and Vence, five miles inland from Cagnes.

Farther north, along the French-Italian frontier in the Alps, the Germans claimed to have recaptured Modane pass, on the frontier 50 miles east of Grenoble.

Bordeaux Still Not Free.

New York, Aug. 29 (AP).—Radio France at Algiers, quoting a French national defense headquarters war bulletin tonight, said announcement of the liberation of Bordeaux had been premature and "vanguards of the allied armies do not appear to have reached the region as yet."

POLISH FORCES PUSH NEAR GOTHIC LINE; SEIZE MORE TOWNS

ROME, Aug. 29 (AP).—Polish forces driving up the Adriatic coast of Italy have captured the village of Fano, six miles from Pesaro, and are pushing forward within three miles of the Germans Gothic line outposts in that sector, allied headquarters announced today.

An allied war bulletin said 8th army units near the Adriatic had driven the Germans north of the Azzilla river and occupied high ground above Monte Ciccardo. Farther inland the Poles were reported enveloping the town of Urbino. Rufina, 10 miles east and slightly north of Florence, was evacuated by the Nazis.

Forward defenses of the Gothic line were believed to be anchored at Pesaro, 19 miles down the Adriatic coast from the important port of Rimini. Thence they apparently follow a lateral road inland to the 1,000 foot peak of Monte Calvo, six miles due north of Urbino and 17 miles south of Rimini.

GEN. DE GAULLE BEGINS WORK ON FRENCH REGIME

Paris Is Getting Back to Normal.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, France, Aug. 29.—Gen. Charles de Gaulle was going about the business of establishing a government in Paris today. Ministers are taking over their functions and the wheels of a provisional government, established in Algiers, are beginning to turn.

The city was turned over yesterday to Lt. Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, commander of the French Forces of the Interior, by a corps commander of the United States 1st army. Koenig now is responsible for the city's security. An American unit also is here and prepared to act.

Meanwhile, the Paris press is publishing morning and evening papers and the first non-French paper has appeared, a small one page European edition of the London Daily Mail. Each political faction has its own paper and expounds its own views within a general framework of unity. De Gaulle's picture has appeared in most papers.

French Still Skeptical.

But the attitude of many Frenchmen, always somewhat skeptical and now doubly so since four years of conflicting propaganda, is one of caution.

To them De Gaulle has been only a radio voice. They prefer to watch and wait and see which way the political straws of government blow.

Paris is beginning to settle into what it considers normal war time life. City life, except for the districts involved, has been relatively untouched by the German air raid the night before last, which it was announced had killed 110 and wounded 719 civilians. Le Bourget air field, where Charles Lindbergh ended his trans-Atlantic solo flight, and Montmorency suburb have been cleared of Germans.

Bicycles Fill Streets.

Streets are alive with bustling traffic, but it is a traffic which pre-war visitors would not recognize. Once you identified Paris with the mad cacaphony of its thousands of taxicab horns as drivers raced at breakneck speed thru the streets, heedless of pedestrians or each other.

But today the only taxicabs here are a few ancient horse drawn Victorias or other hacks. Every one else either walks—for the metro [subway] is still not working—or rides on bicycles. Never have we seen so many bicycles.

Here you see the unusual sight of battalions of bike riders, pedaling along the boulevards, stopping at once as a policeman blows his whistle to let other battalions cross.

Every one rides. Business men have their brief cases strapped across the mudguards like saddle bags. Women carry market baskets and babies. Others have pocketbooks slung over their shoulders. Sometimes you see a "bicycle built for two," or a home made two-place cablike affair with the wife operating the pedals.

In the midst of these thousands of bicycles the appearance of an automobile is cause for every head to turn. Paris now, too, is getting used to the sight of American jeeps.

De Gaulle Hails Fighters.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Gen. Charles De Gaulle, speaking over the Paris radio, told the French people last night that their nation was on the threshold of rejoining "the ranks of the greatest," and was aware of "the necessity to act in such a way that the enemy will be completely and irretrievably beaten."

The French leader paid homage to members of the French resistance movement and to Parisians who, he said, "in the secret depths of their souls have never accepted the humiliation of defeat."

He paid tribute to "all those whose services have contributed to the victory of Paris."

NAVY DISCLOSES HUGE INCREASE IN AIR STRENGTH

Foresees Devastating Blows at Japs.

Vice Adm. A.W. Fitch.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—The navy, reviewing the thumpings handed to both ends of the axis in the last 12 months, declared today "these blows were light compared with the blows we are now prepared to deliver."

Commenting on progress of the navy's air arm, which marks its 31st anniversary tomorrow, Vice Adm. Aubrey W. Fitch, deputy chief of naval operations for air, said in a statement:

Task force 58, which scourged the Jap so effectively in the last eight months, was just a sweet, summer zephyr compared to the arrangements of ships, planes, and other weapons—old and new—which are ready to lash out now."

Air Arm Multiplied.

He disclosed that the navy now has approximately 100 carriers "in or near action." Included are 14 of the mighty Essex type and nine of the fast and powerful Independence class, converted from cruisers. More than 70 carriers were commissioned during the year and work was started on two of the three projected 45,000 ton battleship type carriers.

With 47,000 navy and marine corps pilots, 34,000 planes and 231 aviation shore facilities, the navy has multiplied its air arm sevenfold since Pearl Harbor.

Beat Japs by 4-1 Margin.

Naval aviators averaged more than four Japanese planes shot down for every American plane lost during the year, Fitch said. The score was more than 2,300 Japanese craft destroyed against 560 navy planes lost. He added "a high percentage of our pilots were rescued.

Fitch gave the new Essex class carriers the major credit for advances against the enemy in the Pacific last year.

"They made possible the by-passing tactics which have placed us so close to Japan," he said. "They covered Gen. MacArthur's advance to Hollandia. Without them we would still be inching along. We would probably still be in the Marshalls."

GUAM DESTINED TO BECOME NEW MIGHTY U.S. BASE

GUAM, Aug. 17 [Delayed]—(AP).—Guam is destined to become a miniature Pearl Harbor from which the winning blow against Japan can be struck, Marine Maj. Gen. Henry L. Larson said today. He is in command of the island's defenses and development.

Guam will be everything that "an important base" implies, he said, and emphasized the project would be one of the major engineering developments of the Pacific war.

"This base, said Larson, "is important offensively to launch the action which is going to win the war; defensively because here rests the installations promoting the security even of the United States. With these islands in our hands we will be in position to insure peace afterwards."

Nazis Reported Moving from Warsaw Suburb

LONDON, Aug. 29 (AP).—The Polish press bureau today said the Germans were removing troops, tanks, and guns from Praga, eastern suburb of besieged Warsaw, to the west bank of the Vistula river which flows thru the capital. Gen. Bor, commander of the Polish patriot army fighting in Warsaw, was reported as radioing that in a fire at Holy Cross church "the urn containing the hand of [the great composer] Chopin was burned and lost."

JAPS' MOLUCCAS BASE SET AFIRE IN 188 TON RAID

Bombers Rip Ambon; Palau Also Hit.

GENERAL HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 30 [Wednesday]—(AP).—A record heavy bombing raid in the Moluccas, in which 188 tons hit Ambon on Monday, was reported today by Gen. MacArthur.

Pound Five Island Groups.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Aug. 29 (AP).—Japanese positions in five widely separated island groups were pounded by American warplanes in week-end raids. These stabs into the enemy's island empire, announced today, were opposed only by meager to moderate anti-aircraft fire.

The raids by island groups were:

Kuriles, north of Japan—11th army air force Liberators bombed Paramushiro on Saturday, starting fires.

Volcanos, 750 miles south of Tokyo—7th A. A. F. Liberators smacked the air field on Iwo Island on Sunday, following a night foray by one Liberator.

Attack in Marianas.

Marianas, next in the island chain below Japan—Pagan Island was raided twice Snnday and Alamagan once. Buildings and gun emplacements were the principal targets.

[The Tokyo radio said today that allied planes had bombed the Shanghai area Tuesday night, but quoted a Japanese bulletin as saying the raid caused "absolutely no damage."]

AURORAN FEIGNS DEATH 12 HOURS TO ESCAPE NAZIS

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, France, Aug. 28 [Delayed].—A former city clerk of Aurora, Ill., is back in action after being trapped behind German lines. His escape was accomplished only after lying in a ditch for 12 hours pretending he was dead while German soldiers walked past.

Lt. Fredrickson.

He is Lt. Quintus Fredrickson, 35, attached to an artillery outfit. Fredrickson was on reconnaissance when his party was split up. He lost his jeep driver under fire and found himself well behind enemy lines. His principal food was berries. After hiding in the ditch he spent five hours crawling slowly across an open field, at one point being so close to a German sniper he heard a twig snap as the latter changed position.

Almost Surrendered.

Fredrickson told his story to Sgt. Charles McCune, formerly of the Des Moines, Ia., Register-Tribune, from whom this correspondent got it. Fredrickson was so weary at times that he almost surrendered, but he kept telling himself that since he had gone so far he might as well go a little farther.

At last, after being under American artillery fire, which was so close that one dud shell landed almost on him, he found himself in No Man's land and met another reconnaissance party.

Fredrickson told McCune that he had a feeling "somebody from above was helping me," otherwise he never would have made it.

Meets Former Chicagoan.

Tonight I also met a former Chicagoan, Mrs. Dorothy Bergé, whose husband, Marcel, is a theatrical producer here. Mrs. Bergé is the daughter of Mrs. Rose Bender, 825 Sunnyside av., Chicago.

Mrs. Bergé has two sisters who teach in the Fine Arts building in Chicago, and also a brother, William Bender, who is a physician. The Bergés have two young daughters—Francine Genevieve and Colette Lucille—both of whom I saw. They are in excellent health, but Francine was extremely puzzled over how to deal with the first piece of chewing gum she had ever seen.

167 JAP SHIPS SUNK IN MONTH; 192 OTHERS HIT

GENERAL HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 29 (AP).—Allied air and naval action is dealing Japanese shipping a mortal blow from the far north to the southwest Pacific.

Official bulletins issued here and at Pearl Harbor have reported 167 enemy vessels sunk and 192 damaged this month. [The totals do not include 32 merchant ships and 14 combat vessels sunk in the Pacific by United States submarines.]

The 167 vessels sunk include 11 combat ships and 156 merchant craft. Of the 192 damaged, eight were combat vessels.

Most of the shipping destruction has been in the southwest Pacific, where Gen. MacArthur today reported 11 vessels destroyed or damaged in aerial strikes south of the Philippines.

FEAR HITLER AND HENCHMEN MAY FLY TO SAFETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP). Military leaders here are becoming apprehensive over the possibility that Adolph Hitler and some henchmen may fly from their battered inner fortress in the next few weeks and seek refuge in a neutral country.

A new appeal may be issued to the neutrals not to give sanctuary to them. Such an appeal would be directed particularly to Spain and Argentina.

American officials consider it certain that many of the Nazi hierarchy who cannot hide out in Germany will try to save themselves from allied trial and punishment by dramatic plane escapes.

Tribute to Poland Day Proclaimed by Mayor

Sept. 1, the fifth anniversary of the invasion of Poland by Germany, was proclaimed Tribute to Poland day in Chicago yesterday by Mayor Kelly. He requested the people of the city to recall the gallantry of Poland in combating the Germans with an underground movement that has tied down 20 Nazi army divisions.

Brazil Will Ration Meat for 2 Millions Sept. 16

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Aug. 29 (AP).—Meat rationing will start Sept. 16 for the 2,000,000 inhabitants of Rio de Janeiro and the Brazilian federal district. Families of two probably will be allowed a half pound of meat daily. Use of milk for ice cream, candy, and restaurant desserts will be banned for two months starting Friday. Meat and milk shortages have become acute.

Polish Dispite Believed Peril to Anglo-Russian Relations

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Anglo-soviet relations are being imperiled by developments in the fight for Warsaw, according to statements published here tonight. Russia's refusal to allow her bases to be used by British or American planes to supply the Polish underground forces in Warsaw is causing fear among diplomatic observers of a breach between the western and eastern allies.

The quest for the use of Russian bases arose as follows: British planes on several occasions tried to drop arms and munitions for the Polish patriots in Warsaw but suffered heavy losses because of the necessity of flying low and dropping supplies in small areas. Gen. Bors, commander in the Polish capital, suggested that heavy bombers be used to strike designated German positions and drop supplies at the same time.

U. S. Facilities Refused.

The Americans, schooled in hitting precision targets, thereupon sought soviet permission for landing and refueling facilities for heavy bombers. This was refused, the similar facilities had been granted readily to other American missions designed to aid soviet forces.

Today, a Reuter news agency dispatch carried on page one of the Communist Daily Worker said America is being blamed for the current Russo-Polish differences by the chieftain of the soviet dominated Polish committee of national liberation.

The dispatch, based on an interview in Lublin, Poland, with Edward Boleslaw Osuska-Morawski, chairman of the Polish liberation group friendly to Russia, quoted Osuska-Morawski as saying it was William C. Bullitt, United States ambassador to Paris in 1939, who first insisted on upholding the Polish constitution of 1935 around which the present boundary dispute between Poland and Russia centers.

Assails Catholic Leaders.

The Daily Worker carried a front page editorial, also, assailing among others the Catholic hierarchy here for its stand in the Polish frontier row. Britain's Catholic leaders recently circulated a letter to members of parliament asking whether they could be depended upon to honor Britain's pledge of Polish territorial integrity.

Climaxing the confusion over the Polish question, it was disclosed tonight that the Polish government in London has prepared a final draft of its proposals for coöperation with the Russia-supported Polish liberation group for a future government in their country. The Polish government intends to dispatch the proposals in the form of a memorandum to Stalin. It was reported a coalition regime of Poles will be urged and that Moscow will be asked to enter into a Russo-Polish alliance.

Churchill Back Home

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Prime Minister Churchill flew back from Italy to Britain today after 18 days' absence during which important war developments, including the southern France landings, have taken place.

The Prime Minister's return revived talk of an impending conference with President Roosevelt. Already diplomatic observers here have suggested that, forthcoming discussions will be concerned mainly on ways and means of dealing the final blow against Japan rather than the next phase of the war against Germany.

There is no doubt, however, that problems of transition from war to peace in Europe will loom large in the talks, particularly the question of the Russo-Polish dispute. Communists here indicate that Britain is sympathetic to the viewpoint held in Moscow, particularly regarding the Curzon line as the future Russo-Polish frontier.

ROBOTS ATTACK BRITAIN IN WAKE OF 2 NIGHT LULL

LONDON, Aug. 29 (AP).—The roar of flying bombs filled southern England again today, causing new deaths and destruction after two nights of respite.

The attacks were brief, but they upheld the government's warning that the end of the robot menace is not in sight, despite the reported capture of 14 launching platforms in the Lisieux and Bernay area between Caen and the Seine and the incessant aerial pounding of others.

It was revealed that robot bombs which recently damaged the old Shoreditch church in a crowded eastern London borough also hit industrial premises, killing several persons, setting a factory afire and damaging nearby shops and buses.

Also damaged were the British headquarters of the American Foster Parents plan at Woodberry, in north London, and the Westham football ground, scene of some of England's biggest matches.

During the last month, American crews equipped with the latest anti-aircraft guns have been credited with about 35 per cent of the total kills scored against robot bombs directed toward southern England.

MOVIE COLONY PERILED IN FIRE; 50 HOMES BURN

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 29 (AP).—A fast sweeping brush fire burned uncontroled in the Tarzana-Girard area west of here tonight, blackened hundreds of acres of rugged terrain, destroyed 50 houses, and deposited ashes in downtown Los Angeles, 30 miles away.

Firemen said they received a report the blaze started when a P-38 fighter plane crashed and exploded.

The blaze appeared to be burning along a front several miles long. Starting near the Woodland Hills section, the flames spread eastward toward Tarzana and Encino, the latter the home of many Hollywood film colonists. Movie producers, directors, actresses, and actors joined other townspeople in hauling out hose and fighting the fire.

Among movie folks whose homes were near the blaze were Actor Robert Young and Director Michael Curtiz. Both the Woodland and Girard Country clubs were destroyed.

R. A. F. RIPS EAST GERMAN TARGETS TO AID RUSSIANS

LONDON, Aug. 30 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The R. A. F.'s heavy bombers struck at Germany in great strength during the night, concentrating upon Stettin and Koenigsburg, while Mosquitos hit Berlin and Hamburg, the British announced officially today. Upwards of 1,000 bombers took part in the raids.

The blows at Koenigsburg and Stettin apparently were in direct support of the Russian armies striking at Germany from the east. Stettin, on the Baltic, is a supply port for the Nazis' eastern armies. Koenigsburg is a vital communications center in East Prussia.

The night actions developed after the fourth day of sustained attacks on German transport in France and the lowlands by United States 8th air force fighters.

A TRIBUNE MAN REVEALED SAFE IN NAZIS' HANDS

Sgt. Robert Freislinger, 23, a Tribune rotogravure pressroom employe who was on military leave as an engineer-gunner on a Liberator bomber and last month was reported a prisoner of war in Germany, has sent a card from a temporary German prison camp to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Freislinger of 56 E. Chicago av. saying he is well and unhurt. He wrote he had been shot down May 24. He had 26 bomber missions to his credit before being reported missing in action over Austria.

Lt. Carroll Binder Jr., 22, son of the foreign editor of the Chicago Daily News, and a navigator on a Flying Fortress, was killed in action over Germany on May 24, his parents were notified yesterday by the war department. He was on his 26th major mission over enemy territory and was holder of the air medal with four oak leaf clusters.

Lt. Carroll Binder Jr.

He was graduated from Harvard in 1942 cum laude in history. He received his wings Aug. 14, 1943, and two days later married Miss Jeanne Patterson of New York.

Pvt. Joseph Knaus, 34, of 9002 Mackinaw av., a former city water pipe extension service employe, died Aug. 6 of wounds suffered while serving with the infantry in France, his mother, Magdalena, was notified yesterday by the war department.

A memorial mass will be sung in St. Mathias' church, Ainslie st. and Claremont av., at 9:30 a. m. Monday for 1st Lt. Matthew Edward Strubel, who was killed in maneuvers with the army in England last April 28. Lt. Strubel, who was 26, lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew E. Strubel, at 4862 N. Talman av. He entered the army as a private and attended officers' candidate school.

Pvt. Anton Viventi, 37, of 657 W. Park av., Highland Park, was killed June 22 in France, the war department has notified his wife, Emma.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Link, 104 S. Jackson st., Waukegan, were informed yesterday that their son, Lt. Alexander J. Link, 20, was seriously wounded in action over Normandy Aug. 13. He was the pilot of an army bomber.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Graczyk, 5252 Grace st., were advised by the war department yesterday that their son, 1st Lt. Michael Graczyk Jr., a fighter pilot, has been missing in action over Germany since Aug. 15. He entered the army in April, 1943.

FILIPINOS PAID DEBT TO U. S. AT BATAAN: ROMULO

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—Col. Carlos P. Romulo, new resident commissioner of the Philippines, told the house today the islanders' part in the defense of Bataan and Corregidor "were dividends paid back out of our loyalty and our faith in America."

Speaking on the 28th anniversary of enactment of the Jones act, which set in motion the machinery for eventual Philippine independence, Romulo said that act promised Filipinos "a place beside our fellow Americans as men equal and free."

"We earned that position in 1941, when we offered our lives beside Americans in the blackest hour America has known," he added.

Romulo, making his first congressional speech as spokesman of the Philippine government under house privilege extended to resident commissioners, said he spoke for 17,000,000 Filipinos.

BARE HORRORS OF NAZI PRISON CAMP IN POLAND

Writer Sees Cemetery of the Unburied Dead.

BY DANIEL DE LUCE.

LUBLIN, Poland, Aug. 27 [Delayed] (AP).—Four German prisoners of war stood with a bored air in front of a Russian-Polish atrocities commission here tonight and told their stories of Majdanek, perhaps the greatest horror in Nazi Europe.

Majdanek is a barbed-wire-enclosed encampment in a rolling meadowland at the edge of Lublin. Russians and Poles have estimated that in three years it received more than half a million persons doomed to extermination.

Today a group of American and British correspondents visited Majdanek—with its six concrete vaults for execution by cyanide or carbon monoxide gas, its open air crematorium surrounded with skeletons, its mounds of human ashes mixed with manure for fertilizing cabbage patches, and its overflow burial ground in a pine woods carpeted with decaying bodies.

400 Corpses at One Time.

Tonight we sat in a Lublin courtroom while three German SS [elite guard] officers and one German civilian renegate testified.

N. A. Stalb, a blond, six foot German butcher, arrested in 1939 for selling meat in the black market, said he had been incarcerated in Majdanek and had become a member of the barracks police detail.

"I have seen a tractor haul as many as 400 corpses at one time from the 'bath and disinfection house' to the ovens on the hill," he said. "One day I saw the bodies of 157 Polish children who had been gassed. Another time I saw a group of Polish women marched up a hill to be shot to save the trouble of gassing them. They were ordered to disrobe. One refused, a girl about 28 to 29. Two men tied her hands and legs, put her on a steel stretcher and thrust her alive into the white hot oven."

Hermann Vogel, 42, an SS group leader, told of shipping 18 carloads of clothing in two months to Germany from the Majdanek warehouse.

Taken from Executed.

"Yes, all this clothing, even babies' garments, belonged to those executed," he said. "I have seen groups of 120 to 150 persons taken to the gas house in the evening and their bodies stacked outside next morning. Yes, I knew children were murdered, but what could we small people in the SS do?"

SS Komandofuehrer Theodore Schoelen, 40, in charge of clothing collection at the showerroom adjoining the gas chambers, said he remembered Nov. 3, 1943, when, camp records said, 18,400 prisoners received "special treatment" which reduced the number of camp inmates by that number.

"It was an order from above, perhaps direct from Berlin," he said. "The wireless played Strauss waltzes thru the camp loudspeakers all that day and most of us were told to stay in barracks. I know nothing more about it."

"300 Children Killed in Day."

SS Obersturmfuhrer Anton Ternes, who handled Majdanek's finances, said:

"The camp physicians told me as many as 300 children were killed in a single day. I couldn't understand the systematic killing. I told my wife when I went home on furlough about it and she said, 'God will punish the German people for the crimes they do.'"

The Russian-Polish commission said the following facts had been adduced:

Majdanek housed from 30,000 to 40,000 prisoners but the turnover in three years probably exceeded 600,000.

The gas chambers were sufficient to kill 2,000 in less than seven minutes. The crematory ovens handled 1,900 corpses in a 24 hour period.

The majority of the dead were soviet war prisoners, Poles and Jews, but every country in Europe was represented, also China.

FINDS CHAPLAINS HELD IN HIGHEST REGARD BY MEN

GENERAL HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 29 (AP).—American front line chaplains are more highly regarded by their commanding officers and men than ever before, Dr. Daniel A. Poling said today.

Dr. Poling, world president of the Christian Endeavor, has concluded a world-wide tour of war fronts on behalf of the federal council of churches.

"I visited 534 chaplains of three faiths, and watched the men throng to their chapels in such great numbers that they overflowed four deep outside," he said.

"Out here, religion does not follow established patterns. Ministers, priests, and rabbis preach from the same altars. There is great unity of purpose. Whatever differences there may be at home, the churches must maintain the spirit of this unity. I believe this unity can be continued without sacrificing a single worthy loyalty. But that's a job for the home church. It will be a tragedy for the churches if 11 or 12 million returning men fail to find the equivalent of what they found out here."

COL. CUSHMAN TAKES OVER AT FORT SHERIDAN

Col. George H. Cushman, 54, of Chattanooga, Tenn., assumed command of Fort Sheridan yesterday, succeeding Col. John T. Rhett, who has been transferred to the western defense command with headquarters in San Francisco.

Col. G. H. Cushman.

Col. Cushman has been serving as a member of the general court martial for the 6th service command. As a lieutenant, Col. Cushman served on the Mexican border in 1916, and with the 317th field artillery in France in World War I. Subsequent assignments included the post of executive officer of the Wisconsin military area and executive officer at Camp Grant.

Two sons, Capt. George H. Cushman III., 26, and 2d Lt. Gene M. Cushman, 24, are in active service. A daughter, Sausa, 12, lives with her parents at the post.

Col. Cushman announced the appointment of Lt. Col. Frederick H. Gaston, 59, of Philadelphia, as assistant post commander.

RUSSIANS SEIZE CONSTANTA, KEY BLACK SEA BASE

LONDON, Aug. 29 (AP).—Russian forces in a daring land and sea operation today captured Constanta, Romania's great Black sea port and for three years the main German naval base in those waters.

Seizure of the city of 60,000 represented an 85-mile advance by sea from the port of Sulina, taken Monday, and of 70 miles by land from Tulcea on the Danube. It put Russian troops only 29 miles from Bulgaria.

Constanta, terminus of the oil pipeline from Ploesti, has great petroleum storage and shipping facilities.

Twenty-nine miles farther south lies the border established in September, 1940, when Romania ceded the southern Dobruja territory of 2,883 square miles below the Danube to Bulgaria under pressure from Bulgaria, Germany, and Italy.

Nazis Lose Another Oil Town.

The Germans already had acknowledged that soviet troops had reached the Ploesti-Constanta pipeline. They also admitted withdrawing from Buzau, oil and railway town 40 miles northeast of Ploesti.

The soviet midnight war bulletin, confirming capture of Buzau, said 150 other towns were taken in the extending drive in that region less than 60 miles northeast of Bucharest. It also listed 50 towns taken in the southward sweep across the Danube to Constanta.

Highway Junction Taken.

Romanian troops are hemming in the Ploesti garrison from the south and the German radio reported "very bitter fighting between Romanian and German troops in Bucharest and Ploesti." The vast Ploesti wells once furnished Germany at least one-third of her natural oil needs.

Both Buzau and Constanta are of high tactical value to the Russians. The former, a city of 36,000, is a junction for railroads from Ploesti and is an important market center for petroleum, timber, and grain. The Germans claimed they left it in flames.

One German broadcast acknowledged that "positions of German forces in Romania are serious and rather obscure." The Germans said the Russians pushing into Hungarian territory in the Carpathians were using parachute troops.

West of Braila, the Danube river port which also fell to the Russians yesterday, the Red army hit west into the territory of northern Dobruja and seized more than 50 populated places.

Reds Gain in Estonia.

The Russians were silent concerning developments on the East Prussian border, but said that northeast of Warsaw they hurled back several German attacks and occupied more favorable positions. They also reported advances northeast and southeast of Valga, Estonian communications center, despite German counter-attacks.

The Germans admitted a short retreat on the central Latvian front, said "grim fighting" took place around the Vistula river bridgeheads 130 miles southeast of Warsaw, and described this battle as "of great operational importance."

U. S. Recognizes Poland's Home Army; Warns Nazis

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—The United States government recognizes the Polish home army as a combat force and has warned Germany that she will be held responsible for reprisals against it, the state department announced tonight. The statement followed a report by Polish Ambassador Jan Ciechanowski to the American and British governments that the Germans are trying to exterminate the population of Warsaw as revenge for the military activity of Polish patriot forces inside the city.

SAVES 50 AMID HAIL OF FIRE IN D-DAY HELL

Chicago Doctor Toiled for 66 Blazing Hours.

How a 40 year old Chicago physician, now a captain in the army medical corps, toiled for 66 hours under a concentrated hail of German gunfire during the initial invasion of the French coast, to evacuate 50 Yank casualties, was told yesterday by his wife, who had received the citation which accompanied a silver star awarded her husband, together with his letter describing the touch and go perils of the landing.

Capt. Walter Block.

He is Capt. Walter Block of 2929 N. Kilbourn av., a battalion surgeon with the American Rangers. His citation, received by his wife, Alice, told how he moved from trench to trench across open fields, frequently the target of snipers who aimed directly at him, to treat and evacuate casualties. The wounded men were lowered to the beach by ropes from a 100 foot cliff, and thence by boat to larger craft at sea.

Landing "an inferno."

In his letter Capt. Block described the landing as "an inferno from beginning to end." His description of the task of landing and securing a toehold on the enemy beach revealed the precariousness of the invaders' first position.

Capt. Block jumped out of his landing craft into the sea, his letter stated, when the Germans began firing down from the cliff tops about 100 feet above them. Rifle and machine gun fire whipped the surf before the beach was attained, he said. The men took shelter under a cliff.

"About 10 minutes under the shelter of the cliff was all we had, as Jerries began lobbing grenades down from the top. During that time our men were scrambling up the ropes and meeting Jerry hand to hand. He couldn't take it and slowly retreated."

Many Counter-Attacks.

The top of the cliff, when Capt. Block reached it, was a shambles, his letter said, and they had to dig in fast in the face of furious counter-attacks by the Germans.

"Those —— —— Germans did nothing but counter-attack. One attack right after another was repulsed. It kept up all day, and my back was plenty tired from crouching and running from one shell hole to another, rendering medical aid."

"It was almost like Custer's last stand," he said. "Food low, water low, ammunition very low, and fewer men. Our men began to use German weapons and I proceeded to put Heinie prisoners to work as stretcher bearers."

HEAR 240 YANKS IN NEW GERMAN PRISONER SWAP

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 29 (AP).—Two hundred and forty American soldiers are among more than 1,000 allied prisoners of war and civilian internees who are to be exchanged at Goteborg, Sweden, about Sept. 8, an authoritative source said tonight.

In addition, possibly 100 American civilians who have been held by the Germans are slated for inclusion in the exchange.

The American soldiers are understood to be chiefly sick and wounded air force personnel.

CHINESE TAKE TOWN ON RAIL LINE TO CANTON

CHUNGKING, Aug. 29 (AP).—Supported by far ranging American war planes, Chinese forces today captured Suchowtang on the Canton-Hankow railway, 55 miles north of Japanese held Hengyang and increased their threat to Japanese communications along the Siang river, main supply line for Hunan province.

Enemy columns trying to envelop or smash Chinese troops menacing Hengyang met stiff resistance east of Yungfeng, 45 miles northwest of the city, and there was severe fighting with considerable casualties on both sides. In southern Honan province, Japanese forces struck westward from the Peiping-Hankow railway to reach points 30 miles northeast and 25 miles east of the important highway river junction of Miyang.

In the maritime province of Chekiang, fighting continued north of Lishui, the base from which the Japanese at first thought Lt. Gen. Doolittle's raiders attacked Japan in April, 1942. Maj. Gen. Chennault's 14th air force supported Chinese battling the latest Japanese drive by raiding air fields and rail yards at Kinhwa on the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway and strafing Wuyi.

CITY PREPARES TO KEEP PEACE ON GAY V-DAY

To keep Chicagoans from breaking the peace on V-day, Mayor Kelly will appoint a committee of business, civic, and religious representatives to prepare a city program for the orderly celebration of the end of the war, he said yesterday.

An attempt will be made to discourage large gatherings in the loop. The committee may recommend a public celebration of some nature in Grant park.

The question of whether the city should order taverns closed on V-day has not been decided.

If the taverns are closed, Commissioner Allman said, many persons celebrating the victory may do their drinking in hotels.

AIR LINES ASKED TO RAISE BID FOR NEW TERMINAL

Mayor Kelly said yesterday that the city will meet the air lines half way in raising the $500,000 difference between the amount the lines have offered to advance for constructing a terminal building at the Chicago Airport and the architects' estimate of the cost.

Eight major lines using the airport have offered to put up $1,250,000 for a modern terminal. The property would be owned by the city, and the lines propose to be repaid in remitted landing fees and rents. Architects estimated that a terminal satisfactory to the lines would cost $1,750,000, including landscaping, accessory improvements, and paving.

Kelly and Hewitt Confer.

The city will contribute $250,000 of the difference, Mayor Kelly said. He said he did not know from what fund the money would be taken, but declared "it will be there when needed."

The mayor made the offer for the city after conferring for an hour with Public Works Commissioner Hewitt and several of Hewitt's engineers who have been working on airport improvement plans.

Engineers and technicians representing the air lines and the city are rushing their drawings and specifications to permit an early start on construction, Mayor Kelly said. The terminal, to be of a triangular shape, will be built in the northeast corner of the airport and will greatly increase the field's facilities for handling passenger and freight planes.

The city will share the expense of engineers' fees with the air lines, and will demand the right of approval of all contracts awarded for the job, and approval of all construction reports, Mayor Kelly said.

Sees Need of Second Airport.

"Chicago must be prepared to assume its natural position as a world air center," he said, "and nothing must be allowed to prevent the city from acquiring facilities to meet any foreseeable expansion in air traffic."

City engineers, he said, have been ordered to make further studies of other possible locations for airports. The Chicago plan commission recently recommended the Douglas airport near Park Ridge as the most favorable site.

F. D. R. Gets Intimate: Tells of Bath Yesterday

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—President Roosevelt, asked at a news conference today whether the time and place had been selected for his next talk with Prime Minister Churchill, said they were too intimate to reveal. As an illustration, he said he would relate an intimate fact that he had a bath this morning. In other words, he said, it is an intimate fact that everyone knew he was going to meet Churchill but the time and place could not be disclosed.

Mrs. Mildred Menkol, 28, of 2647 N. Mango av., the widow of a Coast Guardsman who lost his life when the cutter Escanaba went down in June, 1943, yesterday was sworn into the SPARS, Coast Guard women's reserve, by Lt. Dorothy M. Beckwith. A year ago this month, Mrs. Menkol received a medal awarded posthumously to her husband, Gunner's Mate 2d Class Theodore T. Menkol. The new SPAR's two brothers are serving with the army, Staff Sgt. Tad J. Polcyn in the New Hebrides and Tech. Sgt. Elmer F. Polcyn in the South Pacific.

ASSERTS ARMY HAS ALL PILOTS IT NEEDS NOW

The army air forces have enough pilots for current needs, Lt. Col. Lauris M. Eek, air liaison officer for the 6th service command, said yesterday at a luncheon given by the Junior Association of Commerce in the Marshall Field tearoom. The luncheon inaugurated the army's program of aviation cadet recruiting.

Current procurement, Col. Eek said, will stress recruitment of 17 year olds who will be taken into the air forces, to be trained as navigators and gunners, when they become 18. The air forces' combat losses have been far below the estimated figure, Col. Eek added.

Other army personnel at the speakers' table included Capt. James J. Ryan, who has completed 25 combat missions; Brig. Gen. William D. Guthner, security and intelligence officer of the service command, and Col. I. B. Summers.

HALLECK RIPS APPOINTMENT OF KRUG TO WPB JOB

New Deal Cabal Upset Agency, He Says.

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—Rep. Halleck [R., Ind.] charged today that a "New Deal backstairs" cabal engineered the recent shakeup in the war production board which resulted in the appointment of J. A. Krug, a New Deal payroller, to head the nation's arms and reconversion program.

In a house speech Halleck protested against naming Krug to head WPB and charged that two top flight business men, WPB Chairman Nelson and his vice chairman, Charles E. Wilson, were forced out of their jobs by the administration. Nelson was sent to China by President Roosevelt and Wilson resigned in protest over alleged "sniping" at him by WPB staff members.

"Now we have Mr. Krug," said Halleck. "His chief qualification seems to be that he is the choice of the New Deal backstairs cabal that has succeeded in getting rid of so many efficient men.

Questions Qualifications.

"Does Mr. Krug know the difference between a lathe and a screw machine? Has he ever had actual charge of producing anything? His position in government employment during practically all the time since his graduation from college in 1929 certainly does not qualify him as a production expert.

"A few days ago we heard a voice pleading from a west coast naval yard for just four more years. It asked the American people whether they are willing to trust 'this big 1944 job to inexperienced hands.'

"Candidate Roosevelt has given us his own answer. At a moment when the army is pleading for cannon and an army representative is testifying that the program is only 53 per cent fulfilled; at a time when the navy is pleading for ships of all kinds, and a navy representative is testifying that the war in the Pacific is being delayed, out go two of the most efficient men who have ever had a part in our production program, and there is substituted a production unknown with 'inexperienced hands.'"

Halleck declared Nelson and Wilson are proven production executives in contrast to the 36 year old Krug, who has worked only on various government bureaus.

President Roosevelt, the congressman recalled, denied he was kicking Nelson "in the teeth" by sending him to China.

Suggests Knudsen.

"It developed the President was not kicking him in the teeth," Halleck added. "He was just kicking him 10,000 miles across the Pacific. And it seemed to be Charles E. Wilson who was being kicked in the teeth—the man whom Roosevelt credits with having brought the airplane and shipbuilding programs out of chaos."

Halleck asked why the New Dealers did not choose a man like Lt. Gen. William S. Knudsen, former head of General Motors corporation, to head WPB, if a change was actually necessary.

Knudsen, he recalled, was co-chief with Sidney Hillman, radical labor leader, of the arms program in 1941.

"We all know who Knudsen is," Halleck said. "He is one of the greatest masters of mass production the world has ever known. Is it possible that the New Dealers now think a Knudsen is not big enough to be entrusted with the authority now granted Mr. Krug?"

REPORT NELSON MAY GET BYRNES POST; F. D. R. MUM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—President Roosevelt declined to confirm or deny at his press conference today that WPB Chairman Nelson will succeed James F. Byrnes as war mobilization director. Mr. Roosevelt indicated he might comment if Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.], who predicted the shift, would disclose the source of his information.

Ferguson had announced earlier in the day he had learned from reliable sources that Nelson was to have Byrnes' job. Byrnes has said publicly he does not wish to retain the post after the war, because it would require supervision of the nation's demobilization and he feels that mobilization was his task. Byrnes had no comment, however, on the report Nelson would take his place.

Persons close to the situation doubt Nelson will return as WPB chief after his Presidential mission to China, and Mr. Roosevelt has indicated Nelson may not. If Nelson is forced out of the WPB by its internal feud, observers say, the administration might "kick him upstairs" to replace Byrnes.

New Railway Diner Is Announced

Drawing of new dining car designed by Pullman illustrates how diagonal seating will speed up service and permit every passenger to sit down or leave the table without disturbing any one else.

More Elbow Room

After the war, two persons entering a railway dining car together won't have to rub elbows with strangers at a table for four.

That is one of the advantages of a dining car of new design, plans for which were made public yesterday by the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company.

The car embodies a new principle of diagonal seating, calculated to accelerate service, eliminate interruptions caused by arrivals and departures at tables, and enable waiters to step to the side when serving, thus keeping the aisle free at all times.

Other innovations include vibrationless tables, spot-ray illumination, intercar telephone communication, and tables uncluttered with water bottles and other service, which are stored on individual shelves. All tables are set at a 45 degree angle to the side of the car. The two-place tables are triangular in shape, with corners rounded for safety.

Judge Orders Mental Test for Seized Woman

A mental examination was ordered yesterday by Judge Irwin B. Clorfene in Women's court for Miss Siller Asher, 18, who was seized recently in a flat at 2001 Madison st., where she and a married woman were entertaining a soldier. Charges against the other two have been dismissed. Hearing of the charge of disorderly conduct against Miss Asher was continued to Sept. 6.

WALLACE SEES F. D. R. 1ST TIME SINCE MID-JUNE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—Vice President Wallace had his first post-convention talk with President Roosevelt today and said afterward he would make some speeches for the Democratic ticket.

As for a future job for himself, he told reporters he could not talk about that "until after Nov. 7, and that will depend on what happens Nov. 7."

The Vice President, who lost out for renomination at Chicago, had luncheon on the south lawn with the President, but Wallace indicated that the range of conversation was limited by the presence of other guests. They only touched on politics briefly, he said.

HILLMAN POWER A MAJOR ISSUE, BROWNELL SAYS

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

An outstanding issue of the 1944 Presidential campaign is the Hillman-Browder CIO political action committee's "stranglehold on the New Deal party" and its coercion of workers to surrender money to the fourth term drive, Republican National Chairman Herbert Brownell Jr. said here yesterday.

Brownell smiled when asked whether Gov. Dewey, G. O. P. nominee for President, will tackle this issue in his first broadcast of the formal campaign Sept. 7.

Sidney Hillman, head of the CIO-PAC, and Earl Browder, leader of the Communists in this country, are the leaders of one New Deal faction, Brownell said. The other is headed by the big city bosses, he declared.

"The first faction has made progress in supplanting the Democratic national committee," he said. "Roosevelt was quoted in the New York Times as saying to the Democratic national chairman: 'Clear everything with Sidney.' Events at the Democratic convention have borne that out."

A reporter for a New Deal organ wanted to know the difference between political contributions by north shore residents and by CIO workers.

"I believe any American has the right to contribute to a political campaign," Brownell snapped. "But I believe it is un-American to be forced to contribute to any one's campaign because of membership in a labor union. These highhanded tactics are resented by many union members themselves."

Sees Workers Joining G. O. P.

He declared that there is no doubt that the trend among all classes of workers is toward the Dewey-Bricker ticket. The arrogance of the CIO-PAC is turning many union members back to the Republican party, he said.

Brownell spent much of yesterday conferring with Sam R. McKelvie, western headquarters manager; his assistant, George B. McKibbin, and Werner W. Schroeder, Illinois national committeeman.

Radio's part in the campaign was discussed by these men. They were joined by James S. Kemper, chairman of the G. O. P. finance committee; Henry R. Turnbull, national radio director; Sam Bartlett, western radio director, and state party radio managers of the west and midwest.

Tomorrow Brownell will meet leaders of the Young Republican organization, and Friday he will meet party leaders from the midwest states.

ROOSEVELT TO MAKE 1ST 'POLITICAL' TALK IN CAMPAIGN SEPT. 23

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—President Roosevelt today announced that he will make his first acknowledged political speech of the 1944 Presidential campaign Sept. 23.

He will address a group of officials of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen, and Helpers' union at a dinner arranged by Daniel J. Tobin, union president and staunch New Deal supporter.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference his political speech would not be very political, but it would have a tinge of politics, so he might as well label it as a political speech.

The radio time is to be paid for by the Democratic national committee and the address will be made in the Statler hotel here, the chief executive said.

U. S. Congressmen Visit London; Eye Lend-Lease

LONDON, Aug. 29 (AP).—Representatives Karl E. Mundt [R., S. D.] and James P. Richards [D., S. C.], both members of the house foreign affairs committee, arrived in London today to study lend-lease operations and plans for the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration.

GOVERNORS OPEN NATIONAL DRIVE TO ELECT DEWEY

whom they are assuming to speak.

"The Republican party does not propose to buy this election," he said, adding that it would insist "that Mr. Hillman and his committee be barred from doing it also."

Gov. Baldwin said Dewey believes in "honest government by honest men, honestly arrived at," and asserted, "I know you will feel the same pride I feel in knowing that Tammany hall is against Gov. Dewey, that Frank [I am the law] Hague is against Gov. Dewey, and that Boss Kelly of Chicago is against him."

Last minute changes in the texts of the talks delivered by Green and Warren resulted in withdrawal by the Republican national committee of prepared releases given out in advance.

"The three governors, situated as they are from coast to coast, made last minute changes in the texts of their speeches in order to bring them into conformity," a spokesman for the committee said in a statement issued in New York. "Gov. Baldwin's revisions were received in time to be mimeographed and released, but unavoidable delays in communication with California and Illinois prevented distribution of the revisions by Governors Warren and Green before broadcast time."

It was learned that the three speeches were prepared in New York by Gov. Dewey's publicity staff and sent to the three governors for delivery. After conferring with each other by telephone, the governors made extensive changes, it was said.

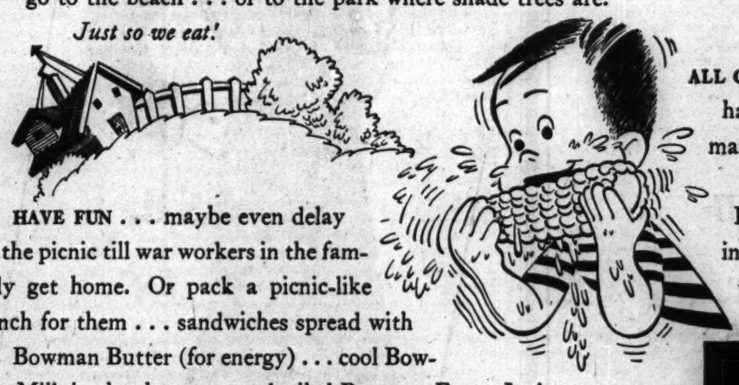
LET'S HAVE A PICNIC IN YOUR OWN BACKYARD
IT'S PATRIOTIC TO STICK AROUND HOME
Bud Bowman

WITH AUTO TIRES THIN and the gas ration slim, we can still have fun this Labor Day. If the backyard is crowded, let's go to the beach . . . or to the park where shade trees are.

Just so we eat!



HAVE FUN . . . maybe even delay the picnic till war workers in the family get home. Or pack a picnic-like lunch for them . . . sandwiches spread with Bowman Butter (for energy) . . . cool Bowman Milk in the thermos . . . deviled Bowman Eggs. Incidentally, our hats are off to the guys and gals who'll be spending Labor Day on the job as usual! (We'll be making deliveries, too . . . and turning out powdered milk and powdered eggs for the war effort.)

ALL GOOD PICNICS start with potato salad full of chopped hard-cooked eggs. Better order eggs from the Bowman milkman today or tomorrow . . . delicious, extra-fine-tasting eggs, perfect for picnics. And so is Bowman Superior Flavor Butter melting over ears of roasted corn or potatoes-baked-in-the-coals—if there's to be a bonfire.

LANDIS CHARGES CIO GROUP AIMS TO 'WRECK' U. S.

Cites Plans to Smash Banks, Churches.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—The sworn testimony of a CIO supported candidate for governor of New York in 1942 was cited in a house speech today by Rep. Landis [R., Ind.], as evidence that the hidden program of Sidney Hillman's CIO political action committee involves "wrecking banks, churches, and property."

Sidney Hillman.

While rendering an accounting of his group's $806,715 slush fund to the house campaign expenditures committee yesterday, Hillman disputed the charge of Rep. Church [R., Ill.], that his organization was dominated by Communists and declared himself a battler against Communism.

Landis told members of the house 28 CIO officials, who are Hillman's associates, publicly supported Israel Amter, the Communist party candidate for governor of New York in 1942.

Must "Wreck Them."

Landis declared Amter is one of the original American Communists, according to the report of the McCormack committee on un-American activities in 1937. Landis said 'his brand of Americanism" was reflected in the following excerpts from his testimony before the committee:

Q.—Briefly tell the committee what you are going to do with the real estate and property, banks and churches, in this country when you take over?

Amter—I think that should be clear from Mr. Foster's answer; that it is necessary to wreck them.

Q.—Do you owe any allegiance to the American flag?

Flag of Oppression.

Amter—We regard the American flag as the British worker must regard the British flag—as a flag of the capitalist class of oppression.

"Can you imagine these PAC radicals getting control of our government and wrecking the churches, banks, and property in America?" Landis asked the house. "These forces are trying to bore from within and without in an effort to destroy the Constitution.

"In the coming election, the American voters will have to make their choice between a New Deal party dominated by the CIO political action committee or a true American party. The CIO-PAC is dominated by Hillman, Harry Bridges, and Earl Browder.

Expects F. D. R. to Fool Voters.

"Because of the public resentment aroused by the partisan activities of this committee, I believe President Roosevelt will repudiate the CIO-PAC before the election, but with the understanding that they will receive his blessings after the election. Or, to fool the voters, the President and the palace guard may inform the public that they will repudiate Hillman and his group after the election.

"Labor is already repudiating the Hillman crowd. He cannot even keep members of the CIO in line to support such an un-American program. Gary, Ind., CIO steel workers tabled a slush fund resolution. Two CIO locals in Utah quit the PAC when they discovered they were supposed to back New Deal candidates without listening to pleas for support by Republican candidates."

HULL AMPLIFIES HIS VIEWS ON DULLES PARLEY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—Secretary of State Hull said today that he and John Foster Dulles, the Republican foreign policy advisor, had agreed that the problem of establishing an international peace and security organization "must be kept out of politics."

The comment by Hull was a further interpretation of the statement which Dulles, as a representative of Republican Presidential Nominee Dewey, and the secretary issued last Friday after three successive meetings on world security.

The joint declaration said they considered the subject of future peace "as a nonpartisan subject which must be kept entirely out of politics." To this, it was added that Dulles on behalf of Dewey reserved the right to full public discussion of the means of lasting peace.

Yesterday reporters asked Hull to amplify his views and he said: "My discussions with Mr. Dulles last week were confined to the single question of a common policy to the effect that the problem of the establishment of an international peace and security organization must be kept out of politics. I consider that this is a real gain in the movement for a post-war peace and security organization."

PEACE PLANNERS MEET PRESS BUT REVEAL NOTHING

Storm Over Secrecy of Parley Grows.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—The congressional storm over the secrecy surrounding the Dumbarton Oaks postwar security conference increased today after reporters, invited in to learn what is going on, were given the diplomatic brush-off by the heads of the Russian, British and American conference delegations.

Sen. Shipstead.

Informed that the reporters were told nothing they did not already know, Sen. Shipstead [R., Minn.] questioned the whole purpose of the conference. The international planners are assembled for the announced purpose of arranging to keep peace, once it has been established. But Shipstead observed that there is no peace yet and hence no peace treaty.

"What is it this international organization is going to regulate, and operate, and enforce?" he demanded. "They're getting the cart before the horse at this secret meeting."

Secrecy Is Denounced.

Sen. Bushfield [R., S. D.] commented:

"The American people are entitled to know everything that goes on at that conference. If it continues as it has been, the press will keep on getting the run around, just as it did this morning."

Reporters were given to understand they wouldn't be shot by the soldiers guarding the walled Dumbarton Oaks estate if they appeared with proper credentials this morning.

As a result, almost 200 reporters assembled at Dumbarton Oaks this morning. In came Undersecretary of State Stettinius, head of the American delegation.

Conferees Attend.

With him were Ambassador Andrei Gromyko, head of the Russian delegation, and Alexander Cadogan, head of the British group.

The reporters got out their pencils and the white haired Stettinius got out a mimeographed press release. It said the delegations were generally agreed on an assembly of representatives of all peaceful nations, a council composed of a smaller group, and effective means of settling disputes, including an international court.

As it was known that the conferring powers were agreed on these institutions before the conference began, few notes were taken.

Stettinius then laid all secrecy aside. The reason the secret conference is going to remain secret, he said, is that private discussions always precede public announcements.

Stettinius then ruled out all pertinent questions of the reporters and told them it was a pleasure to have had them drop in.

Wife Is a WAC

Thomas H. Bradley of Peoria, a veteran of World War I., conducted his military family on a tour of the WAC recruiting office at 175 W. Jackson blvd. yesterday.

The party included his wife, Pvt. Kathryn Bradley, 48, a WAC now stationed at Harding field, Baton Rouge, La.; and two daughters, Adell J. Bradley, 22, a WAVE stationed at Whiting field, Milton, Fla., and Pvt. Jacqueline Bradley, 19, who enlisted in the Canadian Women's Army corps last September and now is stationed at Victoria, B. C., Canada.

A son, Thomas J. Bradley Jr., 30, a discharged veteran of both the army and navy, is now working for the navy department in the Canal Zone.

$1,000 EXPENSE 'CHICKEN FEED' TO CIO; STEWART

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—Rep. Stewart [D., Okla.] asserted today the $1,000 which the CIO political action committee reported spending against him in the Oklahoma primaries "was just chicken feed compared with what the unions actually spent."

Stewart defeated Maj. Wilburn Cartwright, former congressman, in the 3d district primaries. Sidney Hillman, chairman of the PAC, gave the $1,000 figure in testimony yesterday before a special house investigating committee.

"The CIO spent twice the amount admitted by Hillman in sending those foreign goons down to Oklahoma trying to organize war workers against me in such plants as the naval ammunition depot at McAlester," Stewart told a reporter.

NEW DEMOCRAT PARTY IS FORMED BY FLORIDA BLOC

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 29 [Special].—A newly organized independent Democratic party pledged to defeat of the New Deal took its place in the political picture today following a convention here yesterday at which a slate of Presidential electors was named and a declaration of principles made.

The convention was attended by delegates from all parts of the state and by an executive committee of 50 which had borne the brunt of organization work.

I. Beverly Nalle, Jacksonville real estate man, who presided at the convention and was named state chairman, said the list of electors will be filed with the secretary of state and will appear on the November ballot along with the regular Democratic and Republican electors. The electors are pledged, he said, to "vote for a good Democrat for President who stands for the principles of the party."

Byrd Backer Active.

Convention speakers included Mrs. Fred T. Nooney, Jacksonville, who as a delegate to the Democratic national convention in Chicago placed Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia in nomination for President.

Mrs. Nooney said the new party is not bolting from the old party organization, but that "the New Deal clique has bolted the Democratic party." She asserted that New Dealers at the Chicago convention, dominated by the Communistic CIO, northern big city political bosses, and fomenters of race troubles, "ran roughshod over the fundamental principles of the Democratic party and constitutional government."

Nalle predicted the independent Democratic movement in the south will produce enough electoral votes to be a determining factor in the election of the next President. He said the Florida action is in line with what other southern states are doing and promised a vigorous campaign.

Condemn Racial Issues.

The party's declaration of principles condemned "efforts of any group stirring up racial questions for political purpose," and demanded that racial questions of the south be left to the south for solution. Governmental favoritism to labor was denounced and abolition of useless commissions and offices was asked.

Stating that "the American farmer is more capable of conducting his farm than any burocrat in Washington," the party condemned "all efforts to interfere with the free right of the farmer to till the soil in accordance with his best judgment."

The party recommended a constitutional amendment limiting Presidential tenure to two terms of four years each or one term of six years.

Urge Limit of Tenure.

"Whatever merits or otherwise of the New Deal originally, it has been dealt and overdealt, and it has now been prostituted to the use of selfish and vicious interests that have destroyed the Democratic party, state's rights and the American way of life," the party said.

Named as electors were George S. Patterson, St. Petersburg; F. M. Turner, Pensacola; C. C. Holloway, Clemont; Carl Hanton, Fort Myers; Walter M. Pierce, Miami; Harry N. Noorhis, Orlando, and J. K. David and Will Traer, both of Jacksonville.

FALL INJURIES FATAL TO WOMAN.

Mrs. Julia Gargle, 79, of 1123 E. 47th st, died in County hospital yesterday, apparently of injuries suffered in a fall at home last Friday.

"I cannot come to each of you," said Washington, in his deeply moving farewell talk to his officers in 1783. "But I will be obliged to you if you will each come and take me by the hand." General Knox, standing nearest, grasped his hand, while tears ran down the cheeks of both. Suddenly Washington impulsively took Knox in his arms and kissed him, and this he repeated to every officer.

YOU HAVE OUR HEARTFELT Appreciation

Maybe we're prejudiced, but we do think we have the grandest, most understanding customers in the world. Try as we will, we know that sometimes we've had to disappoint you because of wartime shortages. Perhaps we couldn't sell you all the candy you wanted. We may not have had the fancy container you had in mind, or couldn't pack and mail your box just then (unless it went to a service boy or girl, when we always managed to, somehow, no matter what!) Martha Washington Candies have grown with the nation, through other wars, so by now we're used to changes. But one thing will never change—the traditionally fine quality of our candies.

GERMANY'S FIVE YEARS OF WAR.

Germany may soon be in, and on, the hands of its enemies. Five years ago this week Hitler, trusting to his new armament and new methods of attack, as well as to his knowledge of his opponents' weaknesses, sent his army into Poland. His calculations were well founded. Within a year he was master of every capital in continental Europe which he then desired. Now his armies are backing up to the German frontier from every direction.

Germany has lost its supplies from Spain, Portugal, France, Turkey, North Africa, and the formerly held agricultural lands of Russia and Poland. It has lost minerals and food. Its supplies from Sweden have been drastically reduced. It is losing Romanian and Bulgarian materials. Hungary is in a precarious situation. Finland may soon make peace. The sum of this is military defeat.

Some of the German armies backing up to the borders of their homeland are badly battered. All have lost their battles. They are shortening their lines. They are also shortening their hopes, their materials, and their lives. Presently they will be shorn of allies and collaborators, of lands they had occupied, and of aid they had extorted. Hitler's Quislings will be in flight. His tools will be hunted down. Germany will be contracted within itself. The air power of its enemies will arise from continental fields.

If Germany could make peace and consulted its military judgment it would make peace now. That is the decision of the battlefields. Heretofore in Europe's continual history of war, when this has happened, the out of luck warmaker has sat down with his opponents to settle for what he could get. Louis XIV. delighted in making war. His devastation of the Palatinate was, for his day, a memorable masterpiece of ravishment. The siege of a city was a court entertainment. From 1667 to 1707 he kept Europe in conflict and coalition against him. He was able to make peace when his armies were everywhere beaten. Then again France was not required to suffer for the Napoleonic ambitions which produced a wider area and a more concentrated era of war.

Germany can't make peace. The Nazis can't, the German people can't. They can only surrender. Surrendering, they do not know what will be done to them. Their enemies have not made up their minds. Beaten but still powerful armies are all that stand between the Germans and a fate which they have been told will be Carthaginian in everything except physical extermination and demolition. At that, they have been told that many million able bodied workers will be carried to Russia to rebuild what was destroyed. They did the same to many of the peoples they overcame. Imitation will not be flattery. Their cities will not be razed, but many of their industries will be.

The Nazi party knows what to expect. Its head, his associates, and all their agents know that they are to be tried as felons. The people do not know what will be done with the country. It may be subdivided. It may be rearranged into its old states. German life may be in custody in every respect, completely subjected to supervision in industry, in schools, in culture, in politics, in all human relations. These prospects make for a hard finish. To die fighting may seem the better thing. Yet there is a limit beyond which fighters cannot go. It soon may be approached.

A conquered people remember a war long after the victors have forgotten it. Victory is an opiate. Defeat is a stimulant. Twenty-five years from now the men who make the forthcoming peace will be dead or out of public life. New men will be on the scene. New situations will have arisen. New rivalries may be in existence. Arrangements made now may have lost their occasion. There should be no expectation that the present feeling against the German people will have its conviction and intensity when another generation has arisen in the United States and Great Britain. The war can be kept alive much longer in a defeated country.

It may require greater wisdom than will be granted any of the peacemakers to know how the administration of justice against a great offender against justice can be reconciled with the common sense dictates of reason and experience; how an effort to prevent wars can be kept from being the cause of them; or how the undertaking to keep a long-term control over the greatest mass of population in central Europe can be managed so as not to be provocation rather than prevention.

There'll be no difficulty in the first few years. A country which has lost its power of military resistance is helpless. However, if its potential is there all it needs is time. The punishment of the Nazi leaders and agents presents no great problem. That can be summary and exemplary without affecting the long-term view of Europe's peace. In fact, it may particularize the German fault and tie it up with a detestable class, which can be rejected by the Germans themselves.

Germany is too large to be a moral leper colony in the midst of Europe. The alien schoolmaster cannot reëducate it. The alien policeman cannot forever patrol its streets. The victor cannot forever sit on its head. He'll get tired. The alien social worker cannot continually visit the homes. There's the problem and the forces which are closing in have many ideas, none of which seems to offer a solution.

No doubt for ten or twenty years peace can be imposed. Beyond such a period are new personalities in government, new national desires and designs, and probably new animosities, new alarms, and new sympathies. The best the present can do for the future is not to lay a powder train to a magazine of explosives.

WORDS.

Milton Stewart, a 1941 graduate of New York university, self-styled "content analyst" and former OWI employe, was called in as an expert witness by the CIO United Automobile Workers' union at a recent federal communications commission hearing in Washington. The union was seeking revocation of the license of a Columbus, O., radio station on charges that its news commentators were unfair to labor. This is the formula Stewart gave for analyzing a radio script:

"Where there are three kinds of content and the three kinds are plus, minus, and neutral or balanced, cancel out the pluses and minuses and the equal balances, and if the residue of direction exceeds neutral, code it. We seek the relationship between words and words."

Or, as Philip the Bastard said in the second act of Shakespeare's King John: "Zounds! I was never so bethump'd with words since I first call'd my brother's father dad."

AMERICAN POWER IN BATTLE.

Americans who have convinced themselves that Americans should play down the achievements of our troops and concede a good deal to those of our allies would be benefited by reading the London newspapers of the last few days.

In the London News-Chronicle A. J. Cummings upbraided his own government for its "unimaginative" failure to claim credit for the victory in France. He praised another newspaper, the Sunday Observer, for its statement that the battle of the Seine "was won primarily by British and Canadian troops," and to the Americans tossed only the sop that they had been brilliant "in exploiting the achievements of the British and Canadian armies."

Meanwhile the trucks were rolling into Paris with the legend chalked on their sides, "Churchill promised food for Paris. Here it is." Americans will have a fair idea of where the food came from.

The facts on the French campaign are coming to light in spite of efforts to conceal them. Gen. Montgomery went to France as field commander, second in command only to Gen. Eisenhower. He had authority over both the British and Canadian troops and the American troops who formed the majority of the expeditionary force. The principal problem in the British-Canadian sector was the capture of Caen. There is an open lowland plain there and, if for no other reason than that it offered the best field for armored operations, the Germans undoubtedly did concentrate most of their armored strength in that sector.

In the American sector, to the west and north, defense was greatly aided by the physical features, particularly the bocage—fields and orchards cut into checkerboards by century old hedges. The Americans had to fight the country as well as the Germans. Nevertheless, they succeeded in expanding their beachheads and taking Cherbourg while Montgomery was still held in a stalemate before Caen. It took further costly and bitter fighting by the Americans to break the German left on the Cherbourg peninsula and open the gates for the American armored drive that freed first Brittany and then, by surrounding Paris, made the fall of that city inevitable.

During this drive Gen. Eisenhower went to France, in effect superseding his assistant, Gen. Montgomery. In spite of the clamor of the British press over the matter, it is probable that this action freed Gen. Bradley from Montgomery's strategy of limited gains and made it possible for him to launch the war of movement that destroyed the enemy. The contention that Bradley could do what he did only because the British and Canadians were occupying the attention of the major portion of the German forces does not stand up in the face of the toll of German prisoners. Bradley not only took more ground; he also took many more prisoners.

Anglophiles, who consider that the British furnish on all occasions the model of correct conduct, may read the recent comment in the British press with profit. Perhaps it is quite proper to claim credit for the military achievements of one's own people, particularly when they are real achievements.

There hardly can be any contention over who is winning the war in the Pacific because Americans are doing all the fighting there. The only assistance they have received has been that of a relative handful of Australian troops. In Europe as well the major force being exerted against the Germans on the west is that of America. American troops form a large majority of those engaged on every front except in Italy, where they are substantially represented and where they accounted for most of the gains when the going was toughest. The progress on the eastern front and the collapse in the Balkans would not have come about without American lend-lease, which made Russian man power into the modern striking force that soviet industry was incapable of forging by itself.

These are facts plain for all the world to see. The United States has made itself the primary military power. The attempts to decry American achievement are not mere expressions of national pride; they have the studied purpose of building up the reputations of powers that but for our protection would have ceased by now to be powers in order that American influence may be minimized in writing the peace.

Despite the heat, let's try to keep our values on straight. If a surrounded American at Mortain is a hero for refusing to surrender, why is an obdurate German colonel "The Madman of St. Malo"?—Detroit News.

THE OTHER CHEVALIER.

The reported death of Maurice Chevalier, French music hall singer and film actor, from Maquis bullets may cause some confusion in the minds of the old generation of American playgoers. They knew another Chevalier, also a music hall singer and actor, who was a rare artist, undoubtedly greater than Maurice altho he never basked in the glamor of the cinema. This was Albert of London, an Englishman of the Du Maurier type; he had a French father and a Welsh mother.

* * *

Albert Chevalier had about 15 years of training on the English legitimate stage, in numerous character roles, when he took to the music halls [vaudeville in the American language] in 1891. Costermonger characterization in songs was his specialty, and he immediately became famous for the rich humor of his material and the consummate skill of his interpretations. His songs were generally of his own authorship. To describe him by analogy, he was the Harry Lauder of London's cockney types, not so gusty, perhaps, but certainly more subtle. His recognition was international.

* * *

He co-starred with Yvette Guilbert of Paris in programs over which the sophisticates of almost 40 years ago rejoiced. For refinements in the art of character singing, these twin-star bills, given in London and New York, were regarded as the world's best. Chevalier had at least six American tours, and appeared in Chicago several times. His most popular song was, we believe, "My Old Dutch."

* * *

In 1910 Chevalier wrote a full length play for himself, "Daddy Dufard," in which he toured the United States. Nine other play titles are on his record as an author. He also wrote a book of reminiscences, "Before I Forget." He was a unique figure in a golden age of entertainment and politics. Maurice of Paris was not so fortunate in the era of his success.

SONNET OF TWO CITIES.

Two cities hold my heart; tonight the one
Again is free—Paris, the gay retreat
Of youth, alive, resurgent from defeat,
Returned to life out of oblivion.
How often in my attic I have spun
A tale of chivalry, left incomplete
When darkness drew me to my window seat
To watch the twinkling lights put out the sun.
Tonight I watch another city live.
Never have chains confined her widespread arms;
Her elm-lined streets have never heard alarms
Of war, nor dwelt with light a fugitive.
God, you've been good to keep Chicago free!
Now show me Paris as she used to be.

I'm wondering now what they are going to do with all this dough of mine [if they wood of got it].

Ennyway tha big topic of talk was what did we think of Commodore Avery as an ass't conductor. All those who got their stuff printed expressed themselfs with "He's just too ducky" an "Gee, he must be smart," while those who made tha wastebasket had beautiful thoughts like "as a conductor he'd make a good motorman" an "the lug shood of learned plumbing."

Shandy Gaff tha picture peddler was in high spirits on a/c tha recent "Tower of Pisa" publicity he boosted tha price from $1.79 to $3.68 an sold nearly 3 copies. Dean Clark got madder than all-git-out. He ordered his regulation liver sausage on rye an tha gal brings him cheese on white; I tole him to pipe down cause he's lucky she didn't bring peanut butter on pumpernickel.

Quizzicuss is now back from his vacation which he spent in tha Brookfield zoo. I calls this cruelty to animals.

Warren Estey came but didn't eat with us; I think he drank his lunch on tha way over. A new face has joined tha gang, yea, Irene Koenig. I tole tha Mama that tha gal is a smart brunette and blonde. Mama says as how if a brunette ain't smart she's sunk. B. J. K. is still vacationing, but her ma-in-law, that's tha Odd One, seys we can't look fer any cute Pamela poems on a/c all tha kid's done so far is to see how far a worm will stretch an also she's saving all the dead fish that float in. GOOD HEALTH, A PRIZED ASSET.

ILL health is a costly pastime. Expert medical care is expensive, and well it may be. All the physician has to sell is skill, coupled with judgment. It has taken him years to acquire his training. During the long interval of preparation, he has not only been deprived of earning power but his resources have been subjected to a constant drain.

Any attempt to socialize the profession will result in a perfunctory type of service, which will increase sickness and lower standards of efficiency.

We can conclude, then, that it pays to keep well. It is common sense as well as sound business. The one who is obliged to be off duty much of the time may not be needed eventually. Furthermore, the aches and pains of indigestion are bound to reflect themselves upon personality. No single factor contributes more to malnutrition than an alimentary tract that is behaving badly. All edibles that remain unabsorbed are wasted.

Now, most of us inherit a strong constitution. Even those who are handicapped in childhood may, with proper attention, develop into stalwart adults. I know a physical director of a large university who, as a lad, was a weakling. But determination won. He tackled his gymnasium assignments, resolved to surpass every boy in his class. He did just that. He became as perfect a specimen of manhood as one could imagine and made an outstanding success as a leader in college athletics. He rarely encountered an ailment because he maintained his vital organs, muscles, etc. in top condition. In a long career of over 40 years, I do not believe that he was obliged to spend over a hundred dollars for medical counsel.

All too many of us, however, take "no thought for the morrow." We permit degenerative diseases to creep upon us thru poorly balanced diets, too much food, and too little exercise. Then it is that we are in a dither when we find that the blood pressure is mounting steadily because the arteries have lost their elastic properties.

There is plenty of information about health. Special societies are combating tuberculosis, cancer, diabetes, circulatory disorders, and mental upsets. All are making headway, but not so rapidly as we would wish. The answer lies in an aroused public consciousness that good health is an asset. It must center in the family, not in a bureau in Washington; not even in the state.

Public schools can do more than all other agencies combined. While we have had excellent texts on physiology, we have lacked trained teachers. To the curious boy and girl, the study of life can become a fascinating topic. Thirty minutes a week from the age of 10 onward will create an army of alert young people who will prove to themselves and their elders that normal well being is the best bulwark for a happy and productive life.

KISSING "BUGS."

Mrs. W. writes: My mother-in-law nearly always has a cold sore on her upper lip. When my husband kisses her, he invariably develops one also but when I kiss her, I never have any trouble. How do you account for this difference?

REPLY.

You are immune. He is susceptible. A virus is responsible for the lesions, which are likely to develop whenever resistance drops.

EGG WHITE.

E. V. writes: I had a breast removed [malignancy] and now friends tell me that I should not eat the white of egg as cancer may return. Anything to this?

REPLY.

Nothing. Indulge to your heart's content, with due consideration for your digestive apparatus. Too much of any good thing, however, is more than enough.

NOT A RESULT.

I. D. writes: Is constipation a common aftermath of typhoid fever?

REPLY.

Not necessarily. It all depends upon the diet and the formation of proper habits.

NESTS.

M. O. writes: Are spores germs?

REPLY.

In one sense they are figurative seeds in which certain microbes rest. Under favorable conditions, they will germinate.

THE REFEREE IS TAKING A VERY ACTIVE SIDE IN THE GAME

Front Views & Profiles

By MARCIA WINN

Revised Mother Goose.

Just about the nicest description of flying bombs we've seen so far was contained in a letter an American in England wrote to his niece, Jennifer, who is 10. It is so nice that it is here reprinted in its entirety:

Jennifer [wrote her uncle in London,' I'm going to tell you a little story. It is the story of the evil flying bomb and the Savoy hotel.

One day the siren blew very loud and terrifying, and almost before it had stopped there was an angry buzz in the sky. The buzz got louder and louder and pretty soon the Savoy hotel, which is a very refined and gentle institution, looked up from its afternoon tea and saw, coming across the horizon, a thing like a big, ugly beetle with a long stream of fire shooting from its tail.

"Why are you making that fire in the pretty blue sky?" asked the Savoy hotel.

The big, ugly beetle spat out a couple of cinders and snarled:

"Because that's how I fly, that's why, on the big powerful stream of fire."

The Savoy, which is a very happy hotel [especially in the American bar], said:

"But why do you make such a nasty noise as you fly thru the sky? Why don't you sing like the birdies sing?"

The flying bomb, snuggling up to its 2,000 pounds of explosive, said:

But the hotel, looking out of its clear blue windows, gave a wink from room 554, occupied by a lecherous type from Australia, and said:

"But don't you know that this is a very hospitable country, where all the girls love all the strangers, and all the strangers love all the girls?"

But the flying bomb only said "Heil Hitler!" and bugged onward, and onward, and onward.

"Look out!" cried the hotel. "You're going to hit me!"

The flying bomb gave a dirty laugh, which could be heard above the snarl of its jet propulsion motor.

"That's just what I'm trying to do," he said. "They told me Lord Halifax and Morrison and Willy Caxton live here."

The hotel chuckled.

"No, they don't," it said. "They used to during the blitz, but they've all gone away. Why don't you try for the air ministry?"

Well, this kind of talk went on for a long time, because you can hear the flying bombs from a long way away. Eventually its motor died and, like a seven year locust, it just fell to the ground. Now, as it happened, it hit an old ladies' home, because all flying bombs either hit orphanages, churches, hospitals, or old ladies' homes. I know this is true because I read it in the paper.

The moral of the story is this: Because the nasty, snarling flying bomb was so wicked, it landed on an old ladies' home, where it could not possibly have a good time.

If it had been a good flying bomb it would have landed on a home for girls, where it could have had some fun.

D-Days and H-Hours.

Maybe I'm dreaming,
It seems so to me,
With each allied invasion
That brings victory
The weather acts wild
And goes on a spree.

—Mary A. Ganey.

Army Pastime.

An army corporal with a lot of time for mental arithmetic has figured out that since he enlisted two years ago he has stood in army lines a total of 5,050 minutes. His conclusion: "You're always hurrying up to wait in the army."

Pique or Narcissism?

Lipstick has been used with a fine disregard for war time shortages on the walls of the tunnel leading to a north side beach to proclaim to the world that "Charlene blends with Harold," "Joe loves Ruth," and "Mary goes for Frank." Recenty a new announcement appeared. It stated bluntly, "Clint loves Clint."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

BRITISH PROPAGANDA IN MOVIES.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—The other day THE TRIBUNE called attention in an editorial to the century old practice of misrepresenting and running down of other peoples, which the British use in their news reports to their colonies and other areas. There is a systematic misrepresentation in the other direction which is fully as bad, even worse. I lived in England for a while, so I can talk with some knowledge of the facts.

The movie, "Mrs. Miniver," is aimed to show a typical Englishman's reaction to Dunkirk. The house he lived in was palatial compared with anything the average Englishman lives in. He has a fine launch, a gardener, a cook, and a seamstress—all a lot of tripe. Then there is a movie now going the rounds, "The White Cliffs of Dover." Here the house is a mansion, the Englishman a lord, and the American girl is pictured as too ashamed to take a full look at the king.

It is time Americans see thru this constant misrepresentation and learn the facts. The average American family lives in a better house than the average English family, it goes further in school, it reads more books, dresses better, has more cultural advantages, and the home is kept cleaner. Wait until the boys come home. These trumped-up misrepresentations of English life will meet some loud laughter.

FRAZIER HUNT'S STORIES.

Pontiac, Mich., Aug. 23.—Frazier Hunt is to be congratulated for preparing, and THE TRIBUNE for giving us, a condensed extract from his Pacific war history. And as for the failure to bring Rear Adm. Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Short to trial for the Pearl Harbor disaster, I believe the administration dares not let the real facts be known before election. From the first I have felt the real blame for that was right in Washington; and we know the desertion of Gen. MacArthur and our boys in the Pacific was due to White House action, or rather inaction.

It is stated over and over that the soldiers are all for Roosevelt, but in view of what has gone before and is still taking place in the Pacific, I cannot, for the life of me, see why a single member of our army and navy, their parents, or relatives would want to vote for a fourth term.

JAMES W. CAPP.

TOO SIMPLE.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 22.—I notice in the morning dispatches that the government has a huge surplus of foodstuffs at home and abroad. I wonder if any one ever thought of taking off the rationing of foods in the United States and letting the people have what they want to eat.

ROBERT J. BANNISTER.

SAYS ANY FARE IS TOO MUCH.

Effingham, Ill., Aug. 23.—I see that war veterans released from active service and on their way home, will get a cut rate in fares on railroads operating in Illinois. My opinion is that the government should pay their way to their destination.

MRS. TOM KIRKE.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Until we have a change of national administration wouldn't it be appropriate to change the historical old gentleman's name from Uncle Sam to Uncle Sucker?

SIDNEY HUNTS A BARGAIN.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Sidney Hillman and his pro-Communist cohorts are tearing at the throat of America on the theory that money can do anything in America even to wrecking our nation's ideals and sovereignty. Yet, experience and history show Americans will go just so far with anything that's at variance with the welfare of their country.

At any rate, Nov. 7 will be an interesting and momentous day in our history. It will tell the story of whether a whole nation can sell itself down the river for a paltry 6 million dollars, or whatever amount the Hillman gang can blackjack out of American laboring men. This is about 4½ cents a person, and doggone cheap vote buying, if you ask me. These Russian born political leaders certainly have picayune ideas about what it costs to buy votes. An insult, I call it. Gosh, look what it cost the New Deal in the public's money to buy the second and third terms!

AMERICAN.

COME AND GET IT.

Waukegan, Ill., Aug. 23.—Lend-lease gives away our durable goods, the international food conference gives away our food, the united nations' relief and rehabilitation administration gives away our clothes, the Bretton Woods conference gives away our money. What do they want now at this Dumbarton Oaks conference—the capital dome?

All this talk of international cooperation is simply another way of saying "how much can we hook the American taxpayers for this time?" I'll cooperate with a millionaire any time on that basis; I do the cooperating, he pays the bills.

FLOYD A. THOMPSON.

HOGGING THE TABLES.

Huzo, Okla., Aug. 22.—Last Sunday you published a letter from "Tillie" deploring the fact she was not allowed to sit 45 minutes in a restaurant to loaf and smoke while other people were waiting to eat. I say more power to the waiter who told her that "others were waiting."

I've been on both sides of the counter as a waiter and as a customer. Nothing is more distracting than to have customers sit and sit and sit and fill their plates, glasses, etc. with cigaret ashes. I know, too, how it is to have to wait in line for a place to sit to eat.

POWER OF ATTORNEY.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—1. Please explain the term, "power of attorney." 2. What rights and privileges go with the power?

CORRIGAN CASE COURT-MARTIAL REPORT ORDERED

Senate Group Asks Full Story by Navy.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—The senate war investigating committee tonight asked the navy and justice departments for "full reports" on what had been done with respect to a court-martial for John D. Corrigan, navy commander who was suspended pending investigation of business relations between his former engineering firm and navy contractors.

Comdr. J. D. Corrigan.

Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] directed Rear Adm. George F. Hussey Jr., chief of the navy ordnance bureau, and Hugh O'Donnell, justice department representative, to submit the reports.

Ferguson, acting chairman, said the committee had recommended a court-martial several months ago and, while Adm. Hussey was on the witness stand, asked, "What has been done about it?"

"Why Is It Held Up?"

Hussey said his office had "turned over the material it has to the judge advocate general's office and the matter is in his hands."

Ferguson then asked O'Donnell if there was any understanding between the judge advocate general and the justice department. O'Donnell said he thought the two offices had agreed any court-martial would be held up pending the outcome of a grand jury investigation now in progress in New York.

"But why is it being held up?" Ferguson demanded.

Not in Position to Say.

"I don't believe I am in a position to say," O'Donnell responded.

The committee's action came after all day hearings—a resumption of a committee inquiry made several months ago—during which there were these highlights:

1. Corrigan, appearing in civilian clothes, declined to answer any further questions. He said he was standing on his constitutional rights and refusing to testify upon advice of counsel.

2. Robert H. Wells, president of the engineering and production management firm of Corrigan, Osburne & Wells, testified that "possibly $300,000" of the firm's $650,000 gross income last year was from clients having navy production contracts. When Ferguson asked whether the firm's business had benefited by Corrigan's taking a leave of absence in 1942 to enter the navy, Wells replied: "Quite the reverse, Senator. I think we have lost jobs because he was in the navy."

Rejected Parts Reclaimed.

3. Anthony Rither, former head of production control at an Elmira, N. Y., bombsight plant, testified that 20,000 parts rejected when the plant was under management by Remington-Rand were taken from a scrap pile and used after the navy took over the plant and placed it under management of Carl L. Norden, Inc. Ritner said production was increased by this means. Under the Norden management, men from Corrigan, Osburne & Wells were sent to the plant as consultants. "All they did was sit, day after day," Ritner said.

4. T. H. Barth, president of Carl L. Norden, Inc., testified Corrigan got "navy consent" before Barth employed Corrigan, Osburne & Wells at a $50,000 fee for services at Norden's New York plant. Barth said later the firm was engaged for services at the Elmira plant for $40,000.

G. O. P. CHOOSES SOUTH DAKOTAN AS WOMEN'S AID

Mrs. Guy G. Frary, of Vermillion, S. D., yesterday was appointed assistant to Miss Marion E. Martin, assistant chairman of the Republican national committee. She will be in charge of women's headquarters of the Republican national committee, it was announced by Republican National Chairman Herbert Brownell.

Formerly Mrs. Paul Rewman, Mrs. Frary has been an active worker in Republican politics for more than 30 years. She was one of the leaders in the women's suffrage movement and served from 1920 to 1925 on the South Dakota board of charities and corrections. Born in Castleton, Ill., Mrs. Frary moved to Hutchinson, Kan., at an early age and attended high school and Salt Lake Business college there.

She predicted that women will hold the power in the coming election "if they vote as anticipated."

Separation Suit Filed Against Manufacturer

Copeland L. Bradford, 44, a furniture manufacturer, was sued for separate maintenance yesterday by his wife, Gladys, 44, of Marengo, McHenry county, who charged in a suit filed in Superior court that he deserted her Nov. 19, 1943. They were married June 17, 1926. Mrs. Bradford stated he owns nine furniture factories and has an income of more than $100,000 a year. She said she believed he conveyed some of his assets to his secretary, Elizabeth Madden, in anticipation of the suit.

Indicted Eloper

Mrs. Mary Wassinger, indicted yesterday by federal grand jury after she and fellow worker at Russek's, swank Michigan av. shop, eloped on absconded funds, abandoning families.

U. S. INDICTS PAIR AFTER LOVE TRIP ON FIRM'S CASH

Credit Manager and Cashier Accused.

When Andrew C. Johnson, former credit manager at Russek's, a swank Michigan av. apparel shop, suggested to Mrs. Mary Wassinger, 32, the attractive cashier, last April 19 that they abandon their families and run away together, Mrs. Wassinger said she couldn't think of it. The next day, she explained, was her eldest daughter's birthday.

Andrew C. Johnson.

But four days later, on a Saturday, Johnson, with nearly $10,000 of the store's cash in his pocket, and Mrs. Wassinger, allegedly with $2,000 worth of its choicest fashions in her ultra-smart luggage, met in a loop hotel room, drove to the Union station in a rented car which they abandoned there, and set forth on an odyssey which took them from coast to coast.

Leave Six in Their Families.

They spent the store's money, they told Assistant United States Atty. George G. Kelly, in New York, Camden, N. J., Philadelphia, St. Louis, Houston, Tex., Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Oakland, Cal. Mrs. Wassinger denied, however, that her furs had been stolen.

They left behind them Johnson's wife, Mary Elizabeth, and a 6 year old son, Eric, and Mrs. Wassinger's three children. Mrs. Wassinger's husband, Pvt. Walter Wassinger, is a marine in the South Pacific.

In Oakland, Mrs. Wassinger worked as a dentist's assistant and tried to pick winners at Santa Anita. Johnson worked for a time in an Oakland liquor store until he got a job as manager of a night club in near-by Richmond, California shipbuilding center.

It was there that federal bureau of investigation agents found him a month ago and asked him about leaving Chicago without notifying his draft board. Then they arrested him for violation of the selective service act.

U. S. Jury Indicts Couple.

After his arrest, the story of the coast to coast odyssey came out, and complaints filed here against Johnson and Mrs. Wassinger came to light. Both were returned here for trial last week.

Yesterday the federal grand jury returned indictments before Judge Walter J. La Buy in federal District court, charging the pair with violation of the national stolen property act. It is against federal statutes to take another's money to New York. Camden, N. J., Philadelphia, St. Louis, Houston, Tex., Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Oakland.

Mme. Chiang Due in U. S. from Brazil for Treatment

New York, Aug. 29 (AP).—Dr. H. H. Kung, Chinese minister of finance, announced today that Mme. Chiang Kai-shek would come to the United States from Brazil, where she is currently under treatment, for additional medical care. Dr. Kung, brother-in-law of Mme. Chiang, asserted that the wife of China's generalissimo was ill, but not seriously ill.

NAVY TO HONOR 65 RADAR-RADIO FIRMS ON SEPT. 10

A two and one-half hour program will feature the presentation of a certificate of achievement by the navy to 65 companies which are members of the Radar-Radio Industries of Chicago and their employes at Wrigley field Sunday, Sept. 10, it was announced yesterday.

Leslie F. Muter, president of the group, said 100 navy actors and entertainers will be in the cast of "The Fleet's In!" in addition to military and swing bands and two orchestras. Final plans will be made at a meeting today in the Stevens hotel of representatives from all member companies.

Muter said it is expected more than half the 70,000 employes of the industry here will attend. The award, to be presented by Adm. A. S. Carpender, commandant of the 9th naval district, is the first to be given by the navy to an entire industrial unit. Chicago radar plants, Adm. Carpender said, produce half of all the electronic equipment purchased by the navy, and more than one-third of all made in this country.

CLOWN FINISHES HIS CIRCUS ACT AND DROPS DEAD

Daniel M. McPride, a circus clown for 30 years, died of a heart attack yesterday a moment after he and his dog, Skippy, had finished their act which closes the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus in Soldiers' field.

The act was one in which McPride, wearing baggy trousers, manipulated trap doors which permitted Skippy to walk thru the trouser legs. McPride had just walked into the dressing room when he collapsed. A physician pronounced him dead.

A spokesman for the circus said McPride had been with Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey for 20 years.

CIO'S CAMPAIGN MOVE IRRITATES RADIO INDUSTRY

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Recent efforts of the CIO political action committee to seize broadcasting time and browbeat radio have irritated the industry, it was indicated yesterday at the war conference of the National Association of Broadcasters in the Palmer House.

"The CIO-PAC applied at the wrong window," said J. Harold Ryan of Washington, D. C., president of the association. "They should have come to us. Instead, they went to the FCC [federal communications commission]."

"What do the industry and the station executives think of the PAC's attitude?" Ryan was asked. He said he does not wish to get "into a quarrel with the CIO."

Fail to Advance Cause.

"But I'll say this," he added. "The PAC's attitude has not furthered its objectives. Nor will it."

The PAC recently sent to unions and union members thousands of booklets in which it declared that "so far radio has done little for organized and unorganized workers" and it urged all to demand time to set forth the CIO's problems on the radio. The brochure asserted that CIO members and union officials "have a right" to station time and urged those who meet with rebuffs to report to headquarters.

The PAC then indicated it would at once go to the FCC with such cases and battle for the time.

Other features at the war conference were several addresses and telegrams from Generals Eisenhower, MacArthur and Marshall, President Roosevelt and Gov. Dewey of New York, Republican nominee for President.

Dewey for Radio Freedom.

Gov. Dewey pointed out that the Republican platform "stands for freedom of radio," and added, "That plank in my party's platform I heartily endorse."

Robert A. Lovett, assistant secretary of war for air, was the principal speaker at luncheon of the conference. He told the members that the future goal of the United States is "to maintain at all times the finest air force in the world."

"We must know by now what it means to mankind to allow gangsters to build up and command a modern air force," he added. "This has provided us with the costliest education in all history.

Surpluses One of Costs.

"A first class air force depends on quality. This means constant improvement and replacement. Surpluses must be accepted realistically for what they are—one of the great costs of modern warfare."

Llewellyn Harries, official of the National Retail Dry Goods association, told the members that businesses which use the radio must promote their programs by advertising. He indicated they must use the newspapers in conjunction with radio. He told of a survey and said: "Figures prove that only 1 per cent of stores using radio promote it and that only 25 per cent of the personnel know what the program is or how it gets out over the air."

Three Sailors Sought for Beating, Robbing Host

Police last night were seeking three sailors who early yesterday beat and robbed Anthony Centobi, 30, of $10 in his room in the Lawson Y. M. C. A., 30 W. Chicago av. Rufus Guillory, of New Orleans, La., who also is staying at the Y.M.C.A., told police that he and Centobi met the sailors Monday night and went to Centobi's room to drink. The robbery occurred after Guillory left the room. The men overlooked $140 Centobi had hidden in his shoes, police were told.

Woman Gas Attendant Freed of Bookie Charge

Mrs. Joseph Horrell, 42, of 7040 S. May st., who was accused of operating a handbook in a gasoline station at 1125 W. 69th st., was dismissed yesterday when arraigned before Judge William V. Daly in South State st. court. Police admitted that they had no warrant when they arrested her and allegedly found scratch sheets and other betting equipment.

UNWED MOTHER WINS HER FIGHT TO REGAIN CHILD

Judge Edmund K. Jarecki in County court yesterday vacated the decree by which Mr. and Mrs. Paul Waldron of Detroit, Mich., adopted the infant son of Miss Angeline Kolodziej, 20, of 1453 Huron st., and ordered the foster parents to return the child to the unwed mother.

The child was born June 15 in the Peoples hospital at 255 W. Cermak rd., and Miss Kolodziej signed a consent to the adoption on June 19. Dr. Andrew B. Rotche of 1703 Madison st., gave her the papers to sign. Miss Kolodziej, in her suit to regain custody, contended she did not intend to give her son away.

"Considering the mother's condition, there is no question but that she was taken advantage of and imposed upon," Judge Jarecki stated. "Children are not chattel and are not to be disposed of so easily. I do not think the consent was obtained in a proper manner."

Dr. Rotche testified that Dr. S. G. Seinfeld of 561 Diversey pkwy., who gave Miss Kolodziej prenatal care, told him she had asked that an adoption be arranged.

SLASHES OWN THROAT, BOOKED.

INDICT WOMAN IN $2,502 HINES POSTAL THEFT

Mrs. Marie Amrick, 33, of 2207 S. 9th av., Maywood, formerly an assistant postmaster at the Edward J. Hines Jr. Memorial hospital, was charged with embezzlement of $2,502 and forgery of postal certificates totaling $3,002 in a federal grand jury indictment returned yesterday before Judge Walter J. La Buy in federal District court. Assistant United States Atty. Jack A. Welfeld said the shortage was revealed by an audit of postoffice funds. Mrs. Amrick, who is at liberty on bond, denies the charges.

REPORT BOOKS TO BE ASKED ON STATE AUTOS

The state's attorney's office yesterday was reportedly preparing a petition for a subpena duces tecum to obtain books and records from dealers showing the sale of automobiles to the state and the sale of state cars to dealers. Records of the state purchasing department were being studied by John Burns, state's attorney's auditor. The investigation was begun to determine whether dealers made excessive profits in the automobile transactions.

EXPECT 350,000 SERVICE VOTES IN COOK COUNTY

99 Pct. of Applicants to Get Ballots.

150,000 Downstate

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29 (AP).—An estimated 150,000 applications from Illinois servicemen and women for state absentee ballots have been received to date by the secretary of state's office, an increase of 90,000 in less than two weeks. The daily rate exceeded 5,000 last week, but about 16,000 came in yesterday. Approximately 50,000 or more have been received by county clerks since June 1.

John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the county election commissioners, announced yesterday he is preparing for 300,000 absentee votes from men and women in the army and navy. Voting in precincts in Cook county outside the jurisdiction of the commissioners is expected to bring this total well above 350,000.

County Clerk Michael J. Flynn expressed confidence yesterday that 99 per cent of army and navy men and women desiring to vote in the Nov. 7 election will have no difficulty casting their ballots under existing state and local election machinery.

Have Air Mail Priority.

Flynn's statement was in direct contradiction to charges by Sen. Lucas and State's Atty. Courtney that a large number of Illinois service men would be cheated out of their vote under present Illinois election laws. The anticipated 350,000 army and navy votes compares with approximately 450,000 Cook county men now in military service.

All ballots will be sent to and returned from the soldier or sailor by mail, Flynn pointed out. He cited the recent receipt of an application five days after it had been written by a soldier in Guam. The ballots are scheduled to receive A-2 priority in overseas air mail, being handled second only to official army, navy, and governmental dispatches.

Both United States postal applications and those printed by Flynn and the election commissioners are being received. In an effort to give every service man possible the opportunity to vote, V-mail letters also are being accepted. Where these do not fulfill all the requirements of a regular application, such blanks will be inclosed with the ballots and filled out by the soldier or sailor when he votes.

6,000 Applications a Day.

Flynn said 105,000 applications for absentee ballots have been received up to last Sunday. The daily rate of 6,000 applications is expected to increase as election day approaches.

Ballots for Yanks

(Story in adjoining column.)

He expressed confidence that by Sept. 15, when election officials hope to begin mailing ballots, the Cook county total will exceed 200,000.

Most of the applications received so far are from men overseas. Mailing of ballots to soldiers and sailors outside the United States is expected to continue up to the middle of October. The last few weeks before election will be devoted entirely to handling absentee applications and ballots of the soldier and sailor voters within the territorial limits of the United States.

SET UP VOTING MACHINERY FOR YANKS IN PACIFIC

WITH THE AMERICAL INFANTRY DIVISION SOMEWHERE IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 29 (AP).—Japs or no Japs, jungles or no jungles, American doughboys, combat veterans of Guadalcanal and Bougainville, will have full opportunity to vote in the forthcoming Presidential election.

Voting machinery has been set up in strict accordance with war department regulations and the policies of the various states by the division judge advocate general, Lt. Col. Wallace W. Orr of 1249 Richmond drive, Wilmette, Ill.

Col. Orr has designated officers in each regiment and company as voting officers.

Display Ballot Information.

"The first step," Col. Orr informed these officers, "is to make sure each man knows exactly what his rights are, what provision his state has made for his voting and to make available form requests for absentee ballots."

Voting information is displayed on bivouac area bulletin boards. Instructional meetings are being held. Charts setting forth the qualifications necessary for voting in each state have been distributed.

Expects Heavy Vote.

"To accomplish secret voting and facilitate ready dispatch of the marked ballot back to the voting district," said Col. Orr, "the ballots sent to the war theater are handled separately thruout by the postal service.

"The postal officer delivers them directly to the voting officer, who in turn delivers each ballot to the proper applicant. After the ballot has been secretly marked, the voting officer certifies its authenticity. He then returns the ballot to the postal officer, who sends it on to its destination in time to be validated and counted."

No political campaigning is permitted. But interest in the election is lively among the combat doughboys and Col. Orr said he anticipated a heavy vote among the soldiers.

SON OF JURIST.

Lt. Col. Orr is the son of Warren H. Orr, former chief justice of the Illinois Supreme court. Young Orr was a captain in the Illinois National Guard in 1940 and was promoted to his present rank last January. He was a law partner of his father, specializing in appellate cases, before his army service. His wife, Frances, and daughter, Jane, 2 years old, live at 1249 Richmond lane, Wilmette.

BLACK PENCILS PUT TO BRICKER AS OHIO ISSUE

Columbus, O., Aug. 29 (AP).—An argument about black lead pencils swirled tonight around Gov. Bricker, the Republican Vice Presidential nominee, and developed into a major pre-campaign issue in Ohio.

State auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, a Democrat, issued a statement accusing Bricker of "deliberately trying to prevent an honest soldier vote," and said he would go to court to compel the state to send a pencil to every soldier requesting a November election ballot.

Law Requires Black.

Ohio law requires that ballots be marked with a black lead pencil. A week ago Democratic leaders and spokesmen for the CIO demanded that Bricker authorize a special session of the legislature convening next Tuesday to relax the statute so absentee voters could mark ballots with any instrument at hand. Many men in front lines don't have pencils, they contended.

Bricker Defends Color.

Bricker replied that he felt the lead pencil provision was a "clean election law" and said election boards were being instructed to count only those absentee ballots marked with a black pencil. To change the system, he said, would destroy "the secrecy of the ballot" by making it possible to determine how persons vote. Later, however, he said he had "not closed the door" on the issue and would study it further.

Ferguson, who was Ohio's favorite son at the Democratic national convention, asserted in an open letter to Bricker that Ohio law provided that each voter be furnished a pencil with which to mark his ballot, and he wanted a pencil sent each soldier.

W. CHESTERFIELD LOSES PROTEST ON HOUSING PLAN

Judge Walter J. LaBuy in Federal court yesterday denied the petition of a group of Negro property owners of the West Chesterfield community to vacate an order issued July 20 by Judge Elwyn R. Shaw granting the government immediate possession of a tract of 120 parcels of real estate near the Negro development for a housing project.

The petitioners charged that the housing project would depreciate the value of their property, which they claimed formed the finest Negro residential development in the United States. Judge La Buy ruled that in the absence of fraud his court was powerless to interfere with the federal housing commissioner.

He allowed Atty. Aaron Payne, representing the property owners, an additional 10 days in which to file an amended petition.

AFL CARPENTERS UNION IS SUED FOR ACCOUNTING

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 29 [Special].—An accounting of funds of a Baltimore local of the AFL carpenters union during the period from 1927 to 1943 when the local was administered by the international union is asked in a suit filed in Circuit court here today.

The suit names the international union and its officers, including President William L. Hutcheson, as defendants. Hutcheson was out of the city today and Frank Duffy, international general secretary, said there would be no comment.

The complaint charged international officers with withdrawing $105,000 from the local's bank account, and said $4,833 was spent for automobiles which the local did not receive. Expenditure of $89,763 for "miscellaneous organizing expenses" was listed as a subject for inquiry.

Boy, oh boy—think of a big bowlful of those crisp-toasted whole wheat flakes. Surrounded by rich milk and juicy fresh fruit. Real whole grain nourishment and delicious "second helping" flavor in milk, fruit, and Wheaties, famous "Breakfast of Champions."

Four Gasoline Station Operators Held to Jury

United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday held four gasoline station operators to the grand jury in bonds of $1,500 each when they were arraigned on charges of possessing counterfeit A-12 coupons. The defendants were Ruben Fivelson, 31, of 1633 S. Lawndale av., LeRoy Page, 33, of 6131 S. Morgan st., David Zand, 36, of 7016 Merrill av., and William Barksdale, 37, Negro, of 4525 S. Michigan av. All but Barksdale, who pleaded not guilty, waived examination.

Chief McGinnis Makes Arrest in Bookie Raid

Chief John McGinnis of the sheriff's police raided a handbook at 662 Archer av., Argo, yesterday and arrested Herbert Cronin, 48, of Justice Park, as the keeper of a gambling house. Cronin was released on $100 bond for appearance tomorrow before Justice of the Peace Henry Pendl in the Willow Springs county highway police court.

A frail boy loved to READ . . . and AMERICA SWEPT THE SEAS

Nine o'clock. The night wind rattles the shutters of Salem and makes the dim flame flicker in the rushlight by which young Nathaniel Bowditch sits writing with a quill pen.

The store has long since closed, but still the boy writes on, copying laboriously in longhand the books which he loves, and cannot afford to buy.

Thirty volumes in his own handwriting remain today to attest the devotion of this frail but indomitable spirit. And it was in large measure the knowledge which he gained from constant reading which enabled him, at 29, to revolutionize the science of navigation and make American Clipper ships the fleetest and most successful in the world.

Prior to the publication of Bowditch's great work on celestial navigation in 1802, all sea-going ships sailed by dead reckoning. Their course was erratic, and therefore slow.

American Clipper ships, using Bowditch's method, began to make the trip to the Orient and back in phenomenally short time. And because they were swift, they quickly captured the profitable China trade in tea, silks, spices, and other popular new commodities which contributed so much to the growth of our infant republic.

Today, every ship that sails the seas—every modern Clipper of the air—fares more safely and swiftly because of Nathaniel Bowditch.

Without reading there can be no true growth in thought or knowledge, and before reading there was none. For only through the written word can ideas be recorded completely and permanently . . . only through the unhurried eye of the reader can mind speak unrestrictedly to mind.

People like to read, and they like particularly to read of those things which are presented in the pages of The American Weekly . . . what people are thinking . . . what they are doing . . . their hopes, fears, faiths . . . their sorrows and tears, their tragedies and laughter. The story of people, and the things people live by, is the greatest story in the world.

This story, and the exciting story of modern science, art, medicine, literature, explorations, are brought regularly to more than 7,750,000 families by The American Weekly, the magazine which is distributed through 20 great Sunday newspapers from coast to coast. And because they are written so clearly and authoritatively, articles published in The American Weekly are used widely in the classrooms of schools and colleges throughout the United States.

Can anyone doubt that the manufacturer who places his product or his company name in such a setting is making use of the greatest force known in advertising?

Day by Day on the FARM

The FARM by Gail Compton

Aug. 29, 1944.

THE Angus herd presents quite a show every morning around 11 o'clock. It took the cows only a few days to learn that at this hour they could expect a wagonload of fresh cut field corn to put in its appearance.

Now, about a half an hour before feeding time, the animals begin to come out of the woods and gather before the gate. They press together in a tight bunch while the bewildered calves frisk nervously around the edges of the herd. One by one the cows lift their heads and send a plaintive bellow wafting over the fields to where the men are cutting corn.

Cows Follow Wagon.

When the wagon finally arrives the cows act as if they were crazy. They lumber after the wagon, mooing and snorting. One would believe they hadn't eaten for two days. When the feed is pitched off the cows remain until the last stalk is devoured.

The rain which recently fell upon the parched farm fields came none too soon. Before this much-needed moisture arrived the pastures had been grazed down to nothing. However, the cool weather which followed the rain has not helped to bring back the pastures as rapidly as would have been possible with a hot sun. Right now the meadows still do not have enough grass to carry the stock. This has made it necessary to cut about 10 acres of corn as well as some oats for feed.

The men are moving thru the different corn fields cutting the green stalks. They choose stalks that are not growing too well but which will furnish good food for the stock. The kernels are filled out fairly well but still are in the milk. If hot weather comes along the kernels will begin to dent in a short time.

Hay Making Delayed.

The drouth delayed hay making considerably and the farm now is getting in its second cutting of hay. Usually around this time the men are starting to work on the third cutting. All of the barns at the farm are packed with hay, as the first cutting was unusually heavy. Where the second cutting will be stored is a mystery. One of the barns can take a few more bales and some of the forage can go into the silo. This, however, will not take care of all the fields.

Undoubtedly a second cutting will not be taken from a few spots. The second growth was stunted by the dry weather and if cut a second time would not make enough growth to protect the ground at frost time. Pasturing these fields would be a good way to handle them.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

PREVIOUS articles in this series have covered the important points on seeding a completely new lawn. Much of the same data is applicable to reseeding an established lawn.

Gardeners who have a thin, weedy lawn will find that proper autumn rehabilitation will result in a thick turf the following spring. The first step is to cut the present turf short [about 1 inch]. If the soil is dry it should be watered with a rotary sprinkler until the surface is moist. The next step is to apply turf fertilizer at the rate of one pound to each 100 square feet. After the topsoil has partially dried a heavy garden rake should be used to scarify the topsoil thoroly and give the fertilizer a more even distribution and uproot dead or weak surface grass.

A heavy raking will remove poorly rooted grass, create a better seedbed, and expose crab grass, rock clover, and other weeds, which then can be easily removed. Further steps in reseeding will be outlined in this space tomorrow.

[ADVERTISMENT]

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills

Paralysis Cases Exceed 6,000; Total Rising.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—The number of infantile paralysis cases thruout the nation, at the highest level since the 1916 epidemic, continues to mount, and the United States public health service reported today that "the peak is not in sight."

Latest figures for the nation show 6,258 cases thru Aug. 19, compared with 4,058 in the corresponding period last year and 17,375 thru the end of August, 1916.

Nation wide figures on paralysis deaths are not available, but a survey by the Associated Press showed 169 fatalities in nine states, including 63 in Erie county, New York.

School Opening Delayed.

Opening of schools has been delayed as much as a month in some areas. Children under 14 have been banned from swimming pools and movies in Kentucky and those under 12 in Milwaukee, Wis., have been placed under house quarantine.

There is some evidence of a slightly downward trend in North Carolina and Kentucky, two of the sections hardest hit, but authorities say this is offset by increases in New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and the District of Columbia.

Altho there has been some increase in Massachusetts, the New England area has had few cases. Incidence also is low in the mountain states.

1,250 Cases Reported in Week.

For the week ended Aug. 19 there were 1,250 new cases reported in the nation, compared with 1,015 for the preceding week. The increase represented the largest numerical weekly increase since the outbreak began. In that week, cases were reported in all states except Rhode Island, South Dakota, Idaho, New Mexico, and Nevada, but all of those states have reported cases in weeks past.

An indication of the upward trend was seen in partial reports for the week ended Aug. 26. This showed 1,065 new cases in 18 states, compared with 843 new cases for those same states the week before.

Among states reporting mild or normal incidence were California, Kansas, Utah, Florida, Arkansas, Arizona, Missouri, Wyoming, and Oklahoma.

VETERAN G. O. P. LEADER'S RITES ARE SET TODAY

Services for Charles [Silver] Ames, 87, a Republican political leader in Kane county for nearly half a century, will be held at 2 p. m. today in his home in Kaneville. He was injured Aug. 12 in a fall from a ladder, and died Monday in Copley hospital, Aurora.

He was a member of the Kane county Republican central committee for almost 50 years, and served several terms as Kaneville township highway commissioner.

His hair and mustache turned white when he was in his early 30s, and political associates first called him Silver at a meeting in Springfield. He is survived by a son, Ben, of Kaneville, and three grandchildren.

CAMERAS WORTH $100 STOLEN.

Perry Peters, 6202 Blackstone av., complained to police yesterday that burglars broke into his automobile at 123 E. Ohio st., and stole two cameras valued at $100.

QUARANTINE PUT ON YOUTHS OF 10 MORE SUBURBS

52 Cases of Polio in Milwaukee Area.

3 Cases in City

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, said yesterday that the three new cases of infantile paralysis were reported in Chicago in the 24 hour period ended at 9 a. m. They brought the total this year to 73, compared with 317 cases to Aug. 29 last year. Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, county health officer, said no new cases were reported in the preceding 24 hours in the county outside of Chicago.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 29 [Special.—Ten more Milwaukee suburbs last night and today followed the lead of Milwaukee and Shorewood in ordering confinement to premises of children in an effort to halt the spread of an epidemic of infantile paralysis.

The communities in which health officers ordered quarantines are Wauwatosa, Town of Granville, Fox Point, River Hills, Cudahy, West Allis, Whitefish Bay, Town of Lake, Town of Greenfield, and Town of Franklin.

Quarantines previously were ordered in Shorewood, Milwaukee, and the town of Milwaukee. In most cases the quarantines affect children under 12 years of age, altho those in Shorewood and Cudahy apply to children under 16, and in Whitefish Bay to those under 14. The more than 110,000 children will remain out of school until the quarantine is lifted.

Three More Cases Reported.

Three more cases of infantile paralysis were reported today, two in Milwaukee and one in Shorewood. Since the first case was discovered July 6, there have been 52 cases in the Milwaukee area: 32 in Milwaukee, 19 in Shorewood, and one in the town of Wauwatosa. There have been five deaths in Milwaukee and two in Shorewood.

In Madison, Dr. Carl N. Neupert, director of the state board of health, reported there were 92 cases in Wisconsin, including the 52 in Milwaukee county, and said that the outbreak appeared to be more serious than a week ago.

Dr. E. R. Krumbliegel, Milwaukee city health commissioner who ordered the quarantine here, announced that all health department child welfare and dental clinics would be canceled until further notice.

Most Victims Under 12.

The health commissioner reiterated that the quarantine was ordered to apply to children under 12 years of age because, in past outbreaks here, between 72 and 84 per cent of the victims were under that age.

Mayor Bohn today sent a telegram to Basil O'Connor, New York lawyer, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, New York, requesting that an epidemiologist be sent to Milwaukee as soon as possible to survey the situation.

Whether the Ringling Brothers & Barnum & Bailey circus would be permitted to give shows here Sept. 8, 9, and 10 at the state fair grounds had not been determined today.

Clark st. and in St. Thomas of Canterbury church. Mr. D'Ambrosio died Monday in Passavant hospital. He is survived by his widow, Mary, of 5060 Marine dr., and two daughters, Mary Jane and Gloria.

PISZCZEK HOME AFTER FOUNDING POLIO HOSPITAL

Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, Cook county public health director, returned yesterday from Hickory, N. C., where he was sent July 17 at the request of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to organize an emergency hospital for the treatment of infantile paralysis patients.

Dr. Piszczek said the state has 610 cases to date and that Catawba county alone has 70 cases. He said he designed the hospital, a former fresh air camp, and outlined the course of treatment for some 370 patients. When the site was acquired by the national foundation two months ago, the camp had only 40 beds, he added. Army tents were set up to take care of extra patients.

Two other temporary hospitals have been built. Dr. Mildred Jackson, staff pediatrician of the Cook county health unit, has been sent to Hickory to replace Dr. Piszczek.

HEALTH QUIZ

	YES	NO
Do you have poor digestion?	☐	☐
Do you feel headachy after eating?	☐	☐
Do you get sour or upset easily?	☐	☐
Do you feel tired—listless?	☐	☐

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 10¢ and 25¢.

DR. MOOREHEAD, DEAN OF PLASTIC SURGEONS, DIES

Dr. Frederick B. Moorehead, 68, prominent oral and plastic surgeon and professor at the University of Illinois medical school, died yesterday in Presbyterian hospital after an illness of several months. His home was in the Webster hotel.

Dr. F. B. Moorehead.

Dr. Moorehead long had been an authority on plastic surgery. He was a professor in this department at Rush medical college since early in the century and went in similar capacity to the University of Illinois when it took over Rush. He had been on the staff at Presbyterian hospital since 1900.

Much of Dr. Moorehead's work in plastic surgery was on veterans of World War I., helping to establish Chicago as a center of knowledge on oral and plastic surgery.

Dr. Moorehead was divorced by his first wife, Mrs. Marguerite Moorehead, in 1929. He is survived by his second wife, Mrs. Margery Maxwell Moorehead, former opera singer; and two children by his former marriage, Chester Hirst Moorehead, former husband of Constance Bennett, the actress, and Mrs. Dorothy M. Churchill.

FRANK WILHELM, CUDAHY PACKING OFFICIAL, DIES

Frank E. Wilhelm, 62, first vice president of the Cudahy Packing company, died yesterday on the North Western railroad's "Deerpath" while returning to his home at 735 Racine av., Lake Bluff. A coroner's inquest later established that a coronary occlusion was the cause of death.

Frank E. Wilhelm.

Mr. Wilhelm was associated with the Cudahy company for more than 30 years, and came to the Chicago office from the Omaha, Neb., yards in 1912. He was general manager at the Los Angeles, Cal., office from 1925 to 1928, when he returned to Chicago.

He is survived by his widow, Jean Cudahy Wilhelm, daughter of one of the brothers who founded the company; a son, Capt. David Wilhelm, an army bomber pilot in Europe, and a daughter, Mrs. Daggett Harvey of Chicago.

NORRIS REGAINS CONSCIOUSNESS AFTER STROKE

McCook, Neb., Aug. 29 (AP).—George W. Norris, 83, former United States senator from Nebraska, late today appeared to have recovered partial consciousness after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage at his home here this morning, his physicians reported.

The doctors, F. W. Shank and E. F. Leininger, said he had been unconscious until midafternoon. Dr. Shank said Norris, nationally known as an independent, "has a good chance of recovery," and is "resting comfortably."

The hemorrhage caused partial paralysis of the right side of his body, but later today, the doctors said, he was capable of slight movement of his hand and foot on the afflicted side. The doctors reported he recovered sufficiently to show signs of recognition of those about him.

Norris recently accepted the honorary chairmanship of the national political action committee. He was often called the "father of TVA."

Party Next Tuesday to Honor Maj. Tolman on 85th Birthday

BY JUDITH CASS.

A PARTY that Mr. and Mrs. Eric Walter Stubbs give every five years to mark the birthday of her father, Maj. Edgar B. Tolman, will be repeated next Tuesday on his 85th anniversary. It will be a dinner in the Stubbs' Woodlawn av. home, with many old friends of Maj. Tolman there to congratulate the distinguished lawyer.

An addition to the group, which includes several men who have been members of the American Bar association for more than 50 years, will be the youngest male member of the family, Maj. Tolman's great-grandson, 2½ year old James Wilson Button Jr., who with his mother is living with Mr. and Mrs. Stubbs while Ensign Button is serving with the navy. Ensign Button arrived in Chicago on leave yesterday, but it is doubtful whether he will be here Tuesday.

Maj. Tolman, who received the Bar association's highest award, a gold plaque, in 1939, will be sharing legal memories that night with Russell Whitman, Silas H. Strawn, William P. Sidley, John D. Black, Tappan Gregory, Lessing Rosenthal, Charles P. Megan, and Henry P. Chandler, among others. Mr. Chandler, a former partner of Maj. Tolman, is returning from Washington, D. C., especially for the gathering.

Some of those who are unable to come for the dinner, but who have sent their good wishes are former Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, Chief Justice Harlan Stone; Joseph W. Henderson, president of the American Bar association, and Sen. George Wharton Pepper of Pennsylvania.

On the Calendar.

Just back from England, Col. Roy D. Keehn Jr. will be in his element when he attends the Oakbrook horse show Sunday at the Oakbrook polo field in Hinsdale. Col. Keehn, an expert horseman, and his wife, who formerly lived in Hinsdale, will be the Paul Butlers' house guests for the duration of the horse show festivities. The Keehns are en route to San Antonio, Tex. The Butlers also will have Ernest Erskine of Denver and Lt. and Mrs. Eugene T. Scott, who are here from Ottumwa, Ia., as their house guests over the show.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Philip Huffard Jr., former Hinsdale residents now living in Indianapolis, Ind., will stay with Mr. and Mrs. Percival B. Palmer III., who will entertain at cocktails for them Friday. The Butlers are entertaining the horse show committee at cocktails Saturday preceding a formal dance at the Hinsdale Golf club, and Sunday the committee will give a cocktail party at the Oakbrook club for the exhibitors.

A few of those who have taken parking spaces for the show are the John F. Jelkes, the John B. Templetons, the Louis F. Swifts, the Donald Easters, the James A. Hannahs, Gen. and Mrs. Marcellus L. Stockton, and the James Knowlsons.

The Knollwood club has planned an especially festive party for Saturday night, a style show and dance

Bridge Leaders Praise Tribune's New Columnist

Bridge players of Chicago yesterday enthusiastically proclaimed THE TRIBUNE'S announcement that Charles H. Goren, the nation's No. 1 expert and author of bridge, had been engaged to conduct a daily and Sunday column, beginning today. Fellow experts from New York and the east also commended THE TRIBUNE'S move to give its readers the best known authority on the game.

Among the comments were:

FINLEY PORTER, president of the Chicago Contract Bridge association—The only expert of any importance in the bridge world is Charles Goren. Every place you go bridge players are quoting him. I am happy THE TRIBUNE is bringing his column to Chicago.

CHARLES ROSSEN, vice president, Chicago Contract Bridge association—As far as columns go, I think the one by Charles Goren is the best I've seen. He writes extremely interestingly. I congratulate THE TRIBUNE on getting him.

PHIL M. SPINK, treasurer, Chicago Contract Bridge association—Every bridge player I know is glad THE TRIBUNE has engaged Goren. There's no better. His book "Better Bridge for Better Players" is the best thing ever written on bridge.

RALPH KEMPNER, life master player of Chicago and winner last week with Lt. Comdr. R. P. Cunningham of Chicago summer championships open pair event—Goren's the best among the experts. He writes well and entertainingly and THE TRIBUNE couldn't have done better.

ALBERT WEISS, life master player of Chicago—Goren is the best there is, and his writings are head and shoulders above any others. THE TRIBUNE has done a real service to Chicago bridge players in getting his column.

WILLIAM E. McKENNEY, executive secretary and co-founder of the American Contract Bridge league—Goren is the only expert I know who has the ability to explain his theories to the bridge novice. He has the gift of passing on to the beginner his knowledge of the game.

B. JAY BECKER, widely known player and manager of the Cavendish club, leading bridge club of New York City—Goren is an outstanding player and an excellent writer. Switching to his column is a fine idea for THE TRIBUNE.

MRS. HELEN SOBEL, the country's top ranking woman player—Goren is excellent—the outstanding bridge player who writes about the game. In playing, teaching, and writing, there's none better. You could not overemphasize my praise.

WALDEMAR VON ZEDTWITZ, whose fame in the game dates from the early days of auction—Goren is one of the game's most successful tournament players. He has written two important books, both excellent guides to the general bridge playing public. I recommend him highly.

EDWIN BALMER, widely known bridge player and editor of Red Book magazine—Goren not only is a good player, but a fine teacher and writer who has the happy faculty of expressing his thoughts clearly and concisely. His readers are certain to benefit from his advice.

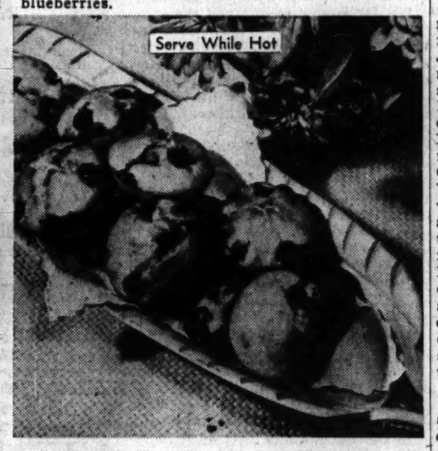
HARRY J. FISHBEIN, manager of famed Mayfair Bridge club in New York City—Goren is a fine writer and a very fine man. I consider him one of the best teachers in the country. His books are expertly written.

Mary Meade Makes a Batch of Blueberry Muffins

1. Sift together 1 2-3 cups sifted flour, 2½ teaspoons baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup sugar. Combine ¾ cup milk with 1 well beaten egg and 3 tablespoons melted fat. Add to dry ingredients.

2. Stir only until flour is dampened. Mixture should be still lumpy. Overmixing causes a tough product, coarse grained and full of tunnels. Fold in 1 cup washed and well drained blueberries.

3. Spoon batter into well greased muffin pans, filling about two thirds full. Bake in 425 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes. When muffins are thoroly baked they will be well browned and firm to the touch. [TRIBUNE Studio Photos.]



4. Remove at once from pans and serve hot for breakfast, lunch, or dinner. A hot bread adds interest to any meal, especially when its a muffin dotted with colorful berries. Recipe makes 10-12 muffins. (Prepared by Mary Meade.)

Opening lead: King of hearts.

Any theory that stresses the importance of finding the best parking place for an indifferent hand must recommend itself to our fancy. An incalculable number of potential profits are turned into losses because of false theories regarding the showing of new suits. The showing of a new suit is in itself not a very drastic act, as some players mistakenly suppose. Considerations of price are paramount in these cases. If it is just as cheap to show a new suit as it is to rebid the old, then by all means ring in the new. Witness today's minor fiasco.

South opened with one spade and North elected to keep the bidding open with a call of one no trump. He had the trick plus, prescribed by the text book, and responded in the hope that partner might be able to name some suit other than spades. Anything would be an improvement. In recent years I have come more and more toward the belief that entirely too many hands are kept alive by the responder. While it is true that an occasional game is unearthed by such tactics, I believe that this slight advantage is more than offset by losses incurred in keeping these sketchy hands open. In this case I must concede that responding with one no trump should have worked out to advantage, but South failed to take advantage of the opportunity.

South decided against leaving the hand in no trump because of his two short suits. With this view we are in accord. He refused to bid two clubs, however, because he feared partner would accuse him of having a good hand and he did not wish to sound "tough." This reasoning is very faulty. A bid of two clubs, which is cheaper than the contemplated rebid of two spades, cannot be construed as necessarily showing greater strength. The logic is simple; at no extra cost we have a chance to find a safer parking place, and if partner does not like clubs he can at no expense return to spades. The showing of a second suit which makes it impossible for partner to return cheaply to the first suit, by inference denotes a strong hand.

The proper rebid of two clubs would have been passed by North and fulfilled with a trick to spare. The two spade contract was defeated 200 points.

Nursery Board Benefit Party Is a Gay Event

BY HARRIETT PRIBBLE.

Any resemblance between yesterday's benefit cocktail party and hat fashion show of the North Avenue Day Nursery board and the corner of State and Madison was purely coincidental. But for two hours the Wedgwood room at Marshall Field & Co., where the youthful board staged one of its perennially successful parties, was every bit as crowded as the "world's busiest corner."

"Everybody in town's here," declared one of the 500 guests who packed the air cooled little room.

Hats were the theme of the afternoon, with the latest in fall millinery displayed in the star shaped windows of four little booths on the stage and described in humorous verses by a crystal gazing master of ceremonies in a swami's robes.

With a roomful of dashing bonnets from which to choose their favorite chapeaux, Carl Brisson, Jere Patterson, and Robert McKenna had a difficult time making a selection. Their choice easily might have been Miss Carla Hawley's turquoise satin sailor, Miss Josephine Muldoon's knot of white peony buds ruffled in dubonnet tulle, or Mrs. Owen West's pyramid of pink roses. When the three winners eventually were announced, Mr. Brisson awarded an armful of red rosebuds to Miss Nancy Davis for her huge navy cartwheel trimmed in navy loops; Mr. Patterson gave his flowers to Mrs. Charles Borland for her striking black chapeau swirled in coq feathers, and Mr. McKenna chose Mrs. Ross Byron's white lace straw with black and white feather wings.

Some of those who gathered around the tea table for hors d'oeuvres and coffee or helped themselves to cocktails passed by a steady stream of waiters were Mrs. Robert Cavenaugh, Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. E. Franklin Motch, the Nelson Thomassons, Mrs. Wayne Wills, the Donald Easters, Mr. and Mrs. Whipple Jacobs, the William Spurgeons, Mrs. John I. Marshall Jr. and her mother, Mrs. Benjamin Bryan; Mrs. C. W. La Porte and her daughter, Barbara; Mrs. William L. Taylor Jr., whose husband, Lt. Taylor, is stationed at Camp Lee, Va.; the William S. Friedmans, Capt. and Mrs. George E. Rose Jr., Mrs. Henry R. Gross, Mrs. Henry Sincere, Miss Muriel MacChesney, and the Robert Lehmanns, she in one of the new snug cloche hats.

Mrs. John Q. Adams Jr. heads the board, which raises funds for the day nursery at 2023 Pierce av.

INSTALMENT XXVII.

A SUBSTITUTE.

It made Carol feel terribly queer inside to know that Bright was gone. It was the first time they had been really separated since their job had begun. Bright was gone, and with luck he might come back.

"Mais certainement!" Lita was saying. "Bring them all in here. This is of a grave seriousness and we must all be in accord about what to do."

"Bien, madame!" The clown went out into the rain again.

She had made tea over a little spirit lamp and they had barely gulped down the hot, sugarless liquid before the circus people began assembling.

There was also Henri, director of the acrobats, and by the time he had crowded in there was no room left for anyone else. The packed interior of the wagon steamed with the damp of their garments, and the weirdness of their appearance was enhanced by the dim light. Professor Rosenblum was seated next to Carol.

"I am wondering," said Carol in a low tone, "how it happens that the acrobats haven't been taken for work in the factories or fields?"

"There are only three," said Rosenblum, "and they are not so strong as you might think. Charles, the little one, is consumptive, and Henri here—there is something wrong with him, too. There may be some other reason that I do not know of, but the new 'masters' generally leave entertainers alone, supposedly because entertainment is good for their troops' morale!" he laughed with mild but genuine amusement at his own use of the last word.

The others were all talking at once and Carol found it hard to follow what they said. Her principal concern now, was about the maps. She could feel them with every movement of her body, and they seemed to burn into her flesh. If the circus was under surveillance, she was no longer safe there, and that meant the maps were endangered also. If only Bright were with her, he would tell her what to do. The paramount thing now was to make sure of rejoining Bright on schedule and having the documents safely with her when she did so.

Charlo, the scout, was sent for and Carol forced herself to listen to him. As far as Carol could make out, Charlo's ostensible function with the circus was the care of its animals, but in reality his more important duty was to remain behind in each town thru which the circus passed and see what information he could pick up in the bistros.

This time he had heard two German soldiers talking at the bar and it was clear from what they said that unusual attention had been given to the Cirque des Champs. It must be that some of its members were suspected—the Professor or perhaps Lita. But if either were to leave the group suddenly that would make suspicion a certainty. Then, too, the appearance of the circus at St. Andre de Nice had been especially commanded. Fresh troops had been moved into the outskirts of the little town only last night. The same thing, Charlo had heard, was happening all the way from Marseilles to the Italian border. If the circus were to turn around and head back towards Grenoble, the only path open to them, they would surely be stopped.

In the end two decisions came out of the fantastic little meeting. One was that to avoid their engagement at St. Andre de Nice was the most suspicious course they could take and that therefore they would continue as originally planned. The The other decision was to permit Carol to remain with her sister and keep out of sight. Knowing the immense importance of getting the maps to North Africa, Lita had insisted upon this. It was evident that Lita was adored by the entire group and her wish that Carol be allowed to remain with them for one more day was granted because of this.

Carol heaved a sigh of relief. By nightfall she would hear from Bright, would in all probability be leaving with him! Her hand strayed to the maps and she patted the clothing which concealed them with a feeling of reassurance. Then the gathering broke up. The cool, clean air swept in as the door opened to disgorge the performers.

An hour later they were plodding thru the rain and wind, a sorry little procession, the sodden and unlovely caricature of a circus led by the ragged camel and headed toward St. Andre de Nice and a fate as uncertain as its faltering gait.

Inside the jolting, swaying wagon Carol sat in her corner trying not to think too far ahead. However, resolves were still possible and there was one she made anew. Those maps were somehow going to North Africa.

"If anything unforeseen happens you can get out in a hurry and run like blazes!" she told herself.

She had decided to abandon the idea of carrying the photographs, because of their bulk. Lita still had those in the dresser and would try to get them out of the country if opportunity offered, or destroy them, if necessary. But the maps were the all-important thing.

Abruptly as it had started, the storm came to an end and when they turned into the little park off the highway where they were to pitch the main tent, the sun was shining brightly again.

A miraculous change came over the circus people. They sprang into a frenzied activity, shouting, laughing, exchanging good-natured greetings with the villagers who gathered around, seemingly from nowhere. In no time at all the main tent was up, its patches drying out in the sun, its wooden benches placed against the canvas walls, its one ring set up about the mainmast. Lita's wagon was drawn up close beside the big tent so that she would not have to walk more than a short way thru a canvas tunnel when she made her entrance. The town which, when Carol and Bright had passed thru it only 24 hours earlier, had presented a sleepy, rural scene deserted except for a few farm people, was now alive with soldiers. They marched past in platoons.

Jessant, the manager, had established a sort of crude office just across from one of the wagon windows—a table and a couple of decrepit folding chairs—and here he was conducting such business as was necessary. Carol and Lita could see what went on, altho they could not hear much of what was said. However nothing of particular interest occurred until the arrival of Baroni, the holder who was to take the place of Gille, who was ill. His heavy voice and thick Nicois accent drew Carol back to the window and she observed him curiously. Baroni was a powerful and swarthy man, probably of Italian descent as were so many of the inhabitants of the district. Not a companionable-seeming creature by any means.

Mrs. Fred S., Chicago—Early last summer my husband several times dipped a brush in oil and thoroly swabbed all surfaces of firebox and other interior exposed surfaces of our heating plant. Now, for the first time in years, the heating plant is free from rust and in fine shape to start working shortly.

Mrs. George B., Rhinelander, Wis.—I had been keeping house for several years before I learned it was poor business to strike an egg beater on side of bowl when I wanted to remove any small particles. My egg beaters last much longer since I've discontinued that practice.

Mrs. Bill A., Creston, Ia.—Put some casters on a wooden box if you'd save yourself work when it comes to bringing in wood for the fireplace. My husband fixed me such a box.

Wedding News.

Only members of the two families will be present when Miss Mary Louise Byrnes and Lt. William A. Brenner Jr. are married at 4 p. m. today in the home of the bride's father, James F. Byrnes of Wilmette. Lt. Brenner, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Brenner of Evanston, will take his bride to La Junta, Colo., where he is stationed as an instructor with the army air forces.

Announcement is made of the marriage last Saturday of Miss Josephine Evelyn Dyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard A. Dyer of Park Ridge, formerly of Evanston, to John F. Wilhelm, son of Mrs. John B. Wilhelm of Chicago. The wedding took place in the Sigma Alpha Epsilon temple in Evanston. Following a reception in the Georgian hotel, Mr. Wilhelm and his bride left on a brief wedding trip, and they will live in Elgin, where he will be on the faculty of Elgin academy. Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm both were graduated from Northwestern university. For the last year she has taught at North Park college and he at Northwestern. Mr. Wilhelm, who formerly served as an ensign in the navy, received a medical discharge for injuries received at Pearl Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lindgren of Beverly Hills announce the marriage last Saturday of their daughter, Dorothy Karen, to Pvt. Samuel Sheaffer III. of the army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheaffer Jr. of Lancaster, Pa. Pvt. Sheaffer flew here from his post in Malden, Mo., for the wedding, which took place in the Gospel tabernacle.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving L. Fass of Everett av. announce the marriage last Saturday of their daughter, Jean Betty, to Robert Martin Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Meyer of South Shore dr. The wedding took place in the Windermere East hotel. Mr. Meyer and his bride are at home in the Poinsettia hotel.

Thru the Looking Glass

The girl going back to boarding school or college who is taking with her the nagging fear that the complexion ills of adolescence may be a social handicap should know about "cleansing grains," product of one of the great beauty houses, that are wonderfully helpful in smoothing and clarifying the youthful problem complexion.

In maturity, it's apt to be skin dryness that worries us. During adolescence it's a surplus rather than a scarcity of natural oil that makes the skin so prone to greasiness and blackheads. One theory is that the oil film attracts and holds far more grime than the dry surface does. In any case, blackheads and subsequent eruptions are more often than not due to faulty cleansing methods.

The beauty grains we refer to are used to make a friction wash that cleanses the skin in a better than average manner. Its use also smooths the skin—it does away with the dead scales and a lot of the dull little bumps. The grains, which come in a metal container, are simply mixed with a little water; the skin is then lathered with this solution, and the gentle friction effect does the rest. It's especially good, too, for bumpy elbows and the skin on the back that is so prone to eruptions and blackheads. The dirt, dust, makeup, and perspiration are thoroly washed away—and that's the secret, usually, of keeping the adolescent skin smooth and clear.

Of course there are other factors that must be taken into consideration. The young girl, or boy, with a troublesome skin must be sure to cleanse it well at least twice a day. Diet must be watched, too. Too many sweets, or weird combinations of foods that are a campus fad here and there, simply cannot be devoured by those youngsters whose complexions are in the uncertain stage. But cleanliness is paramount.

Need to Base Society on Christian Truths Told by Archbishop

The aim of Catholic Action is the reconstruction of Christian society on the basis of Christian truths said Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch yesterday in his address before the Summer School of Catholic Action in the Morrison hotel.

Pointing out that the world is on the eve of a reconstruction both political and social, Archbishop Stritch asked what the nature of that reconstruction would be which will penetrate to the core of society.

"If it is going to be nothing more than a repetition of the things of the past, it will lead to another catastrophe in the future," he said. "If it is going to be a real reconstruction, it is going to try to find the answer to the questions which are in every man's soul. Society is no different from the individual. Unless he is considered, society will never succeed in its work. There is only one answer—a reconstruction founded on the gospel of Christ."

Find the Cause of Child's Poor Work in School

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

When you find that school isn't going too well with your child, look for the reason. This is forewarning you for the year ahead.

There are so many possible ones that it would take pages to go over them all, but let me give you a few pertinent suggestions that may put you on the right track.

Does the school trouble trace back to home? Often there are things you do or don't do for your child that affect his school work. Sometimes a home in which discord exists will send to school a child whose inner disturbance is reflected in an inability to work with zest or to concentrate. If your son or daughter is in real difficulty at school, look about you at the home scene.

Or, does the school trouble start right there in school? The class work may be too easy for your child, or it may be too difficult. Or, he may be properly placed as far as his abilities are concerned, but his teacher may not be gifted in the imparting of knowledge, or in the ability to arouse interest and draw out a child. This latter is a possibility often overlooked.

Then there's the matter of that eternal "personal equation" between pupil and teacher. Every teacher and every pupil do not necessarily "click." Naturally in a big school system, it's not feasible to shuffle children and teachers, altho in one of our outstanding progressive public school systems this occasionally is done with splendid results. However, it is done only where an intelligent effort has first been made to achieve the mutual adjustment of the child in question, and his teacher.

Or, if your child has been having trouble getting along in school because of a clash of personalities or misunderstandings, perhaps all that is needed is a little effort put forth by you. Often a friendly talk between a teacher and a mother will clear the air, will further understanding right around in a circle from mother to teacher to child. Don't blame child or teacher. Investigate fully yourself.

This is, of course, only skimming the surface of the search you will make both at home and school for the cause of your child's not doing well in school.

There's one more place to look for reasons of this school dilemma. It is in your child's physical condition, but that we will have to discuss in another article.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

Dorothy Tarr, 23, in peace time a school band director in West Point, Miss., now is doing a man's job in the main laboratory of the United States Gypsum company, East Chicago, Ind., one of several Chicago area plants manufacturing plasters and wallboard for war industries.

Miss Tarr's job as laboratory technician is one she learned without extensive training and with a background only of college chemistry. She makes samples of different plaster types, mixes them with water, and checks them for setting time, working qualities, strength, fineness, consistency, and purity.

Much of the gypsum plaster Miss Tarr tests is used to make molds for airplane parts which are too intricate for a machining process. Models of many of the B-29 bomber's parts were made of gypsum plaster before the giant plane went into production.

Other women in the laboratories of gypsum plants test fireproof wallboard used in war housing. None of the laboratory jobs was held by women before October, 1942, when feminine workers first began to meet the man power shortage in the gypsum industry.

Approximately 50 per cent of the workers in most such plants now are women. They work around large kilns, calciners, and crushing machines which process raw gypsum rock into wall plaster for homes and industrial plaster for plane part molds, self-sealing fuel tanks, and surgical dressings.

The women employes range in age from 18 to 45. Some are mothers of service men; others are high school and college women out of school for the summer; still others are school teachers, and a large number are housewives.

Spokesmen for gypsum plants report that the home women are especially good workers at the kilns and at manual jobs, such as board turning, bundling, and punch press operations.

Frieda S. Miller, director of the women's bureau of the United States department of labor, in a special Labor day message to women workers, says that one-third of the nation's labor force is composed of women, with 18,590,000 at work.

Urging women to stay on the job, Miss Miller says: "Labor day this year means another opportunity and another day to produce the ammunition, tires, radar-radio equipment, the B-29 bombers, and other materials of war urgently needed by invasion forces."

The director also praised the contribution of women in the less glamorous, but necessary civilian industries, such as laundries and restaurants.

The Chicago Junior Association of Commerce, which is co-sponsor with the army air forces examining board of the "Fly with Army" show in Victory center at Marshall Field & Co., gave a luncheon in the English room of the store at noon yesterday to mark the opening of the exhibit, being presented in behalf of cadet procurement. The exhibit will be open from 9:45 to 5:45 p. m. daily, except Sunday, for a month.

Staffing the exhibit are members of the Army Air Force Aids, a volunteer unit which assists the cadet board in processing cadet recruits. Cadette Col. Cleone Cook is general director of the Aids' participation as narrators in the show. Cadette Capt. Phyl Straus heads the 35 Aids alternating at the microphones.

Two Questions of Date Etiquet AreClearedUp

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

"When out on a date with a girl I have always been doubtful about who should get off buses and street cars first. I have always let the girl walk to the door of the car first, stepped out myself, and then helped her off. Is that correct?"

on the SOLID side

"Another thing I have wondered about—when a fellow puts his arms around a girl's waist or takes her arm should he ask permission to do either, or should he wait until she asks him to or takes his arm while walking?"

In getting off a bus or street car the procedure you have been following is correct. Get out first yourself and if the step from car to street is high or if you must step down into traffic you will always be on hand if you are needed. But if the bus or street car is crowded it may be more convenient for your honey chile to leave first. Whatever procedure seems most natural is usually correct.

When crossing a street or walking in a crowd a fellow may take a girl's arm to guide her but when just "walking" a girl usually prefers to be on her own. It is never good taste for any Joe to walk in public places with his arm around a girl's waist or even to link arms—but if you are in the mood to hold hands no one will point fingers. This same "take it easy" procedure holds good for theaters. Your honey chile can't concentrate on the movie if your arm is heavy 'round her shoulder and neither can the couple behind you.

Kings and Politicians and Peasants Hobnob in Collection of Dolls

Political figures, Hollywood stars, historical personages, and American Indians hobnob with peasants and kings among 1,500 dolls Bernard Ravca has on display in a loop store thru Sept. 9. Most of the dolls, which are just half of his collection, are made from cotton covered with silk stockings and chemically treated.

Mr. Ravca said yesterday he had been making dolls for nearly 20 years. He began "by mistake," he explained, in France in 1924, while he was a medical student and painted scarfs and kerchiefs to help pay his expenses. When he met a couple who painted doll masks, he criticized the uniformly blank expression on the dolls' faces. So the couple suggested he make a doll with an expression he liked.

As a result he produced his first head, a model of Marguerite in Faust, made of cotton covered with georgette. Thus doll making became his life work. Since then he has exhibited thruout Europe and this country, winning 13 gold medals among 39 prizes. His biggest customer, he said, is Shirley Temple, who has 462 of his dolls among her collection of 2,600.

Stage Note

"Winged Victory," the army air forces show written and directed by Moss Hart, with music by Sgt. David Rose, opens an engagement of five weeks at the Civic Opera house Monday evening, Dec. 11. In the cast of 300 AAF members will be Edmond O'Brien, George Reeves, Barry Nelson, Mark Daniels, Don Taylor, Ray McDonald, and the Mauch twins. Proceeds from the production, which so far has grossed $1,047,000, go to army charities. "Winged Victory" has been filmed by 20th Century-Fox for later release.

White Collar GIRL

Check for Duplicates.

Please ask the WCGs to follow the example of the young woman who wrote us this letter:

"Since the war has placed so much emphasis on saving paper, we have been constantly checking our incoming mail for duplication of releases and publicity. . . . We are sure you will be glad to know about this duplication in order to save paper and postage, as well as your time and ours."

THE EDITOR'S SEC.

We White Collar Girls Read—

Fiction with a romance, not the saccharine, flowery, or sizzly stuff, but stories on the solid, substantial side with a good plot and a love story twining thru it. The rental library attendant in a loop department store tells us that novels such as "Winter Wheat," by Mildred Walker; "Also the Hills," by Frances Parkinson Keyes, and the book about us, "Nine to Five," by Harvey Smith, are typical of our choice.

We cover the best sellers fairly well and after that depend on the recommendation of our rental library attendant, for, dashing in on a lunch hour, we haven't time to cull thru the books for ourselves.

Many of us are steady detective story readers, but few of us like nonfiction. We'll read the war novels because they're being talked about or deal with the particular theaters where our hearts are. Generally, however, we're not too fond of them.

We take good care of the book we rent, but we're apt to leave a letter from some one in service tucked between its pages when we return it. The lost is found on our next trip, the attendant having kindly recovered and saved it for us.

And we're consistent readers these days, reading with fewer stops and spurts than was our habit before the war. The rental library is a friendly spot we enjoy visiting, and reading is one of the most trusted means of escape we use to embroider our lives.

Miserable Moments.

There's the dependable dress, fresh from the cleaner's, hanging in the closet; the only-thing you have to wear today. You sail about getting ready, come to the dress, slip into it confidently, and, behold—it's shrunk; it's a misfit! You gaze unbelievingly into the mirror, take a deep breath, hopefully pulling yourself in. But it's no good, you can't possibly go around all day without ever exhaling. You go mercifully blank for a few minutes, and then full realization of your plight hits you. You look at the clock and start rifling madly thru the old junk in the closet. Berating the cleaner, yourself, and your stupid lack of foresight, you finally find something that serves as a poor substitute for your originally planned costume and tear off for work all upset. En route to the office you gradually simmer down and come to the conclusion that you simply must get your wardrobe in order so you'll never be in the same straits again. However, knowing full well you're only human, you've a sneaking suspicion that you will.

Office Etiquet.

Don't raise your voice in the office. If you've something to say to your colleague four desks away, walk over and say it, but save the rest of the office a pain in the ears and time eating distraction.

Skirt-Jacket Team Shown in New Velveteen

BY REA SEEGER.

Career girls long have recognized the swank of velveteen for inexpensively priced first fall and winter costumes. Fine, soft velveteen, with all the soft shimmer of more easily wrinkled fragile velvet, is incredibly sturdy and has the flattering depth of pile and the flattery of velvet. Available now are slim new silhouettes and the always practical two piece costumes of velveteen in new shades. A newly unpacked showing of the two piece suit costumes emphasizes the trim, simple streamline of gored skirts matched to jackets.

There are two jacket models, one a short garment that ends abruptly at the waistline and is held with a gathered tie belt. No collar complicates the flattering deep vee neckline, and the sleeves are long and loose. The other is hip length, fits in around the ribs and waist, and boasts effective curved folds on either side of the chest near the shoulder seams. Long sleeves, expertly cut and fashioned, complete the usual suit jacket line. A high neckline minus a collar provides ample space for a decorative ascot or the yoke of a contrasting colored underblouse, for this is the teamwork that makes possible the fun of wearing the outfit as a suit or a suit-dress.

The new colors are exceptionally ideal for fall wardrobe collectors. The Quaker gray is stunning, the very deep leaf green a perfect find for the copper tops and blondes, and the rich claret red is one of the best foils for gay striped or plaid costume accessories of hat, bag, gloves, and blouses. What also makes shopping news is the very low price marks on such good looking velveteens. You can wear them immediately without furs, later with fur muff and hat, and still later with winter coat of fur or fabric.

Latest Andy Hardy Movie Is a Bit of a Bore to Critic

"ANDY HARDY'S BLONDE TROUBLE."

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

KIND: Episode in the "Andy Hardy" series.

ACTING: Acting—with the exception of excellent work by Lewis Stone and Herbert Marshall, who should never be wasted on works such as this.

STORY: Andy goes to the college to which his father had brought honor and makes an ass of himself. . . . Co-eds assisting are Kay [Bonita Granville]—never saw her look so pretty or be so stagey—and the two Misses Walker [the Wilde twins]. . . . It's a very messy yarn, cluttered up with incredible and uninteresting incident.

DIALOG: No.

SETS, SCENERY, PHOTOGRAPHY: All right.

DIRECTION: Shh!

AUDIENCE APPEAL: Well, if you call me "audience," I thought the piece a bore.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 29.—Hoagy Carmichael is so crazy about acting that he now aims to produce as well, showing just how far astray a song writer can go in this business. He's put the life of Bix Beiderbeck, trumpeter, into scenario form and wants to do it as an independent picture with Harry James starred. You've got to hand it to him—he's ambitious anyway. . . . I asked Hedy Lamarr about a report that she and John Loder are shopping for a house with nursery. She tells me they're planning way ahead. Nothing—but nothing—will be done about that ba-bee until she finishes her Metro contract in May, 1945. . . . Billy Rose is up to three in concert singers for his "Seven Lively Arts." In it he's going to put his own version of "Pagliacci" in English. He'll give it 15 minutes.

Are Your Laughing Muscles Working?

If, and it's the biggest IF anybody ever stumbled over, Capt. Gene Markey should ever marry Myrna Loy, it will mean his appetite for glamor is insatiable. First he was engaged to Ina Claire. Before they could reach the altar she ups and marries Jack Gilbert. Came then Joan Bennett, followed closely by Hedy Lamarr, and now Myrna, the perfect wife, who still remains the perfect wife in "The Thin Man"—and never gives up hope off screen. . . . Louis B. Mayer's theme song, as of last Saturday, is "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride." . . . Y. Frank Freeman discovered he wasn't permitted to give Alan Ladd a bonus, so he gave Ladd a boxer—meaning dog to youse. . . . Laraine Day, doing "The Woman's Army," is getting unmerciful kidding on the set. In the picture she plays a general's daughter. Yet when Laraine visited army camps some time back she wouldn't have a thing to do with any one except a G. I. Joe. Remember?

There, There, Don't Cry—or Laugh.

Charles Bennett, writer, is having tough luck—or is it? He was on his way to England to get a divorce from his wife, who's over there, so he could marry a Hollywood beauty. While en route he got a cable from the beauty: "Don't bother—I've fallen in love with another guy. We're being married tomorrow." . . . Sonny Tufts drew so many of the bobby socks brigade when he went up to San Francisco for opening of "I Love a Soldier"—his first premiere, by the way—that he unlaxed with a song for them! . . . I hope it's true that Bing Crosby will broadcast from Paris. . . . When Maria Montes returns from New York, she'll bring back her three sisters, aged 16, 17, and 18. "Aren't you afraid of that competition?" I asked. "O, not now," said Maria. "You see, I've already got Pierre Aumont."

Brain Pans Dry, Which Is Surprising.

Too bad the deal didn't jell to have Fred Allen and Harpo Marx as guests on "Information Please." They couldn't think up an idea. When I asked Harpo about Oscar Levant's concert in Hollywood bowl, he said, "He petrified the audience." At the bowl Oscar displeased himself in playing the final phrase of one of his numbers, so before he tackled an encore, sat down at the piano and rephrased that passage, then went on with his encore. . . . It isn't true that Levant isn't returning to "Information Please." When I asked him, he said, "This is the first I've heard of it." "Information Please" without Oscar would be like bread without yeast. He's the bad boy who puts the bounce into it. . . . Elsa Maxwell loves to act, so Connie Bennett will let her in "Paris Underground." She'll play the concierge. The cast will have a field day when Greg Ratoff flies into Russian and Elsa into French.

Beauty Business.

The reporter is two months late in reporting the hoax the Wilde Twins put over on the town. I wrote it up eight weeks ago. The wrong twin, so Hollywood thought, is having the baby. But she's been secretly wed since last December. It all came out in the wash—when she was having a shampoo at Westmore's. . . . Metro's wooing Kenny Baker since his radio show zoomed. . . . Another South American relationship has gone phhhht. This time it's the Carlos Ramirezes. . . . Xavier Cugat opens at Ciro's here Sept. 26 and is looking for a successor to Lina Romay, his vocalist, who was signed by Metro. Says Cugie, "I've got four prospects—one in New York, another in Mexico, and two here." The one who signs will get a face full of happiness.

GIRL'S FATHER TRIED AS SLAYER OF SWEETHEART

Witnesses Put Him Near Lovers' Lane Scene.

Manchester, Tenn., Aug. 29 [Special].—The father of a high school girl, whose young sweetheart was slain while parked with her in a lovers' lane, repeatedly was placed near the scene of the killing today by testimony of witnesses at his murder trial.

On trial on charges of first degree murder are Roy Yates, a well to do farmer and Tullahoma gristmill operator, and his two sons, Dennis, 22, and Harold, 25, the later a civilian employe at Camp Forrest. They have been free under $10,000 bond each while the girl, Ruth, 17, has been under bond of $250 as a material witness.

Authorities have indicated Ruth attempted to shield the three male members of her family regarding the gunshot slaying of her boy friend, James Sherrill, 17, last May 17, the night before they were to have been graduated by the Tullahoma High school. She told police a stranger killed Sherrill and raped her.

Tells of Seeing Father.

Wade Clark, a Tullahoma shoe factory employe, testified for the prosecution today that he drove by the scene of the slaying the night of May 17, saw Ruth and Sherrill parked in the latter's car on a road near Tullahoma, and a short distance down the road saw two more cars and three men, one of whom was Roy Yates.

Similar testimony was given by Bobby Jernigan, now taking navy "boot" training, who was a friend of Sherrill and is a neighbor of the principals in the farming region adjacent to Tullahoma.

Jernigan accompanied Ruth and Sherrill to Manchester to see a movie the night of the slaying. On the way they stopped at the home of Jernigan's sister and as they drove away from her place, the young sailor testified, they saw the elder Yates drive by in his truck toward Manchester.

Mother Tells of Date.

"Sherrill said, 'Ruth, there's your daddy,' and Ruth replied, 'I don't care,'" Jernigan testified.

Mrs. W. E. Sherrill, mother of the victim, told of her son having dated Ruth for about seven months. On one occasion, she said, she accompanied the young couple to the Yates home and sat outside in the car for a long time while they were inside.

"When they came out," she testified, "Miss Yates' face was red, her hair was all torn up, and one of her ears looked as if it had been pinched."

THE QUESTION.

WHERE ASKED.

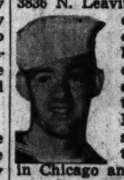
THE ANSWERS.

Staff Sgt. Dale Dearing, 4739 Congress st.—Over in the lagoon near the planetarium the Chicago park district has a bunch of cat-rigged dinghys they let service men sail. They call it the rainbow fleet because the sails are every color in the rainbow. If the weather is nice you can sail any day. It's great sport.



Rudy Mueller, seaman 2d class, 3836 N. Leavitt st.—When I was a civilian my friends called me "Jitterbug" because I liked to dance. I don't just enjoy jitterbug music, tho. I like every kind. I spend most of my spare time dancing in the various ballrooms in Chicago and at the service centers. They furnish the girls too!

Pvt. John Carr, Rice Lake, Wis.—At the service center on Fullerton av. and the lake they have a fishing game that's fun. They supply us the poles and the bait and whoever catches the longest fish gets to call home via long distance telephone. I've never been lucky enough to catch the biggest fish but it's fun fishing anyway.

Pvt. Victor George, Eagle River, Wis.—In the summer I can think of nothing I'd rather do than go swimming in Lake Michigan. At the summer service center on Fullerton av. they supply the fellows with bathing suits and they have a nice beach. There are a lot of pretty girls in bathing suits too—on the other side of the fence.

Pvt. Louis LeVine, Union Pier, Mich.—Down on the lake at the summer service center they have the best music for dancing. They call it the "G. I. Country club." The band from Navy pier plays some nights and the M. P. band from Camp Skokie plays there too. Every Sunday afternoon they have a swell show out there.

Henry Horback, seaman 2d class, Inkster, Mich.—My favorite in recreation always has been bowling. There are a lot of slick alleys in the city but they're always quite crowded. They have 12 alleys at the center here for the boys who wish to bowl and it's free. They really thought of everything when they made these service centers.

GO MONTHS BACK ON PHONE CLEWS IN DRAKE SEARCH

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Every telephone call made by Patrick Murphy, precinct political worker and brother of the former state director of labor, and Mrs. Ellen Bennett from room 190 of the Drake hotel for several months prior to the murder in that hotel last Jan. 19 of Mrs. Adele Born Williams, was being traced yesterday.

Headquarters for the renewed investigation of the murder of Mrs. Williams, wife of an American diplomat who had returned from internment in Japan, were set up in room M 17 of the hotel. Asst. State's Atty. Joseph A. Pope and Lt. Philip Breitzke of the homicide bureau were in charge. They had a staff of eight assistants.

All Called Face Quiz.

"We are contacting every person we can locate who was called by either Murphy or Mrs. Bennett after Mrs. Bennett went to live in Murphy's room," Pope said.

Murphy said he didn't care to be interviewed regarding his possible knowledge of facts vital to the solution of the murder.

His former mistress, who was married three times and prefers to be known as Ellen Bennett, had not been questioned, either, about one call made from room 190. Police learned of this call on Sunday, after Mrs. Bennett, arrested a second time for questioning in the murder, had been released on a writ of habeas corpus. The call was to a fish and ale house at 901 Rush st., two blocks from the Drake.

Earlier Visits Disclosed.

"How far back are you going in your search of the hotel records of telephone calls from room 190?" Pope was asked.

"We do not know right now," he answered. "It was some time last August that Mrs. Bennett proclaimed herself to be Mrs. Murphy. But for some time before that she was a visitor in the room."

Among the persons known to have been called are several of prominence in politics or business.

Gun Trail to Be Resumed.

Mrs. Bennett, as key clerk of the hotel, was in a position to get into Mrs. Williams' room any time she wished, the investigators pointed out.

Charles Wilson, head of the police department's scientific crime detection laboratory, said he will resume soon the tracing of the revolver used in the Drake murder.

A convict, Walter Brown, said he owned the gun and he last saw it when he put it in a drawer in the home of a brother of Mrs. Bennett. He said Mrs. Bennett had access to that drawer.

FBI SEIZES 10,320 PAIRS OF NYLONS IN NEW YORK RAID

New York, Aug. 29 (AP).—Federal agents today seized 10,320 pairs of nylon hose which they said had been made from material intended for army parachutes and glider tow ropes and were intended for black market distribution.

FBI agents and federal marshals found the stockings in a Manhattan warehouse. Amedo Lauritano, assistant United States attorney, said the thread was manufactured illegally into stockings in Passaic and Paterson, N. J., the hosiery being shipped to New York for reshipment to Philadelphia, Pa., to hide the trail before distribution to black markets in New York and Philadelphia.

The seizure increased to 16,799 the number of pairs of nylon hosiery uncovered in New York in the last two weeks. Federal agents in New Jersey recently seized enough nylon thread to manufacture 35,000 additional pairs.

British War Writer with Yanks Dies of Wounds

LONDON, Aug. 29 (AP).—William Makin, war correspondent for the Kemsley newspapers of Great Britain, died today of wounds suffered while reporting United States army attacks in the Cherbourg peninsula. His widow and three children survive.

WHAT HAPPENED TOMORROW IS NEWS TODAY!

The future holds a strange fascination for most of us. But if you're weary of crystal-gazing methods of foretelling what's in store, Miss Mildred Ellms, manager of the Hyde Park Book Shop, suggests you pick up a copy of Leo Cherne's "The Rest of Your Life" ($2.75), for a truly accurate picture of what "happened tomorrow." No heavy-lidded swami is Mr. Cherne, but a practical, clear-headed business man, whose prophecies for postwar America are based on years of experience in the research field.

MILDRED ELLMS

Hitch a ride on a Flying Fortress—target, Ralfuil! Miss Ellms recommends "Gore and Glory" ($2.50) by Capt. William Crawford, Jr., as one of the most thrilling "I-was-there" accounts to come out of the Pacific theatre.

Preparing her first meal and juggling ration points cease to be frightening prospects for the lucky bride who receives a copy of The Better Homes and Gardens Cook Book ($2.00). Defense workers, too, will welcome the many appetizing lunch box ideas contained in this wonderfully complete new cook book.

Miss Ellms invites you to bring the youngsters into the shop to look over her delightful collection of children's books—everything from the gaily-painted picture books to the well-loved adventure stories.

And don't forget Miss Ellms' collection of really lovely greeting cards. You can always depend on a cordial welcome in the Hyde Park Book Shop (1457 E. Hyde Park) or in any of these Handy Book and Gift Shops: Field Bldg.; Palmer House; Board of Trade; Post Office News (37 W. Monroe); Daily News Bldg.; Merchandise Mart.

SWISS CHEESE RETAIL CEILING IS CUT 3 CENTS

Swiss cheese will be reduced approximately 3 cents a pound at retail, effective Sept. 4, the office of price administration said yesterday. Factory prices will go up about the same amount, it was said, because the September, 1942, price freeze gave middlemen "appreciably higher" markups than for other products. The average price in Chicago, it was said, will be 53 cents a pound.

Also on Sept. 4, the OPA announced, butchers will be permitted to cube utility grades of top and bottom cuts of beef to make this next to bottom grade "more acceptable to the consumer." The tenderizing now can be done only at the request and in the presence of the customer. The ban on precubing the top three grades of beef will remain.

The OPA added apples, except crabapples and ladysmiths, to the list of fresh fruits and vegetables under weekly ceilings. The maximum price is 15 cents a pound. Cherries were removed from the list because of reduced supplies. Other price changes on the Chicago list were: Tomatoes, increased 2 cents a pound to 14 cents, and peas, cut 1 cent a pound to 17 cents. The new prices will be effective tomorrow.

Army Says Services May Write to Congressmen

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—Rep. Buffett [R., Neb.] disclosed today the war department has informed him no army regulation prohibits enlisted service men from writing to their congressmen. Buffett asserted he had been informed of several cases where officers had refused to permit enlisted men to write to their senators or house members. "The department stated in effect officers had no right to make such a rule, but it did point out there is an army order against political action on the part of the troops," Buffett said.

FILES PETITION FOR RETRIAL OF BRIBERY CASE

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 28 [Special].—Assurance that at least some of the 20 men recently convicted of a 1939 legislative graft conspiracy will seek a new trial was given today when it was revealed that petition for retrial has been filed with the Ingham county Circuit court here by counsel for State Sen. Jerry T. Logie of Bay City.

Judge John Simpson of Jackson, who presided at the trial in Mason, set Oct. 2 for hearing this and any similar motions. Hints were given by other defense lawyers that retrial motions will be filed in behalf of their clients before the week-end.

Supporting Logie's motion were contentions by his counsel, Benjamin F. Watson of Lansing, that the guilty verdict was against the weight of evidence and that the court's charge gave undue weight to prosecution claims without equally stressing defense contentions.

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED.

Watseka, Ill., Aug. 29 [AP].—Henry Snyder, 18, Melvin, a driver for the Finck Construction company, Peoria, was killed today when his gravel truck struck a culvert on highway 54, 10 miles south of Onarga.

Mother Dressing Baby Robbed of $200 in Home

Mrs. Lucille Bradley, 311 Armitage av., told police last night that while she was dressing her baby, a masked robber entered her home thru the basement and, at the point of a gun, forced her to go to the kitchen where her purse, containing between $200 and $300, was kept in the cupboard. The robber took the purse, she said, and fled.

Golf Bag Hunt Arrested in Loop for Questioning

Sam [Golf Bag] Hunt, former Capone gangster, was picked up at Clark and Randolph sts. last night by Sgt. Marshall Pidgeon of the detective bureau and taken to headquarters for questioning. Hunt, who is 43, said his occupation now is "speculating in oil fields."

TONIGHT: COLLEGE ALL-STARS BATTLE BEARS!

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE CHARITIES, INC., tonight will present its 11th annual All-Star football game before the biggest gate in the history of the series. . . . That means that charity will get its richest contribution from this enterprise. . . . The contest again will bring together the championship team of the National Football league—the Chicago Bears—and the best available squad that could be recruited from what normally would be collegiate ranks. . . . Neither the Bears nor the All-Stars will be far off 1943 caliber. . . . The game takes place in America's third summer of war. . . . As recently as three months ago sports columnists predicted it would be impossible to assemble an All-Star squad. . . . The fact that it has been accomplished is no tribute to this department. . . . The answer lies much deeper than that. . . . The credit belongs to more than 70 young athletes who have come from all parts of the nation to make the evening memorable for you. . . . Nearly half of them are from various branches of the United States army. . . . All are here on routine leaves and furloughs which most service men would prefer to spend with their mothers and dads, sisters, brothers, sweethearts, and friends. . . . These fellows are willing to spend their leisure at tackling, blocking, kicking, passing, and other rigorous activities of a football camp because they love the game. . . . They grew up in it. . . . They realize now more than ever before its value to them as soldiers. . . . There were navy men who had the same spirit, but they were denied the chance to have one more fling at the sport of their choice by the ruling of Adm. Carpender, a decision that has confused navy officers as well as civilian fans. . . . The navy All-Stars, who were here, of course, on routine leaves with the approval of their commanding officers, could go swimming if they desired. . . . They could play softball or bridge or shoot craps. . . . They could do almost anything they wished except to engage in a game whose profits would help other navy men have more enjoyable week-ends at Chicago service men's centers. . . . No wonder the ruling has created such furor within navy ranks. . . .

Dyche stadium was sold out 10 days ago. . . . This probably will be the most colorful crowd ever assembled in the plant made famous by Northwestern's Wildcats. . . . The ceremonies will be as glittering as ever. . . . But none of these is the reason all of us should rejoice tonight. . . . We say all of us, because we assume every one in the stands is interested in football or he wouldn't be there. . . . The big thrill is the convincing demonstration of Young America's love for a sport that has helped make the country great. . . . Never again can critics complain that football is essentially a spectator game. . . . Undergraduates who will appear with the All-Stars tonight do not receive a cent of compensation. . . . Army men are giving up their free time to participate. . . . For them football is fun. . . . For them it's still a chance to add a little luster to the athletic prestige of Ohio State, Notre Dame, Southern California, Tulsa, Louisiana State, and the other universities represented on the squad. . . . And when the wails of the grouch writers have been stilled we wonder if we shall not have standing out as one of the shining recollections of the event the love that a young man has for his school and the love that his school has for him.

The Circus Comes to Town.

There's a circus here in the old town today
And there's something in the air,
An intangible, thrilling something—
You can sense it everywhere;
The kids were down at the tracks at dawn
To watch the trains pull in,
Those perennial kids of all the years,
Tom Sawyer and his pal, Huck Finn.

There's a pulsing, mysterious something
About a circus coming to town
That even war and its terrors dire
Can never quite throttle down;
For the circus thrill is a part of youth
And tho the twain shall sever,
But youth goes on forever.

CUBS TROUNCE PIRATES, 15-4, THEN LOSE, 5-4

North Siders Make 17 Hits in First.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

A neat batch of 17 hits, topped by Bill Nicholson's 29th home run of the season, was more than sufficient to dissolve the Cubs' losing streak yesterday at seven games, but later in the afternoon they had reason to regret having been so prodigal with their bats. They blasted the depression by 15 to 4 at the expense of the Pirates but the beating had so little effect on Frankie Frisch's hired hands that they bounced back to take the second half of the double header, 5 to 4, before 11,649 Wrigley field patrons.

As positive proof they were going to shake off the losing string, the Cubs kicked open the first game with seven runs, a happy turn of affairs at the time because the enemy a few minutes previous had launched their day's work with three runs that brought Paul Derringer perilously close to being yanked.

Vandenberg Replaces Passeau.

The Pirates followed a similar pattern in the second game, but this time there wasn't such a comeback from the Cubs. Claude Passeau inadvertently let himself be nailed down by three runs in the first inning and it wasn't long before he had turned his job over to Hy Vandenberg, who did pretty well for himself, but in the meantime the Cubs weren't able to make much more than threats against Preacher Roe.

Derringer's first inning troubles in the opening game were made up of a double by Coscarart, a single by Russell, pass to Elliott, and singles by Colman and Dahlgren but nothing was thought of this a few moments later.

Butcher Leaves Game.

Hack led off for the Cubs with a single followed by a pass to Hughes, single by Cavarretta and double by Nicholson. Rescigno relieved Butcher and walked Dallessandro, filling the bases. Johnson's fly scored one. Merullo walked and Williams singled for two runs. Hack drove in the last two of the seven by doubling.

Cavarretta and Johnson did the singling against Starr that put two more across the plate in the fourth. In the fifth Hack and Cavarretta teamed up in a two bagger act for another run. In the sixth Williams walked and Hack and Derringer doubled for two more. Nicholson's No. 29 home run provided the amusement in the seventh and the Pirates were heard from mildly in the eighth when DiMaggio unfurled his No. 8 homer.

Johnson's Double Scores Two.

The Cubs tapered off with two in their eighth, both driven in by Johnson's double after various happenings had filled the bases.

Passeau didn't have time to look over the premises in the second game before there were Pirates on bases as the result of Coscarart's single and Russell's double. Elliott singled them home and he scored when Gustine doubled.

Colman's single and Gustine's triple made it 4 to 0 in the third

HEADLINERS IN THE GAME OF THE YEAR

LOOK FOR LONG GAINS IF STARS GET THAT BALL

BY FRED DE LANO.

It may be Glenn Dobbs from Tulsa . . . perhaps Notre Dame's Creighton Miller . . . maybe Billy Hillenbrand of Indiana . . . or any of a dozen others in the fleet corps of All-Star backs, but whatever scoring is done by the 1944 collegians against the Chicago Bears in Dyche stadium tonight is likely to come on long and thrilling plays featuring one of that back field contingent, rather than on the short goal line plunge.

That, at least, has been the All-Star scoring pattern in 10 previous games, in which 11 of their 16 touchdowns have been made from outside the 20 yard line. The last six All-Star touchdowns were scored on plays of from 22 to 97 yards and the average length of their scoring plays for the entire series has been a crowd-pleasing 33 yards.

They Have the Material.

Coach Lynn Waldorf's present All-Star squad is well armed with the type of breakaway runner that makes continuation of the trend likely. Such backs as the three already named, plus other standouts which include Bob Ruman of Arizona, Charley Trippi from Georgia, Pete Layden and Roy McKay of Texas, Corwin Clatt of Notre Dame, Jim Ford from Tulsa, and Chuck Jacoby of Indiana are dangerous scoring threats at all times.

They have the speed to turn a smash at tackle into a long goal-bound run and the open field shiftiness needed for lengthy return of punts, kickoffs, or interceptions.

Graham Gets Away.

All-Star game followers will long remember Otto Graham's interception last year of Redskin Sammy Baugh's pass on the collegiate 3 yard line and the Wildcat star's sensational touchdown run of 97 yards that followed. Then there were Bob Steuber's 50 yard touchdown return of Leroy Zimmerman's punt in the same game and the 56 yard scoring pass in 1940 from Nile Kinnick to Banks McFadden.

Van Buren, All-Star Back, Signs with Eagles' Eleven

Steve Van Buren, Louisiana State half back, signed a contract with the Philadelphia Eagles yesterday in Chicago. Van Buren, a member of the college All-Star team, is recuperating from an appendectomy which will keep him out of tonight's game with the Chicago Bears.

BAUGH, REDSKINS BEAT BROOKLYN ELEVEN, 14 TO 7

Ogden, Utah, Aug. 29 (AP).—Sammy Baugh led the Washington Redskins to a 14 to 7 victory over the Brooklyn Tigers tonight in an exhibition game before 12,000.

Baugh circled right end for 33 yards and then tossed a pass to Joe Aguirre just before the half for Washington's first score. In the third quarter interference was ruled on a Baugh-to-Aguirre pass, giving the Redskins the ball on Brooklyn's 12. Frank Zeno crashed center for a touchdown. Brooklyn scored its touchdown on a 30 yard pass just before the final gun.

Furgol Wins in Amateur Golf Playoff

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Edward Joseph Furgol, 24, Detroit auto worker who has overcome the handicap of a crippled left arm to become one of golf's brightest swingers, yesterday won the 1944 All-American Amateur golf tournament title at the Tam o' Shanter Country club. For the 18 hole playoff of the regulation tie, Furgol shot a 73, one over par, against a 76 by Earl Christiansen, Miami [Fla.] policeman, and a 79 by Ken Heilemann, St. Louis chemist.

The three had finished the 72 hole test on Moday with mutual scores of 295.

To Shoot for $40,100 in 1945.

Thus ended nine days of action in the triple header show at Tam o' Shanter, wherein Byron Nelson captured the Open title for the third time in four years and Betty Hicks won the Women's Open championship.

George S. May, the Tam o' Shanter impresario, announced at last evening's prize presentation that the total cash value of the Open event next year will be $40,100, an increase of $10,000 over last year, with the winner's purse set at approximately $12,500 in hard money.

3 Over Par for 108 Holes.

Furgol went home with a record of three over par for the 108 holes he worked in the tournament. On Monday, Aug. 21, the likable youth whose left arm is 10 inches shorter than his right, due to a childhood accident, led all amateur qualifiers with a 67, which still stands as the second best card of the entire party. He followed with regulation rounds of 71, 72, 76, and 76, and yesterday's 73. The cards:

LUCKMAN DUELS DOBBS BEFORE 50,000 IN 11TH CHARITY GAME

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The Chicago Bears, conscious of their past spectacular contributions to the brilliant College All-Star football series, rolled into Chicago yesterday from their Indiana base, determined successfully to protect an undefeated record against the Collegians in tonight's game in Northwestern's Dyche stadium.

No matter how much the professional champions' coterie of coaches have publicly minimized their chances, they have the Bears primed for a 60 minute job this evening. The squad of 37, headed by Capt. George [Zeke] Wilson, himself an old Northwestern athlete, was bronzed and well muscled from three weeks conditioning at St. Joseph's college in Indiana, 83 miles from Chicago's loop.

They Rely on Luckman.

Ensign Sid Luckman of the maritime service, Uncle Sam's only employe with the champions, carries the hopes of the pro folk. The entire National Football league regard this as a night of vengeance and is rooting for the Bears to restore prestige lost last August when the All-Stars walloped the Washington Redskins, 27 to 7. However, Luckman won't start the game, that assignment going to Johnny Long, former Colgate star, who has been very impressive in the pre-game practice.

Full Backs Are Plentiful.

The full back department is crowded with such helpers for Famiglietti as Bob Masters, Jim Fordham, Ed Simonich, and David Pate. Masters was with the champions part of last season. Fordham, from the University of Georgia and out of football for five years, is regarded as Gary's No. 1 replacement. McEnulty also is available to split activity between right half and full back.

Clyde [Bulldog] Turner, 240 pound all-National league center of the Bears, perhaps is tops among all the linemen who will be on the field. His helpers are John Wlatrak, a Chicagoan who captained the 1937 University of Washington team, and Fred Mundee, the handy fellow from Notre Dame, who plays center, guard, and tackle.

Zorich Will Start.

Left end is a toss-up between Jim Benton and Connie Berry, both veterans. A third one is Rudy Smeja, 1943 College All-Star from Michigan, one of the team's outstanding yearlings. Capt. Wilson's right end colleagues are Elmo Kelly from the University of Wichita, and Bill Petrilas, who has played several seasons with eastern minor league elevens.

After a few hours' rest in their headquarters at the Knickerbocker hotel, the Bears held a dress rehearsal last night under the lights of Dyche stadium. A few hundred fans watched the champions, who were dressed for the first time in their pre-war uniforms, including nylon pants, race up and down the field and familiarize themselves with the white and black striped intercollegiate football which will be used in the game.

Outlook Is Bright.

At the National Football league's informal pre-All-Star game meeting yesterday in the offices of Commissioner Elmer Layden, representatives of the 10 teams expressed optimism for the 1944 season.

Ted Collins of the new Boston

Ceremonies to Open at 8:15; Kick-off Set for 8:45.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The doughty Chicago Bears, champions of the National Football league, versus the College All-Stars!

At 8:15 tonight 50,000 will jam Dyche stadium to see the 11th battle in this series promoted by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. This opening game of the 1944 football season, long a magnet which has attracted capacity crowds, again makes Chicago the capital of the football world.

Tonight's game, with the stimulus of a local team making its fifth appearance, will establish two records. All seats were sold out 10 days before the contest and gross receipts will be the largest in 11 years. Net proceeds will be given to the army air force society and to the Chicago service men's centers.

Honor War Dead.

While fewer fans will attend from distant sections of the country because of war time transportation, the throng will be distinctly cosmopolitan. The brilliant spectacle of the introduction of the players, the massed band, and the tribute to former All-Star players who have been killed or have been decorated for military achievements, are compelling.

Above all, however, the promise that this group of All-Stars is one of the better college teams and the stature of the champion Bears combine to point to an evening of thrills.

Tonight's game matches Lt. Glenn Dobbs, the greatest forward passer in intercollegiate football in a decade, and Ensign Sid Luckman, Bears' quarter back, whose appearance tonight ends his service with the champions until peace comes.

Sid Is the Head Man.

Luckman, who played for the All-Stars in 1939 before joining the Bears, has been largely instrumental in the success of the champions' T formation strategy which has brought three league titles in five years. The Bears won the championship in 1940 and 1941 and thus appeared in the 1941 and 1942 All-Star games. After a hiatus of a season when Washington took the championship Luckman pitched the Bears back to the top last season with a flurry of record breaking performances for which he was voted the outstanding player in professional football.

Luckman will receive the Joe Carr memorial trophy, emblematic of the honor, tonight at 8:15. The presentation will be made by Elmer Layden, commissioner of the National Football league.

Glenn's Quite a Pitcher.

Dobbs showed the fans at last year's game superior skill in air attack. He completed nine passes in 13 attempts and one of these, caught by Marlin [Pat] Harder, Wisconsin full back, scored a touchdown. In his collegiate days at Tulsa university Dobbs set national records. In the Sun bowl in 1942 he completed 21 passes in 29 attempts and the following year in New Orleans' Sugar bowl he had eight consecutive completions against the University of Tennessee, the last scoring a touchdown.

One reason for the Bears' supporters to be confident is the team's record in the series. After an inaugural scoreless tie in 1934, the Bears won, 5 to 0, in 1935; 37 to 13, in 1941, and 21 to 0, in 1942. Thus, they have accounted for three of the National league's five victories. The All-Stars won in 1937, 1938, and last year. The Detroit Lions were tied, 7 to 7, in 1936.

Harder to Get Trophy.

The ceremonies at 8:15 tonight will be completed with the presentation of The Tribune's most valuable player trophy to Harder, who was selected for the honor by newspaper men attending the 1943 game. Harry Stuhldreher, who coached the Badger star at Wisconsin and who was head coach of last year's All-Star group, will make the award.

At 8:25 the Bears' starting eleven will be introduced individually to the crowd. Ten minutes later huge spotlights atop the stadium will delineate each of the eleven starting All-Stars as one by one they run from the dressing room to midfield. All other lights in the amphitheater will be turned out. The rival captains, Dick Barwegen and George Wilson of the Bears will meet with the officials, and kickoff will start play promptly at 8:45.

All-Star Band to Play.

Between the halves, the All-Star band of 200 musicians, directed by Ray Dvorak of the University of Wisconsin, will present the memorial to those former All-Star football men who have given their lives for their country. The narration of the tribute will be given by Don Ameche, radio and screen notable.

The game tonight will be broadcast over W-G-N and Mutual. The nation-wide interest in the game also in attested to by the coverage by newspapers. Leading papers from New York to San Francisco and from Minneapolis to New Orleans have sent reporters. The midwest cities are exceptionally well represented, of course, among them Milwaukee, Cleveland, Detroit, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Toledo, St. Paul, Minn., Des Moines, Ia., Davenport, Ia., Tulsa, Okla., and Oklahoma City, Okla.

The rival coaches and the game officials will meet at noon today in the Sherman hotel for discussion of the rules.

The All-Stars have a coterie of superlative men to back up Dobbs' particular talent while the Bears will field a starting eleven of veterans. The pros have burly Gary Famiglietti for line smashing and Ray McLean and Ray Nolting, fleet open field runners who are constant threats as ball carriers and pass receivers. And in Doug McEnulty the Bears have one of the sport's longest kickers.

Plenty of Runners Available.

While the All-Stars have lost several splendid backs by injury and ineligibility thru local interpretation of a navy directive, among them Paul Sarringhaus and Gene Fekete of Ohio State, Steve Van Buren of Louisiana State, Bill Godwin of Alabama, and Bill Daley of Minnesota-Michigan, they still have speedy break-away runners. In this category are Bill Hillenbrand of Indiana, star of the Hoosiers' 1942 season; Charley Trippi of Georgia; and Creighton Miller of Notre Dame.

Pete Layden and Roy McKay, a pair of huskies from the University of Texas, along with Miller and Corwin Clatt of Notre Dame, will supply the Stars' punch. Completing the back field are such dependable blockers as Lou Saban of Indiana, Don Greenwood of Illinois, and Ken Keuper of Georgia.

The Line Will Do.

Capt. Barwegen of Purdue heads a select group of linemen charged with the task of stopping the Bears' ground attack and rushing Luckman when he elects to throw. Certain to see action are Lin Houston, Don McCafferty, and Bill Willis of Ohio State; Ellis Jones of Tulsa; Bob Zimny of Indiana; George Hecht of Alabama; Walter Barnes, Louisiana State; Clyde Johnson, Kentucky; Bob Kolesar, Michigan; Roman Bentz, Tulane; Bruno Banducci, Stanford; Frank Gaziano, Holy Cross; and Goble Bryant, Texas A. & M.

Jack Dugger, Ohio State; Bill Huber and John Yonakor, Notre Dame; Paul Sizemore, Furman; Roy Grefe, Franklin college; Abe Croft, Southern Methodist; Bob Ravensberg, Indiana; Jack Morton, Missouri; and Dub Wooten, Oklahoma, are slated to protect the flanks of the All-Star line and to scurry downfield under passes by Hillenbrand, Dobbs, and Trippi.

Bears to Carry League Hopes for Revenge

Yanks said his organization is farther along in getting ready for the season than had been anticipated. Coach Herb Kopf, he said, has a squad of 32. The general feeling was that the teams would be a trifle stronger than in 1943.

The league's only action was adoption of changes in individual and team statistics in forward passing, punting, and kickoff returns. The most drastic change is in the forward passing department. In the past the leaders were determined only by the number and percentage of completions. The new system adds yards gained on passes, touchdown passes, number intercepted, and percentage intercepted. Had it been in use last season, Luckman would have beaten out Sammy Baugh for the individual title and the Bears would have outpointed the Redskins in team passing.

Club Officials Attend.

Vicini Gains 2d Round in County Golf

Dante Vicini of Ottawa, Ill., defending champion in the annual Cook county amateur golf tournament at Columbus park, survived the first round of play yesterday by turning in a 6 and 5 victory over John Karbens of Old Orchard. The stocky little Italian lad, who also won the qualifying round medal, shot par golf on the out nine to hold a 4 up lead at the turn.

Walter Haefner of Mid City, runner-up in last year's meet, advanced to round of sixteen by eliminating 17 year old Jack Atten, former Senn High school star from the Edgewater Golf club, 6 and 5.

UPPER BRACKET—Dante Vicini, Ottawa, Ill., beat John Karbens, Old Orchard, 6 and 5; Alex Badal, Waveland, beat Mike Bergo, Waveland, 1 up; Joe Fiske, Waveland, beat Charles Pondelick, Columbus Park, 4 and 3; Fred Kruger, unattached, beat Bill Dutton, Honolulu, 5 and 4; Hymie Judelson, Old Orchard, beat Ed Hoppe, unattached, 1 up, 19 holes; Frank Ismago, Columbus Park, beat Joe Glenn, unattached, 6 and 5; T. 10 SPRINTERS TO RACE TODAY IN $20,000 CHICAGO

Chicago Field

TEN top sprinters were named for the $20,000 added six furlong Chicago handicap to be contested at Washington Park today. The field, in post position order, follows:

Horse	Wt.	Jockey.	Probable odds.
Signator	107	A.Fischer	35-1
Belus	106	No boy	20-1
Happy Issue	114	No boy	15-1
Tellmenow	104	F.A.Smith	30-1
Ended	116	No boy	8-1
Jesrahel	106	J.Higley	20-1
High Resolve	108	No boy	15-1
Sirde	117	C.Corbett	4-1
Three Dots	124	A.Bodiou	5-2
Occupation	126	O.Grohs	5-2

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

John Marsch's Occupation, futurity champion of 1942, and J. H. Rouse's Three Dots, track record holder, will meet for the fourth time this afternoon in the 10th running of the $20,000 added Chicago handicap at Washington Park.

The six furlong event, won last year by the Woolford farm's Signator, also an entrant today, has drawn a field of 10 for which Occupation has been assigned top weight of 126 pounds and Three Dots two pounds less.

In the three previous battles between Occupation and Three Dots, the Rouse speedster, carrying from six to 12 pounds less than Marsch's flash, won twice and while beaten by Occupation on the other occasion, both finished behind the Milt B. stable's Ended, also named for today's fixture.

Yesterday's program got off to a peculiar start when the two favorites in the first race, Mrs. Albert Sabath's Troop Train and Joe Maumus' Rockwood Lou, were left in the gate while Happy stable's Chancy, a 9-1 shot, went on to win.

W. W. Guernsey's Maihigh, 3 to 5 favorite, won the second race and the daily double was worth $37. Maihigh, with Willie Ford up, paid $3.40.

C. U. Yaeger's Son of Peace, winner of four of his last five races, took the day's feature, a $2,500 claiming event at six furlongs.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

SIMPLE INCOME TAX FORM ENDS MAR. 15 PUZZLE

Avoids Use of 1040 by Millions.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 [Special].—Details of how 30 million wage and salaried workers will be able to avoid computing their 1944 income taxes thru use of a new withholding receipt were announced today by the treasury.

Joseph D. Nunan Jr., commissioner of internal revenue, in accordance with the tax simplification act passed early this year, has authorized the use of withholding receipts, which will enable persons making under $5,000 a year from salaries or wages, and not more than $100 from other sources, to state merely their income and exemptions on their receipts instead of filling out form 1040.

New Receipt Form Developed.

The law requires that a withholding receipt showing total wages paid and total income tax withheld during the year be furnished by employers to employes on or before Jan. 1. The treasury has developed this receipt form to include the necessary questions and instructions which will allow most employes to use it as a return. It has been designated form W-2 [rev.].

A taxpayer using his withholding receipt for his return will fill it in and mail it to his collector of internal revenue by March 15, 1945. The collector will figure his tax, give him credit for the tax already paid, and send him either a bill or a refund for the difference.

A special feature of the new form solves the problem of many husbands and wives—whether to file separate or a joint return. If the combined income of a husband and wife permits use of the new form, they may combine their returns on one receipt, and the collector will figure their tax on either their combined or separate incomes, whichever is to their advantage.

Calculate from Table.

The tax on this form will be calculated by the collector from a table which automatically allows about 10 per cent of the worker's total income for charitable contributions, interest, taxes, medical expenses, and the like. Therefore workers should not list deductions for such expenses on their withholding receipt. However, a worker whose expenses for these purposes exceeded 10 per cent of his total income, may claim his deductions in detail on form 1040.

If the taxpayer has more than one withholding receipt for 1944, he will be required to fill out only one receipt and attach the others to it.

Printing of the new form of withholding receipt has begun, but it may take a few months before all employers receive supplies. The new form is being printed in triplicate. The employer gives the employe the first two copies and sends the third to the office of the collector in his district. The first copy, marked "original," may be filled out by the employe and mailed in as his return. The second copy, marked "employe's copy," or "duplicate," is to be retained by the employe for his own records.

FURNITURE MART BOND ISSUE TO BE PAID ON OCT 2

The American Furniture Mart Building company yesterday called the remaining $4,783,000 of its outstanding bonds for redemption Oct. 2 at 109 per cent of face amount. Payment will be made at the Harris Trust and Savings bank.

The executive committee, composed of James C. Cox and William H. Stanley, president and vice president of the William Wrigley Jr company, and Gilbert H. Scribner, president of Winston & Co., said the bond retirement was being financed partly with a new $3,250,000 mortgage underwritten by four insurance companies.

Ceilings for Imported Cigars Are Set by OPA

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—The OPA today announced dollars and cents price ceilings for almost all brands and sizes of imported cigars, effective Sept. 4. Retail prices range from 17 cents to $1.25 a cigar.

Union Dues Near Quarter Billion Mark

Urges States, U. S. to Stay in Own Tax Field

Denver, Colo., Aug. 29 [Special].—A program to eliminate the "overlapping" taxation methods practiced by the various government levels was advanced by Arthur R. Kaiser, Chicago tax specialist, at the tax conference of the National Association of State Chambers of Commerce today.

Kaiser, who manages the tax affairs of Sears, Roebuck & Co., is chairman of the state and local taxation committee of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce. Warning that the nation is in grave danger of a breakdown of its tax machinery, he said that fiscal order cannot be restored as long as the federal, state, and local governments continue to invade each other's fields of revenue sources.

Would Assign Definite Fields.

By assigning to each level of government particular sources of revenue, each would have its own independent sphere of authority, and tax administration, tax distribution, and tax structure would be improved and simplified, he asserted.

Taxes that Kaiser proposed should be relegated exclusively to the federal government included import tariffs, excise taxes on tobacco and alcoholic beverages, net income taxes, estate and inheritance taxes, and old age and survivor's benefit insurance.

Also to the federal government would go "severance" taxes, which he proposed as a tax on natural resources—forests, oil, and mineral deposits—in place of the ad valorem tax.

Backs State Gross Income Tax.

Exclusive state taxes suggested included franchise taxes on capital, motor fuel and motor license taxes, and gross income taxes, to be inclusive of but broader in scope than the present state sales tax. Gross income should include business receipts, sales, individual income, salaries, rents, interests, fees, and transfers of capital stock and other intangibles, he said.

Kaiser also proposed that the states have complete control of unemployment compensation, and that they pay all administrative expenses.

He said occupational license fees should be collected by the government exercising the policing power, whether state or local. The federal government should have sole jurisdiction, tho, in the case of drugs and narcotics. Property taxes should be left solely to local governments, he concluded.

TRIM ALUMINUM OUTPUT AGAIN; REDUCE IMPORTS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—The WPB today ordered further cutbacks in aluminum production amounting to approximately 30 million pounds of aluminum ingot per month. This will reduce total output to slightly less than half the peak 188 million pounds a month reached early last winter. Imports will be reduced.

Fewer than 1,000 workers will be affected, WPB said, with 500 let out by the closing of the government owned plant in Los Angeles.

TREASURY OUTLINES SIMPLIFIED WAR BOND REDEMPTION METHOD

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—The treasury today outlined its arrangements for simplifying war bond redemptions to provide holders with ready cash when they need it. Under the new plan, effective Oct. 2, individual owners or co-owners of bonds may turn them into cash by presenting them to any commercial bank or trust company which has qualified for the service. The bank will pay the full redemption value immediately upon satisfactory identification and without charge to the bond owner.

Present redemption machinery is slow because the bonds must be cleared thru a federal reserve bank or the treasury before they can be converted into cash. Series E bonds must still be held for 60 days from date of issue.

All incorporated banks and trust companies will be permitted to qualify as redemption agencies. They will be compensated on a quarterly basis at the rate of 15 cents each for the first thousand bonds cashed, 12 cents each for the second thousand, and 10 cents each for all in excess of 2,000.

WOOD ALCOHOL ANTI-TRUST SUIT INCLUDES FORD

New York, Aug. 29 (AP).—The government filed a civil complaint in federal court today seeking to restrain a group of companies and individuals, including Ford Motor company, from further alleged violations of the Sherman anti-trust act thru operations in the wood alcohol industry.

Named as defendants in addition to the Ford company were the Wood Chemical institute, two sales agencies, 25 wood alcohol producers, and 32 officers and employes.

A criminal indictment was returned last April charging all the defendants except Ford Motor company with illegally fixing prices, curbing production, and eliminating competition in violation of the anti-trust law.

OPA SUIT ASKS 3 MILLION FROM RALSTON-PURINA

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 29 (AP).—The OPA filed suit against the Ralston-Purina company in federal court today asking treble damages of 3 million dollars for alleged overcharges in its sale of mixed feeds since August 30, 1943.

Ralston-Purina is one of the largest producers of poultry and animal feeds. The OPA complaint covered sale of 1,800,000 tons of such feeds by various plants. It asked for an accounting and for a permanent injunction against further violation of OPA regulations.

Plan Doubling of Studebaker Car Facilities

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 29.—Doubling of Studebaker corporation's automobile production facilities is contemplated in the company's post-war plans, H. S. Vance, chairman of the board, and Paul G. Hoffman, president, disclosed today. The plans provide for additional buildings and for employment of 14,000 to 16,000 persons at South Bend, compared with the 8,000 employed before the war.

Hoffman said that the ultimate fate of Studebaker's Chicago plant is not known.

Chicago Plant One Of Finest.

"The Chicago plant is one of the finest we know of and is ideally situated," he said. "It is one plant that Chicago need not worry about. There should be lots of competition for it. Whether we will use it, I can't say now."

The officials said the company already had placed orders for a substantial number of standard machine tools for auto production and expects to start taking delivery within four months. These machines are used for making engine and other automobile parts. No special tools have been ordered.

They said probably six months after the war with Germany ends would be required to resume automobile production. They predicted plentiful supplies of steel and copper for the industry, but said rubber may not be available in sufficient quantities.

Predict Better Cars.

The war experience of the industry should result in better cars after the war, the executives said.

"The automobile companies have learned to do more precise work to hold to closer tolerances," they explained. "This will result in better automobiles mechanically."

Hoffman said that he does not accept the suggestions made by some persons that automobile prices will be 25 to 30 per cent higher than before the war. Every dollar added to the price of a car will increase the difficulty of selling it, "and we will want to keep prices down to the best of our ability after the war," he said.

ORDER SEIZURE OF WAR PLANT AND STRIKE ENDS

Huntington, W. Va., Aug. 29 (AP).—Employes of the International Nickel company streamed back to work tonight a few hours after President Roosevelt had directed that the war department take over and operate the strikebound plant.

Their return followed a request by Lt. Col. George D. Woods, designated by the President to seize the plant and facilities in the name of the war department, to resume vital war production on the midnight shift.

Col. Woods announced that he was "pleased with the coöperation of both the company and the union."

WLB officials, who have not even received complete reports on the dispute, said the difficuty was complex and apparently involved intra-union strife.

STEM DEFICIT FINANCING, IS PLEA TO HOUSE

State's Rights Bill Debate Begins.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—Debate on demobilization and reconversion legislation opened in the house today amid admonitions against large government spending in the post-war period and counter-demands for more jobless benefits.

Chairman Doughton [D., N. C.] presented the ways and means committee's "state's rights" bill with a warning against "the launching of new and expensive programs" by the government without first figuring the cost, while Rep. Celler [D., N. Y.] declared congress "is asked to abdicate" its responsibilities "under the false banner of state's rights."

"With the public debt approaching 300 billion dollars, even a nation as wealthy as ours cannot continue a policy of deficit financing after the war," Doughton said.

Committee Bill Attacked.

Advocates of larger unemployed benefits launched an assault upon the ways and means bill, Celler asserting that "the responsibility for this less than half hearted attempt" to provide for returning veterans and civilians must be "laid at the door of the Republican party and the Democratic Bourbons of the house."

However, they apparently fought a losing battle, as strength gathered behind the committee bill which leaves the unemployment compensation in the hands of the states as set up in the senate demobilization bill. The committee did remove from the senate measure all provisions for retraining and reëmployment of war workers, transportation—up to $200 per family—back home or to new jobs and extending jobless insurance to 3½ million federal employes.

Would Determine Principle.

Rep. Carlson [R., Kas.], a ways and means member, told the house:

"The decision we make on this important legislation will determine whether our nation is to get back to the basic principle of prosperity thru production rather than a false prosperity thru the distribution of federal funds. . . . I am casting my lot with the first philosophy—quantity production, wide distribution and high income."

Rep. Knutson of Minnesota ranking ways and means Republican, said:

"We have ample strength to pass the committee bill." He described the issue as "whether we are going to encourage individual initiative after the war or put a premium on idleness."

Total Net Profit of 393 Listed Firms Declines in Half Year

New York, Aug. 29 (AP).—Net income of 393 companies with common stock listed on the New York Stock exchange totaled $1,077,790,000 for the first half of 1944, 0.3 per cent less than for the corresponding period last year, the magazine Exchange reported today.

The petroleum industry showed the largest gain, rising 34.2 per cent. Because of heavy production of crude oil and stepped up conversion into fuel and lubricants for army, navy, and lend-lease, 24 oil companies reported a profit and in 18 cases it was larger than last year.

Rails Have Largest Drop.

The largest drop, 31.5 per cent, was in railroads, with about half of listed companies reporting. Taxes, higher operating costs, and the lack of anticipated freight increase were given as reasons why only seven of 34 companies topped 1943 figures.

Automobile industry earnings rose 13.9 per cent. Business and office equipment companies, thru production of precision machines for military use, gained 13 per cent.

Machinery Income Steady.

In machinery and metals, total earnings of 44 companies remained unchanged, but 22 showed a gain. Steel, iron, and coke profits dropped 9.8 per cent.

The chemical industry showed a total rise of 5.2 per cent for 37 companies and 13 paper and publishing companies reported a total increase of 4.9 per cent.

Total net income of 17 financial firms dropped 5 per cent; decrease for 13 textile companies was 5.7 per cent, and for all public utilities, with 21 companies reporting, was 0.2 per cent.

RECORD STATE TAXES HELP BOOST NATION'S BILL TO 50 BILLIONS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—The nation's tax bill was 50 billion 106 million dollars for the 12 months ended June 30, 1944, the census bureau said today in reporting that state tax collections reached a record of 5 billion 386 million, a rise of 5.8 per cent over the preceding year.

Exclusive of unemployment compensation tax collections, state revenues amounted to 4 billion 100 million or 3.7 per cent above the year before.

Local tax collections amounted to an additional 4 billion 600 million and federal collections were 40 billion 120 million.

Because state tax systems and rates have undergone little change in recent years, the increased revenue was the direct result of war increased industrial production, rising price levels, and gains in income, the bureau said. It predicted the increases would tend to diminish after the war.

The largest gain in revenue in any one state was a 32.1 per cent increase in Florida, attributed largely to a cigaret tax and a pari-mutuel betting tax.

BARBER ASPHALT VOTES DIVIDEND, FIRST SINCE 1940

MANUFACTURES CENSUS ORDERED TO SPEED SHIFT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—President Roosevelt has directed Budget Director Harold Smith to compile a statistical record of industrial production, employment, unemployment, and wages for 1944, a year when the industrial system "is geared up for maximum production." As a result the census of manufactures scheduled for 1946 to cover 1945 production will be made in 1945 on 1944's vast war output.

In a letter to Smith the President said: "The recent favorable development of the military situation on the world's battle fronts has emphasized the need to speed up preparations for the eventual reconversion of the nation's productive energies to peaceful pursuits."

Smith had submitted a statement to the President saying there has been no census of manufactures since 1940. The 1941 and 1943 censuses were laid aside as part of the war time curtailment of peace time activities.

END OF GERMAN CARTELS HELD KEY TO PEACE

If Continued, War Is Certain—Biddle.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—Congress was warned today by Atty. Gen. Biddle that there can be no lasting peace until the power of German-controled international cartels is smashed.

He reviewed before a senate military subcommittee the pre-war commercial activities he said were carried out by such large German companies as Carl Zeiss, Friedrich Krupp, the Stahlwerksverband steel trust, Osram and I. G. Farbenindustrie and said:

"A peace with Germany which leaves these companies intact will be a peace to insure another war. The period between the last and the present World war was only an armistice during which the firms of Germany conducted a war against us."

Worked As Nazi Agencies.

Operating as agencies of the Nazi government, Biddle said, they set up dummy subsidiaries in other countries to manufacture forbidden munitions and worked thru trade agreements to "cripple American production, gain the technical know-how and conduct espionage."

Biddle suggested that they be stripped of property acquired in Europe during the war, that Nazis be removed from posts in the companies, and urged passage of legislation requiring registration in this country of all foreign cartel agreements.

"The inability of American firms to obtain scientific and technical

OPA ACCUSES 150 GAS DEALERS OF COUPON FRAUDS

'Biggest Drive' Uncovers 258,000 Gallon Leak.

The office of price administration yesterday cracked down on 150 Chicago area filling station operators accused of handling counterfeit coupons and inventory certificates, and promised to list 50 more today. Officials said they had charged back 258,000 gallons against operators' inventories, and hinted that a few, at least, probably would have to close up.

The move is believed to be the "most drastic" ever taken in a mass action against gasoline dealers in the country, Rae E. Walters, regional OPA administrator, said. Ration currency turned in to their suppliers by operators for the last two weeks were checked, Walters said, and the amount of gasoline represented by spurious coupons and certificates was deducted from the allowable inventory of each station.

Several Warned Previously.

According to Marion Isbell, acting Chicago area director, a large number of the stations had been warned and their inventories slashed for previous offenses. His office will file license suspension proceedings against these, he said, in an effort to put them out of business for the duration of rationing or for shorter periods. Such actions are heard by OPA hearing commissioners.

Biggest OPA target in the current drive is a filling station operated by William Rossner at 7559 Loomis av., whose inventory was cut 100,600 gallons. Walters said "virtually all" of the coupons and certificates turned in by the station for the two weeks were counterfeit.

Walters said Rossner's station automatically would be put out of business, because his charge back "is about 20 times his allowable inventory." Most gas stations, he said, have 2,000 to 5,000 gallons capacity, altho some have several times that amount.

Other large charge backs included Louis Wine bulk station, 2958 N. Ashland av., 12,500 gallons, and Arthur Reda, 4001 Arthington st., 10,971 gallons.

Majority Fake A Coupons.

Of the 258,000 gallons charged back yesterday, 155,000 were for bogus A-12 coupons, 25,000 for counterfeit B-2s and C-2s, and 78,000 for fake inventory certificates, Isbell said.

"We are going to dry up the gasoline black market here, as well as those in other commodities," he said. "Halting gas black market sales would go a long way toward helping A card drivers in this area. Sixteen filling station operators already have been arrested, and we will step up our drive as fast as we can."

END OF GERMAN CARTELS HELD KEY TO PEACE

information from German firms without accepting restrictions, may suggest the need of government aid to supplement private research," he said.

Biddle suggested that German patents and processes seized by the alien property custodian be made available to the people and not sold "to pay off American claimants against the German government, as was done after the last war."

Must Analyze Companies.

"We will have to have an analysis and understanding of each one of the German monopolistic firms and then work out for it the readjustments that will be necessary," Biddle continued. "Such a program will have to await the period of supervision over these companies that should come during the occupation period."

He asserted that Carl Zeiss of Jena, scientific optical instrument maker, barred from making range finders, submarine periscopes, bomb sights, and tank telescopes under the Versailles treaty, set up a Dutch subsidiary to do the work.

Friedrich Krupp, ordered to destroy its machinery after the first World war, transferred its patents, licenses, and secret processes to Bofors, Swedish manufacturer, and continued with the manufacture of heavy artillery, tanks, anti-aircraft and other armament, he added.

Munitions Made in 1925.

I. G. Farbenindustrie, representing the German dye trust, and chemical, oil, metallurgical and pharmaceutical companies, was have been making and exporting explosives in 1925, Biddle said.

He said cartel agreements were made under which [1] important companies were kept from the Latin American market; [2] others could not manufacture strategic products, including synthetic rubber; [3] development of the magnesium industry was retarded; [4] an American company was prevented from selling a certain type of munition to the British; [5] restrictions were imposed on plastic production, and [6] means were established for getting information thru inspection of American plants.

PRICES OF OATS AND RYE LOWER IN LATE SELLING

Rye and oats futures broke in late trading yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Closing trades were near the bottom with rye off ¾ to 1⅞ cents a bushel. Oats lost ⅛ to 1⅛ cents. Wheat held within narrow price limits and finished ⅛ cent higher to ¼ cent lower. Barley was ⅛ to ½ cent lower.

Weakness in cotton and reports of an impending shakeup in the war production board were construed by traders as bearish and led to general selling of rye after early firmness. Favorable European war news also affected sentiment. Liquidation of September oats developed late, and at no time did the market show an inclination to rally.

Demands Refund of U. S. Penalty on Excess Wheat

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—A demand that the government repay to farmers approximately 17 million dollars in wheat penalty payments it collected in the two years prior to February, 1942, was made today by Rep. Rees [R., Kas.]. The government collected 49 cents a bushel from wheat growers who exceeded their wheat production allotment. In February, 1942, the government decided to lift the penalty, but refused to refund payments to farmers who had sold their grain.

SUPPLY OF HOGS SLUMPS TO NEW 10 MONTHS' LOW

Receipts of hogs fell to a new 10 month low for a Tuesday yesterday at the Chicago stock yards. Only 15,500 arrived, including those shipped direct to packers. It was the smallest August Tuesday supply since 1941.

The $14.75 a hundredweight ceiling was paid for almost all hogs weighing 240 pounds and less, including some pigs down to 125 pounds. Lighter pigs and some of inferior quality sold lower. All butchers and sows of more than 240 pounds sold at $14, the limit allowed for such stock.

Cattle prices except for top prices except the extreme top for steers advanced 5 to 25 cents. The $18.35 top was paid for 10 carloads. Heifers reached $17.75, the highest August price in 25 years.

PEACE STOCKS PRESS HIGHER; OTHERS LOWER

The conservative ranks were well filled from the start, but numerous accounts were reinstated partially on the belief the reaction of recent weeks had provided a worthwhile technical correction and put the list in shape to rally briskly at an opportune moment. Tapering of offerings to the lowest level in several months also was viewed as bullish.

Gains among low priced motors and assorted specialties gave the advancing contingent an edge over losers, with 349 issues higher and 243 down at the close.

RAIL LOANS DIP.

New York, Aug. 29 (AP).—Railroad obligations were weak again in today's bond market but other groups held relatively steady and trading increased.

CHICAGO LIST UNEVEN.

Prices were mixed in turnover of 27,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Active issues included Automatic Washer, which closed up ⅝ for a 1944 high of 3⅝; Commonwealth Edison, and Standard Dredging, each unchanged, and Chicago corporation, down ¼.

SUPPLY OF HOGS SLUMPS TO NEW 10 MONTHS' LOW

Receipts of hogs fell to a new 10 month low for a Tuesday yesterday at the Chicago stock yards. Only 15,500 arrived, including those shipped direct to packers. It was the smallest August Tuesday supply since 1941.

The $14.75 a hundredweight ceiling was paid for almost all hogs weighing 240 pounds and less, including some pigs down to 125 pounds. Lighter pigs and some of inferior quality sold lower. All butchers and sows of more than 240 pounds sold at $14, the limit allowed for such stock.

Cattle prices except for top prices except the extreme top for steers advanced 5 to 25 cents. The $18.35 top was paid for 10 carloads. Heifers reached $17.75, the highest August price in 25 years.

PEACE STOCKS PRESS HIGHER; OTHERS LOWER

The conservative ranks were well filled from the start, but numerous accounts were reinstated partially on the belief the reaction of recent weeks had provided a worthwhile technical correction and put the list in shape to rally briskly at an opportune moment. Tapering of offerings to the lowest level in several months also was viewed as bullish.

Gains among low priced motors and assorted specialties gave the advancing contingent an edge over losers, with 349 issues higher and 243 down at the close.

RAIL LOANS DIP.

New York, Aug. 29 (AP).—Railroad obligations were weak again in today's bond market but other groups held relatively steady and trading increased.

CHICAGO LIST UNEVEN.

Prices were mixed in turnover of 27,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Active issues included Automatic Washer, which closed up ⅝ for a 1944 high of 3⅝; Commonwealth Edison, and Standard Dredging, each unchanged, and Chicago corporation, down ¼.
